FRANCO WARNS LOYALIST SPAIN: SURRENDER NOW

Plans to Hurl 600,000 Troops at Madrid.

BY MANUEL LYRA.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LISBON, Portugal, Feb. 27.—Generalissimo Francisco Franco, chief of Nationalist Spain, today decided to send an ultimatum to the loyalists demanding immediate and unconditional surrender. If the demands are rejected, Franco threatens an immediate offensive against Madrid-Valencia republican territory backed up by 600,000 troops, thousands of guns, and 300 tanks.

FRANCO RECOGNIZED

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 27.—Another phase of European postwar history began today when Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain announced in the house of commons that the British and French governments formally had accorded full unconditional de jure [legal] recognition to Generalissimo Francisco Franco's Nationalist government in Spain.

Duke of Alba. May Become Envoy to Great Britain.

America and soviet Russia thus remained the only large powers which have not recognized the Franco régime.

The British government's decision to recognize Franco was received with a storm of derisive cries and shouts of "Shame!" from the left side of the house and cheers from the other. It will be debated tomorrow when Clement R. Attlee, Labor leader, moves for a censure vote against the government.

Based on Three Reasons.

Chamberlain based his decision to recognize Franco—a decision which was taken early last week:

FIRST—On the fact that Gen. Franco now controls the greater part of Spanish territory, both the mainland and islands.

SECOND—On the fact that the scattered republican [loyalist] government no longer exercises authority.

THIRD — That the republican forces in the southern sector have no chance to win and there is no doubt about the ultimate issue of the struggle.

Chamberlain's admission that the recognition was unconditional was the initial setback for the British and French. Both had failed in the last ten days to make Franco commit himself to a promise of leniency toward the vanquished foes and to the ousting of Italian and German "volunteers."

Confused by Questioning.

Attlee drew from Chamberlain the fact that he had refused to tell parliament last Thursday of the decision to recognize Franco, although he had informed a foreign government of the fact, since Premier Edouard Daladier of France had said as much in the French chamber of deputies last Friday.

Chamberlain was visibly confused when Attlee charged him with deliberately misleading the house and trying to govern the country along Fascist dictator lines without consulting the cabinet.

The lone communist, Willie Gallacher, shouted:

"You are a traitor to Britain and should be impeached."

The duke of Alba, Franco's agent here, likely will present his credentials tomorrow as the full fledged ambassador to the Court of St. James's though he will not take over the Spanish embassy quarters here for some further time.

French Action Unanimous.

PARIS, Feb. 27.—(AP)—French recognition of the Nationalist régime in Spain was confirmed today by a unanimous vote of the cabinet which was attended by Premier Edouard Daladier and presided over by President Albert Lebrun.

The Madrid government's ambassador to Paris and his staf made it known they would formally vacate the embassy here upon official notification of the government's decision.

SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS FIRING 92 AT FANSTEEL

Major Reverse for Labor Board.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 27.—[Special]. — The United States Supreme court dealt the national labor relations board three smashing blows today in the most far reaching series of Wagner act decisions since the law itself was upheld in April, 1937.

In the court's first condemnation of the sitdown strike Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes delivered the majority opinion. The court divided 5 to 2.

The opinion set aside an order of the labor board requiring the Fansteel Metallurgical corporation of North Chicago to reinstate with back pay ninety-two C. I. O. union members who participated in the seizure of the plant in February, 1937.

Calls It High Handed.

In condemning the Fansteel sitdown strike Justice Hughes declared:

"It was a high handed proceeding without shadow of legal right."

Such conduct on the part of the strikers, the court held, was ample cause for their discharge.

Commenting on claims of the sitdown strikers that they should be reinstated by the Fansteel company, Justice Hughes declared:

Premium on Resort to Force.

"To justify such conduct because of the existence of a labor dispute or of an unfair labor practice would be to put a premium on resort to force instead of legal remedies and to subvert the principles of law and order which lie at the foundations of society."

The court refused to review a criminal case growing out of the C. I. O. sitdown strike in the Fansteel plants. Thirty-seven of the 92 strikers whom the labor board ordered reinstated were convicted of contempt of court in defying an injunction to evacuate the plants and sentenced to jail terms ranging from 10 to 180 days. Their last legal resort having been exhausted, they now must serve the sentences.

Strikers Ousted Two Years Ago.

It was just two years ago yesterday that the Fansteel sitdown strikers were ejected from the North Chicago plant. Fansteel officials estimated that the strikers had caused $100,000 damage to the plant and the rare metals in process of production in the buildings before they fled.

In the other two Wagner act cases decided today the court held that there was no evidence to sustain the board's findings that the Columbian Enameling and Stamping company of Terre Haute, Ind., and the Sands Manufacturing company of Cleveland, O., refused to bargain collectively with their employés.

It upheld lower court decisions setting aside the board's orders to reinstate discharged employés with back pay.

Board Loses Five Major Cases.

Including today's decisions, the labor board has lost five major cases in a row at the present term of the Supreme court. In the Consolidated Edison company case [New York] the court condemned as arbitrary and unlawful the board's attempt to abrogate an American Federation of Labor contract for the purpose of installing a C. I. O. union.

In refusing to review the Peninsular and Occidental Steamship company case [Florida] the court thwarted efforts of the labor board to reinstate, with back pay, C. I. O. seamen who engaged in mutinous sitdown strikes.

Frankfurter Takes No Part.

The Supreme court divided 5 to 2 in each of the three labor board cases decided today. Neither Justice Louis D. Brandeis, who retired two weeks ago, nor Justice Felix Frankfurter, who took his seat on the bench a month ago, took part in the consideration or decision of the cases. Justices Hugo L. Black and Stanley F. Reed, both Roosevelt appointees, dissented in all three cases, holding in effect that the majority opinions nullified the purposes of the Wagner act. The five justices who concurred in the majority opinion are Hughes, Stone, Roberts, McReynolds, and Butler.

In the Fansteel case, the Supreme court upheld the labor board's order in so far as it required the company to

School Morals Probe Asked in 2 Love Deaths

An investigation of alleged immorality among Joliet High school students was planned last night as the aftermath of the mysterious deaths of a Joliet football star and a 16 year old girl.

Find Couple Dead in Auto.

The two had been friends since August, shortly after Ruth moved with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilburt Underwood, to Joliet from Glen Ellyn. On Sunday night they left home in high spirits for a movie. About 8 p. m. they were seen entering the theater. Near noon yesterday they were found dead in young Engimann's car. The girl was nude.

The car, a four door sedan, had been backed into a wooded byroad known as Lover's lane in spreading Pilcher park, near Joliet. The windows were closed, the radio was playing, and the ignition was on, but the car was out of gas.

Girl Strangled; Boy Gassed.

First indications were that the two had died of carbon monoxide poisoning. The boy was lying on the front seat, his head near the girl, who lay on the floor. Her feet were caught between the gear shift lever and the emergency brake. Her head was pressed against the right door at an angle. His arm was around her neck.

Coroner Londus Brannon, however, declared the girl died several hours before the boy. She died of strangulation, he said. Engimann's death, he said, presumably was due to carbon monoxide, although a blood analysis, the deciding factor, will not be completed until today.

Dr. Brannon will confer today with Circuit Judge Edwin T. Wilson to ask that a special grand jury, now convened in Will county, be instructed to make an investigation of the two deaths and of conditions in the school. Judge Wilson, interviewed at his home, said the grand jury has full powers for such an investigation, if evidence warants it.

Dr. William W. Haggard, principal of the high school, is in Cleveland attending the convention of the National Educational association. Dr. Marion K. Bowles, president of the high school board, was vehement in her indignation over the coroner's intention to ask for a school quiz.

"The charges are purely slanderous and a fabrication," she observed heatedly. "I've heard rumors now and then and found they are not supported by fact."

Dr. Brannon said his finding about moral conditions in the school had been substantiated during the day by various students. He quoted several as saying, "I'm not surprised," at the death of the young couple.

Ruth's father and Arthur Engimann, retired dairy owner, father of the boy, both became alarmed near midnight when the couple had not returned. At 2 a. m. yesterday they notified the police, but said they thought possibly it was an elopement.

Suicide Pact First Suspected.

A forester employed in Pilcher park first discovered the tragedy. A few minutes later, before it had been reported, the boy's father and Harold Fuhrman, a classmate, who had been touring the countryside for several hours, also came upon the car.

A suicide pact first was suspected, but Chief Deputy Sherif Arthur E. Kelly of Will county could find no container for poison. Both families scoffed at this theory.

The Engimann family contended last night that carbon monoxide was the cause of both deaths.

MICHAEL'S EVERY INCH A COP (EXCEPT FOR ½), SO TWO LOSERS SUE

George Bock Jr. and James Berube of Highland Park filed a suit yesterday in the Lake county Circuit court to have the civil service commission void the appointment of Policeman Michael Bonamarte of the village force. They allege, said George McGaughey, their attorney, that Bonamarte is only 5 feet 7½ inches tall—half an inch short of the 5 feet 8 required for Highland Park police. Note: Bock and Berube passed civil service tests for the job last fall, but were not appointed.

WINDSORS NEW PARIS NEIGHBORS OF LINDBERGHS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 27.—The duke of Windsor, former King Edward VIII. of Great Britain, and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh are neighbors in the most exclusive section of Paris just off the Bois de Boulogne, it was disclosed tonight.

Since their return from Cannes, where they passed the winter season, the duke and duchess of Windsor have been living in a luxurious house in Boulevard Suchet. It was known that the Lindberghs had taken a permanent residence in Paris, but its location was kept a secret. It is now disclosed that their home is in Avenue de Marechel Maunoury, separated from the Windsors' residence by a public square.

Social circles are speculating as to whether the Windsors and the Lindberghs will entertain each other during the spring season. At the present time the Lindberghs are away from Paris.

2 GIRLS FOUND; DETECTIVES REST DANCE TIRED FEET

Detectives John Penney and John Foley of the Hudson avenue station put away their dancing shoes last night. They don't want to see them again. A week ago they received orders to find Mary Elizabeth Smith and Faye Claunch, each 15 years old and runaways from Kansas City, Mo. It was thought they'd be frequenting north side dancing halls.

Every night for a week Detectives Foley and Penney visited dance halls. They discreetly questioned their partners about two little girls from Kansas City. Last night they received a clew. They went to 1205 North La Salle street. There they found Mary and Faye. The girls admitted they had run away.

"We were intending to dance our way to the New York fair," they said. "Never mind," said the policemen, "we've done it for you!"

Ask Indictment of 13 in Penn Graft Inquiry

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—The indictment of thirteen persons, including three members of former Gov. George H. Earle's cabinet, was recommended today by a special grand jury which has been investigating charges of graft and corruption in Earle's Democratic administration.

The grand jury reported it found evidence that those named had been guilty of various frauds, including pay roll padding in the highway department, blackmail of state employés for political contributions, and misuse of surety bonds on state construction contracts.

Chairman Already Indicted.

The former Earle cabinet members named are:

DAVID L. LAWRENCE, Democratic state chairman and former secretary of the commonwealth. He previously was indicted on charges of conspiracy to defraud the commonwealth and of violating the election laws.

RALPH M. BASHORE, secretary of the Democratic state committee and former secretary of labor and industry.

ROY E. BROWNMILLER, former secretary of highways.

Charges were also made against a fourth member of the Earle cabinet, who is now dead. He was Warren Van Dyke, former highway secretary.

Of the ten others named, some formerly were connected with the Earle administration and some were officers of the Dauphin county [Harrisburg] Democratic committee.

The grand jury's charges were made in the form of a presentment, its power to indict having expired Jan. 16 under Pennsylvania law. The jury was impaneled last September. Its recommendations for indictments will be acted upon by the March grand jury.

Orders Indictments Drawn.

Judge Paul N. Schaeffer directed District Attorney Carl B. Shelley to draw bills of indictment based on the presentment and submit them to the next regular grand jury.

The grand jury intimated it had considered making a recommendation concerning former Gov. Earle. It said that if he had supervised the administration of government properly he should have known about the conditions in existence.

Charges that Earle and his aids had been guilty of a system of crime and corruption were first made by rival factions in the Democratic primary campaign last spring.

Mayor S. Davis Wilson of Philadelphia, Earle's opponent for the Democratic senatorial nomination, so effectively broadcast charges against his party colleague that the growing demands for an inquiry into the state administration could not be stilled.

Neither Elected Senator.

Earle defeated Wilson for the senatorial nomination and was defeated in the general election by Senator James J. Davis, a Republican. The G. O. P. also won the state administration as a result of a November upset.

Mayor Wilson was indicted a second time today in Philadelphia on the recommendation of a special grand jury investigating charges of police collusion with gamblers. Re-indicted with the mayor were four police captains.

Earle and his accused henchmen fought for eight months and used every method at their command in an unsuccessful attempt to prevent an investigation by the grand jury.

In a last desperate effort to stop an investigation the governor called a special session of the legislature and had it name an investigating committee to supersede the grand jury. The committee returned a whitewash report.

The grand jury went ahead, despite the lame duck governor's attempt to stop it, and last Jan. 7 returned its first indictment against Lawrence, charging him with blackmail, fraud, and violation of the election laws.

EXPECT MILLION TO TURN OUT FOR MAYORAL RACES

Heated Contests for Council Seats.

Primary Election

POLLS—Open from 6 a. m. to 5 p. m.

TO BE NOMINATED—Republican and Democratic candidates for mayor, city clerk, and city treasurer.

TO BE ELECTED—Members of the city council. In wards in which no candidate receives a majority today the highest two will run again on April 4, the day of the mayoral election.

CHANGE OF PARTY—Under the law the voter at today's primary may demand the ballot of either party, but having made the choice he is prohibited from voting in the primary of any other party for twenty-three months.

REGISTERED VOTE—1,827,362.

TOTAL PRECINCTS—3,648.

COMPLAINTS—Telephone Chicago Election Board, Dearborn 3051.

WEATHER—Snow or rain.

BY PARKE BROWN.

A million or more voters are expected to go to the polls today in Chicago's quadrennial mayoral primaries and aldermanic election. Campaign managers and other experts differ widely in their estimates of the total vote, but all agree that it will be big.

The largest estimate is that 1,200,000 men and women will cast their ballots between 6 o'clock this morning and 5 o'clock this afternoon. That total has not been reached even in a national and state primary year. It has not been even approached in preceding mayoral years.

Much Depends on Weather.

Even those who believe the indications point to this record breaking vote admit they can't believe their own figures. All the estimators say that much depends on the weather, and the official government forecaster has not been cheerful about the outlook.

In addition to picking their nominees for mayor, the Republicans and Democrats will select their candidates in the April 4 election for city clerk and city treasurer. But, as always has been the case, the contests for the mayoral nominations have monopolized attention.

In many of the fifty wards there are heated aldermanic contests. In case no candidate receives a majority, the highest two will go into the run-off election on April 4. The aldermanic elections hinge largely on the main battles, since the aldermanic candidates in the warmest races are tied up with alliances with the mayoral candidates. The list of aldermanic candidates, however, appears on a small ballot separate from the general municipal ballot. The voter is free to take both or to decline either of the ballots.

No Shifts in Lineups.

The last day of campaigning failed to produce much of the excitement that has marked similar races in the past. Candidates added nothing new to their attack. There were no sudden shifts in factional lineups and comparatively few roorbacks.

The one subject that aroused signs of temper was the emergency law passed by the general assembly in January concerning the voter's right to change from one party to another. Discussions of this act became controversial and it was predicted it will be the cause of disputes at the polls today.

Republican leaders initiated this legislation. There was no contest in the Republican primary last year and, according to conservative estimates, 100,000 members of that party were persuaded to vote in the Democratic primary because of the contest between County Judge Jarecki, seeking renomination, and Circuit Judge John Prystalski.

May Choose Either Party.

Under the general primary law as it stood at that time those 100,000 were barred from receiving Republican ballots today. To release them the legislature passed an act which permits the voter today to vote in the primary of any party he chooses. Past records are ignored.

But the law further provides that if a citizen votes in the primary of one party today he cannot vote in the primary of any other party during the next twenty-three months. This would prohibit him from changing parties in the national, state, and county primaries next year.

Republican leaders have charged the Chicago election board with misconduct in their failure to include discussion of this twenty-three months rule in their printed and radio instructions to election officials and voters. Some Democratic printed material has misled some voters because it says that a Democratic vote this year will not interfere with voting as one pleases in 1940.

Quiet Day for Candidates.

So far as the candidates themselves were concerned, the last day of campaigning was as quiet as any in all the four weeks they have been on the stump.

Mayor Kelly, seeking renomination, spent most of his day in his city hall office. He spoke at only one evening meeting. That engagement was a traditional bit of sentiment. He made his last public appearance in the home ward [22d] of his predecessor, the late A. J. Cermak.

Neither he nor either of his running mates, Ludwig D. Schreiber, candidate for city clerk, or Thomas S. Gordon, candidate for city treasurer, went on the air. Instead the final argument for the regular ticket was made on a broadcast by Col. A. A. Sprague, chairman of the All-Chicago committee, a nonpartisan organization built up to support the mayor.

Mayor Kelly's only important opponent, State's Attorney Courtney, made his final appeal in an evening broadcast. Otherwise he and his associates on the anti-organization ticket, Stanley A. Halick for city treasurer and Horace G. Lindheimer, candidate for city clerk, spent a quiet day.

Strong Support for Green.

The third of the principal contenders for mayoral honors, Dwight H. Green, who is supported by an almost solid regular Republican organization and a strong independent organization, delivered a final radio talk. His running mates are Clement A. Nance for city treasurer and John William Chapman for city clerk. They have campaigned together from the beginning, and Green spoke for all three in his windup speech.

The only roorback of the day considered of importance was denounced so early that its effect was not believed widespread. County Judge Jarecki, however, announced he would make an investigation of the offense which was committed, he said, against him.

More than 4,000 night letter telegrams were sent to voters in the 21st ward bearing the signature of Judge Jarecki. They were attached to a Western Union form on which a picture of Judge Jarecki had been printed. The message, supposedly from Judge Jarecki, asked votes for State's Attorney Courtney and John J. Phillips, an assistant state's attorney, who is a candidate for alderman of the ward.

Judge Orders Investigation.

Judge Jarecki said he had investigated and learned that the messages were sent out by Assistant State's Attorney Phillips. He was indignant.

"I have begun an investigation," he said, "and am told that he was stopped at 11 o'clock this morning from sending out any more messages. Now I intend to find out how the Western Union company would accept and send out that many telegrams over my signature without my consent or even my knowledge."

Assistant State's Attorney Phillips could not be found for an interview. Judge Jarecki said that if he could obtain a list of the persons to whom the telegrams had been sent he would turn it over to Ald. Joseph F. Ropa, against whom Phillips is running.

BULLET IS FIRED INTO BEDROOM OF ALD. BRODERICK

Apparently the first primary day violence occurred early today when a shot was fired into the bedroom of Ald. John Broderick [27th]. He lives at 3215 Washington boulevard and is running for reëlection as an organization Democrat.

Police early today investigated a report by Walter M. Rouzan, 632 Kemper place, Democratic precinct captain in the 44th ward, that three hoodlums fired bullets into his home. Tires on the cars of his brother-in-law and of Lieut. Col. George Van Zee, 638 Kemper place, a city hall employé, were punctured, presumably by the same men.

WOUNDS SELF CLEANING PISTOL.

Edmund Houston, 54 years old, a watchman, shot himself yesterday while cleaning a pistol in his home at 1636 Prairie avenue. The wound was not serious.

GREEN SAYS ONLY G. O. P. CAN FREE CITY OF MISRULE

Mayoral Candidate Asks Party to Stand Firm.

Election of either State's Attorney Courtney or Mayor Kelly would mean a continuation of Democratic machine misrule in Chicago, Dwight H. Green said last night in the final appeal of his campaign for the Republican mayoral nomination. He spoke over the radio.

Green urged Republican and independent voters to beware of last minute trickery designed to involve them in the factional Democratic fight. He repeated the warning that Republicans who enter the Democratic primary today will be tied to that party for 23 months and deprived of a vote in the important Republican primary next year.

Predicts G. O. P. Comeback.

"I urge Republican and independent voters to stand firm, because Republicanism is on its way back," said Green. "Victory is within the grasp of the Republican party.

"It is the Republican party that must aid the thirteen million men and women who are now unemployed and the twenty-two million who are on relief.

"It will have to be the Republican party that will reduce taxation in the city. The Republican party will break the alliance of crime and politics. It will remove political domination from our board of education.

Urges Scrapping of Machine.

"I say to you Republicans, stand firm. The Democratic party can give you no more relief in Chicago than it already has given you. Electing a Democratic mayor of Chicago, whether it is the incumbent or his opponent, will merely mean the continuance of another four years of drudgery under Democratic domination.

"If you elect the present Democratic mayor's opponent, you will merely be changing the man in the driver's seat of this ruthless, monopolistic Democratic machine, which has absolutely no regard for anything but the further building of that machine."

Green reviewed his eight week campaign, and described the program on which he is seeking nomination.

VOTE UNDECIDED BUT SIX FILE FOR OAK PARK POSTS

Six candidates for the positions of village trustees and members of the library board of Oak Park filed their petitions yesterday with the village clerk, although it has not been determined whether there will be an election in April. Village officials contend that the library board members and trustees who were elected in 1937 were chosen for four years and that their terms will not expire until 1941.

A mandamus action is pending to force an election in April. It is based on an act of the legislature of 1935 which provides for an election for these offices every two years. Those who filed their petitions yesterday are: John J. Corbett, 415 South Lombard avenue; George A. Edwards, 808 Carpenter avenue, and Richard H. Thomas Jr., 426 North Forest avenue, for trustees; and John H. Connell, 902 Wenonah avenue; Catherine M. Walther, 506 Fair Oaks avenue, and Wendell R. Mangis, 815 Lake street, for the library board.

1,500 COPS GUARD COMMUNISTS IN 20TH YEAR FETE

New York, Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Behind a police guard almost as elaborate as that assigned to the German-American bund meeting a week ago, the communist party rallied in Madison Square Garden tonight to celebrate the twentieth anniversary of the founding of the Third International and the fifteenth of the Daily Worker, communist party organ.

Fifteen hundred police were mustered, but they had little to do. The communists were about 7,000 short of filling the Garden's 18,990 seats.

There was no organized anti-Red demonstration. The only discordant note was the distribution of handbills by adherents of the exiled Leon Trotsky. There were two arrests.

5,000 POLICEMEN TO KEEP WATCH AT POLLS TODAY

More than 5,000 police and thousands of semi-official watchers and challengers will be on duty at Chicago's 3,648 polling places today to help insure an orderly primary.

Nearly 1,000 watchers were given credentials yesterday by State's Attorney Courtney, a candidate. According to Andy Frain, head of an ushering association, Courtney authorized him to hire 700 men. Reports were that they were to be paid $10 a day each, or $20 where an automobile was furnished.

Judge Edmund K. Jarecki of the County court, head of the election machinery, will hold court all day for emergency hearings. One Circuit judge and one Superior judge will do likewise.

Ray Moore, Democratic committeeman of the 44th ward, yesterday reported the throwing of a stench bomb into the polling place at 432 Surf street. This is the home voting place of Ald. John J. Grealis, who is a candidate for reëlection.

Later in the evening two other bombs, described by police as smoke bombs or fire scare bombs, were thrown in the ward. One was tossed through an open window of the first floor apartment of Elmer Moore, 2914 Pine Grove avenue, a brother of Democratic Committeeman Raymond W. Moore. Another was thrown into the lobby of an apartment hotel at 517 Oakdale avenue.

$108,000 U. S. TAX LIEN IS FILED ON JACK GUZIK'S KIN

Miami, Fla., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—The federal government today filed an income tax lien of $108,000 against Frank Garnitz Jr. of Miami Beach, said by Paul O'Connor, internal revenue chief here, to be a son-in-law of Jack Guzik, former manager of the Capone syndicate in Chicago.

Records show that Garnitz married Guzik's daughter in Chicago in 1929. Ward politicians, a police captain, Ralph Capone, and Machine Gun Jack McGurn, later murdered, were among those present.

In December, 1930, Guzik was sentenced to five years and a day in prison and fined $17,951 for evasion of $230,000 in income taxes for 1927, 1928, and 1929. He entered prison on April 7, 1932, and paid his fine a month later. He was freed from prison in December, 1935.

Two Gunmen Force Car to Curb and Seize $1,400

Ben Handwerger, 52 years old, a dress manufacturer, was robbed of $1,400 yesterday by two gunmen who forced his car to the curb at 1000 Ogden avenue. Handwerger was going to a bank from his office at 3824 Lawrence avenue.

PREDICTS VOTERS WILL O. K. MAYOR ON RECORD TODAY

Sprague Sounds Warning Against Roorbacks.

Col. A. A. Sprague closed the primary campaign for Mayor Kelly last night with a review of the mayor's accomplishments and a final warning against roorbacks—appeals to prejudice issued too late for an answer.

"The All-Chicago Committee for the Reëlection of Mayor Kelly tonight ends the first part of its work to keep on the job a mayor who in every way has made good," Col. Sprague said in a radio talk.

Sprague predicted a victory that will swamp the opposition. He said he had never known another candidate supported by such a diversity of voters, from every economic class, every nationality, and every creed, as those backing the mayor.

Gets Praise for Campaign.

He said he had received hundreds of telephone calls and letters from citizens commending Mayor Kelly for a constructive campaign.

"It was a task of restoring Chicago's credit," Col. Sprague said of the mayor's record. "Mayor Kelly did that. It was a task of getting the school teachers the millions of dollars in back pay. Mayor Kelly did that.

"It was a task of providing jobs for men and women either in private industry or in public works. And Mayor Kelly has done that in magnificent fashion.

"It was a task of rebuilding Chicago physically—of pushing forward a program of better housing, of repairing our streets, of getting up new street signs, of improving our parks, of getting more school buildings, of making our boulevards safer, of improving our water supply, of extending our sanitation system. He has done all these things.

Per Capita Costs Held Down.

"Moreover, he has done them without special assessments. At the same time he has kept the per capital cost of government for Chicago lower than any other comparable city in America."

In telling of the subway and plans for other improvements, Col. Sprague asserted that Mayor Kelly's engineering background makes him the ideal man to carry these projects forward.

"I have been advised that plans have been made by the opposition for literally covering the streets of Chicago with the most outrageous types of roorbacks in the form of handbills and letters, in a desperate eleventh hour attempt to persuade what the opposition believes are gullible voters to change their minds about voting for Mayor Kelly.

"But I am confident that the people will not fall for such tactics in this campaign."

POSTCARD PLEA FOR G. O. P. VOTES CALLED FORGERY

Harry S. Ditchburne, president of the 1940 Club, Inc., denounced as a forgery a postcard mailed throughout the 49th ward yesterday saying that the organization had indorsed Ald. Frank Keenan, a Democrat, for reëlection.

"We are working for Republican success next year," said Ditchburne," and have taken no part in this primary. But Maj. William C. Bausch is the only Republican candidate for alderman in the 49th ward and there is no reason why any Republican should support the Democratic incumbent in preference to him."

The postcard carried the signature of a man unknown to Ditchburne as a leader of the 1940 Club, Inc.

Gasoline Taxes

Total gasoline taxes collected in the United States by the states since Oregon introduced the tax 20 years ago.

Since the first gasoline tax was enacted in Oregon twenty years ago motorists throughout the country have paid a total of $8,093,398,000 in state and federal gasoline taxes. This was announced yesterday in a survey made public by the Illinois Petroleum Industries committee.

Illinois first imposed the tax in 1927. Up to the present it is estimated motorists in the state have paid $296,961,000 in state taxes, in addition to $72,306,000 in federal taxes. Funds collected from the gasoline tax are used for construction and maintenance of roads and highways.

J. J. Moore's Name Stricken from Ballot After Death

The name of John J. Moore, aldermanic candidate in the 27th ward who died Saturday, was ordered stricken from the ballot yesterday by the board of election commissioners. The regular Republican ward organization, of which Moore was the head, sent black bordered notices of his death to voters. These urged the election of John J. Broderick, Kelly sponsored candidate. Ald. Harry L. Sain, candidate for reelection, is backed by the Courtney forces.

END BOSS RULE, SAYS COURTNEY IN FINAL APPEAL

Eyes of U. S. on Chicago, Voters Are Told.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

State's Attorney Courtney in his final appeal to voters last night took as his theme "The Place to Beat the Bosses Is At the Primaries." In a radio speech he said that machine control of government is the great issue.

"I have brought before the people the issues I believe worthy of their attention," said Courtney. "Tonight the bosses of the Kelly machine are in their penthouse on the Morrison hotel praying for rain, just as though rain or sleet or snow should keep you from the performance of the highest obligations of citizenship tomorrow.

"Last night Mr. Kelly spoke from this same radio station. As I listened to his talk I thought how characteristic it was of the man and his administration—stalling, dodging, ducking, and delaying a definite answer and a definite position on any public question, on any matter of first importance.

Scores Silence on Issues.

"He talked of the horse-car days. He said he was happy to have been a part of the Chicago that rebuilt itself after the great fire. I thought as I listened, here is a man who is still living in the political era of 20 years ago.

"Not one word came from Mr. Kelly on questions I have been speaking to you about. Not one word about Skidmorism, not one word about the syndicate—that invisible government ruling Chicago under the protection of Mr. Kelly. Not a word as to his conduct of the school system. Not a word of the terrorism rampant in the public schools. Not one word on the increased taxes that he and his machine have levied against you—30 million dollars more than in 1934.

"He spoke of the municipal mess the late Mayor Cermak left him. Mr. Cermak left you, Mr. Kelly, a tax rate of $6.75. Under you the tax rate will be $10. He left you a city living within its income. You are leaving your successor 11 million dollars of unpaid bills.

Terms Theory Outrageous.

"The confidence of the bosses that they can overcome the will of the people by the masked power of a machine is based entirely upon the theory that the holding of a political job enslaves the man or woman who receives a modest salary in a public office. To my mind this is the most outrageous theory that even a party boss, let alone a leader, could seek to maintain in these times.

"This primary election is more that a contest to determine who shall be mayor. It is the fight of the people against the machine and against those who destroy those things a free people hold most dear. The eyes of America are watching the outcome of this contest between the people and Chicago's Tammany, the Kelly machine."

FINDS WIFE HANGED.

No one answered the bell last evening when John W. Dawson returned to his apartment of 6359 Kenwood avenue. Dawson, who is 75 years old, unlocked the door and went in. His wife, Janet, 67, had hanged herself. She had been ill for months.

NAVY WINDS UP WAR GAMES IN A MOCK BATTLE

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Miami, Fla., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Word was being awaited here as to the outcome of the mock battle of the navy's war games, testing defense of the western hemisphere from attack in the Atlantic.

After the engagement the Houston headed toward a rendezvous at Culebra, an island sixty miles east of San Juan, where the navy has a base. There the President will discuss the maneuvers with Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of the naval operations, and Admiral Claude C. Bloch, commander in chief of the fleet.

Search German Ship.

CHARLOTTE AMALIA, St. Thomas Island, Feb. 27.—[Special.]—It became known today that a German fishing boat, the Equator, was searched by a boarding party from the United States aircraft carrier Yorktown after the German craft was seen hovering near vessels of the fleet off St. Thomas. Seamen reported they saw cameras being used on the Equator, but none was found. The Equator entered St. Thomas harbor after her papers were found in good order. She later departed for Germany.

FIREMAN JUST LOVES HIS JOB, AND PROVES IT

Painesville, O., Feb. 27.—(AP)—A member of the volunteer fire department at nearby Willobee confessed today that he started five fires, including one in the fire chief's barn, for the thrill of putting them out. Sheriff James Moloney reported.

The fireman, Herbert E. Hollingshead, 39 years old, was held in jail tonight and will be charged with arson.

A. F. Gallagher, deputy state fire marshal, said Hollingshead worked eight hours with other firemen to put out the flames in Fire Chief Lyman Kelley's barn after setting the fire.

RAP ROOSEVELT FOREIGN POLICY AS WAR THREAT

Air Force Expansion Bill Debated in Senate.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—The senate talked war today as it began consideration of the bill authorizing the appropriation of $360,000,000 to raise the army's air force to 6,000 planes and otherwise improve the national defenses.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] led off the discussion with an assault on President Roosevelt's theory that this nation can throw its influence on the side of the European democracies and stop short of war. He described Mr. Roosevelt's belief that this can be done as a "deeply dangerous infatuation."

Senator Connally Replies.

Replying, Senator Tom Connally [D., Tex.] roared a defense of the president.

"I can't conceive of any President being so traitorous in his conduct as to deliberately bring about a situation which would force congress into a declaration of war," Connally declared at the climax of an impassioned address.

While taking up of the measure afforded an opportunity for the chamber to engage in a long debate on the foreign policy of the United States, practically no opposition is expected to its passage. An amendment by Senator Bennett C. Clark [D., Mo.] to reduce the army plane limitation to 5,500, as approved by the house, was the main controversial item.

Chairman Morris Shepard [D., Tex.] of the senate military affairs committee defended the increased maximum of planes to be permitted the army. The authorized appropriation of $170,000,000 was not increased thereby, he said, the army merely being permitted to take advantage of reduced plane costs, due to mass production.

Argues for Saving.

Senator Clark has argued that army experts testified 5,500 planes were sufficient for defense needs. If that number can be built for less than $170,000,000, he said, the saving should be returned to the treasury.

Vandenberg questioned what the administration means by adequate defense.

"If by adequate is meant a defense adequate to implement our national defenses so that we may be enabled to mind our own business, sustain the Monroe doctrin, not allowing any alien ideologies to intrude into our hemisphere, then I am for it," he declared. "But if there is involved a defense adequate to implement the President's Chicago speech with its talk of quarantines and sanctions for aggressor nations—a defense adequate to police the world—then my answer is an emphatic 'No!'"

Wants Policy Defined.

"So long as our foreign policy remains a conundrum, so also does our defense policy," he told the senate. "I wish that one of two things would happen before this bill comes to a roll call. I wish the President would make a specific statement of his policy and harmonize his discussions on the subject or I should like the senate's foreign relations committee to draft a conclusive declaration of what we believe to be our foreign policy.

"It is a dangerous notion that we can thrust ourselves with impunity into foreign conflicts. It is a deeply dangerous infatuation that we can always stop short of war. That is a treacherous phrase—'short of war.' One sided punitive actions can put our destiny beyond our control—leave us no alternative—not to resist by force of arms, regardless of our intentions to stop short of war, and be plunged into war itself.

"We should never take the first step unless we are willing to take the final step. There is no such thing as partial intervention, no such thing as a partial war. I would have America mind her own business until such time at least when the whole people, through the congress, should desire a complete and conclusive assault—in other words, war itself.

"I fear there is no safety zone where a truculent Uncle Sam may stand with a chip on his shoulder with assurance that no one will knock it off. It is a viciously treacherous mode of calculation to think so."

New York, Feb. 27.—[Special].—American singers were quick to come to the defense of the Metropolitan Opera company today when remarks critical of the Metropolitan and its choice of stars were published here and attributed to Beniamino Gigli, whose statements first appeared in Italian newspapers.

Gigli was quoted as saying that the Metropolitan opera, in which he appeared in New York, was in a state of decadence. Gigli described three American singers, Lawrence Tibbett, Richard Crooks, and Grace Moore as stars "who cost less and substitute notoriety created by publicity for intrinsic value."

Tibbett in Detroit, replied "as one publicity seeker to another . . . "I like this country and I think Gigli doesn't.

MRS. ROOSEVELT QUITS D. A. R. FOR REBUFF TO NEGRO

Protests Cancelation of Contralto's Concert.

New York, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, in her syndicated column, today said she was resigning from an organization, which she did not name, because she does not approve of a recent action of the group. A news story concerning the column in the World-Telegram said:

"It is assumed that Mrs. Roosevelt is quitting the Daughters of the American Revolution because of its recent refusal to permit Miss Marian Anderson, Negro contralto, to give a concert in Constitution hall in Washington. The auditorium is owned by the D. A. R."

In Washington Mrs. Roosevelt refused to say whether she had quit the D. A. R. but she did say the organization from which she is resigning has national headquarters in Washington and that she joined it after entering the White House.

Mrs. Roosevelt became a D. A. R. after coming to Washington, at the invitation of the organization, which arranged to look up her lineage for her.

Sings at White House.

Miss Anderson, who has been characterized by Arturo Toscanini as the world's greatest singer, gave a recital for President and Mrs. Roosevelt in the White House two years ago.

Her concert in Constitution hall was scheduled for April 9. The D. A. R. refused its permission a week ago. Many prominent musicians, among them Jascha Heifetz, criticized the Daughters for their action. Present plans call for Miss Anderson's appearance in a Washington church.

On Feb. 21, 1937, Mrs. Roosevelt wrote in her column:

"My husband and I had a rare treat Wednesday night in listening to Marian Anderson, colored contralto, who has made a great success in Europe and this country. She has sung before nearly all the crowned heads and deserves her great success, for I rarely have heard a more beautiful and moving voice or a more finished artist."

"Interesting," Says Singer.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 27.—(AP)—Marian Anderson, Negro contralto, said today "it would be very interesting" if Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt had quit the Daughters of the American Revolution because that organization snubbed the singer. "But I cannot comment in any way," she said.

G. O. P. GOVERNOR SLASHES BUDGET BY 100 MILLION

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Gov. Arthur James laid before the legislature tonight his economy budget calling for state expenditures of $537,058,912 for the next two years.

Thus the Republican who led the election fight which smashed the Democratic machine of the former self-styled New Deal governor, George Earle, put into concrete form his campaign pledges to return the state to sound financial practices.

The budget presented tonight was more than 100 million dollars under that covering the last biennium of the Earle administration when $640,454,252 was appropriated. Gov. James appealed to the legislators to coöperate in a program for relieving taxpayers of the heavy burden of governmental cost.

Harrie B. Murr Named on North Shore Sanitary Board

County Judge Perry L. Persons in Waukegan yesterday announced the appointment of Harrie B. Murr as a member of the North Shore sanitary district board. He takes the place caused by the resignation last fall of Mrs. Mary Borden Pirie, who moved to New York. Mr. Murr, a Republican leader, lives in Lake Bluff. He is a member of the Lake county board of supervisors.

Indiana House Asks New Hearing for Stephenson

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 27.—(AP)—The Indiana house of representatives revived the D. C. Stephenson case today by approving, 65 to 24, a resolution calling upon the state clemency commission to grant the former Ku Klux Klan grand dragon a special hearing in his efforts to gain release from life imprisonment. Stephenson, one-time political power in Indiana, has been in prison since 1925 following his conviction of murder in the death of Madge Oberholtzer, statehouse employé. Granting of the hearing is optional with the clemency commission.

GRUFF BACHELOR HERALDS CHANGE IN HIS STATUS

Sam the parrot's rough exterior hid a heart of gold. Mrs. George Treviranus always said so when visitors called him a crusty old bachelor. He was gruff, all right—plain spoken enough to make you blush—and his manners were those of the sea.

Sam and four of "his" eggs.

Long ago Mrs. Treviranus put away the dollies and the cage curtains she embroidered when Sam came nine years ago to her at 1724 Livingston street, Evanston. If Sam wanted a den instead of a boudoir, all right. Well, she got them out again last night. Sam, the old faker, is just a bird in a gilded cage now, a bird who'll take frills and like them.

He'll be called Sonia, so the embroidered "S's" will do. Sam, that is to say Sonia, has begun laying eggs, and Mr. and Mrs. Treviranus remember now that they neglected to ask the man who sold the parrot to them.

MOTHER VISITS AL CAPONE, BUT RALPH IS BARRED

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Al Capone's mother spent an hour with him today in the visitor's room of the federal prison on Terminal Island in Los Angeles harbor, while his brother, Ralph, cooled his heels outside the prison reservation. Warden Edwin J. Lloyd said that any person who has served a sentence in a federal penitentiary cannot pay a visit to any inmate of a federal prison. Ralph served a prison term for income tax fraud.

MUNDELEIN SEES SPEEDY CHOICE IN PAPAL ELECTION

Cardinals Begin Secret Sessions Tomorrow.

BY ARCH WARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Feb. 27.—Cardinal George Mundelein of Chicago, who tonight stood closer to the papacy than any other American in history, predicted a speedy election in the conclave, which convenes on Wednesday to choose the successor to Pope Pius XI.

Neither Cardinal Mundelein nor any other cardinal knew definitly the composite sentiment of the sacred college, but all were impressed by the tremendous responsibility confronting a new pope. Whoever is chosen is certain to have immediate and enthusiastic support.

Cardinal Mundelein expected a short, quiet, and exceptionally serious conclave. According to the Chicago prelate, Pope Pius XI, ranked among the greatest and his successor faces the gigantic task of attempting to fill his place.

Romans Expect Italian Pope.

While the people of Rome were confident the new ruler of the Roman Catholic church will be an Italian, there was increasing opinion in semi-official circles that a foreigner has an outside chance. Should this develop Cardinal Mundelein would rank with the cardinals of Portugal and Paris as the strongest contenders.

The chief of the papal guard, Brig. Gen. Bisleti, nephew of the late Cardinal Bisleti, has been assigned as personal aid of the Chicago archbishop in the conclave. Gen. Bisleti heads the noble guard and the honorary corps composed of members of outstanding Roman Catholic families. These men assist in surveillance of the Vatican.

During the conclave they will help the cardinals establish themselves in their new quarters, accompanying each cardinal at all times while the sacred college is in session. Gen. Bisleti's daughter was graduated from Trinity college in Washington, D. C., and now is living in Orlando, Fla.

Ballot First on Thursday.

It is traditional that the guard who happens to be the aid of a cardinal who is elected pope always is especially esteemed and honored by the new pontiff.

Wednesday will be devoted to religious ceremonies, starting with Mass of the Holy Spirit at 9 a. m. There will be no balloting until Thursday morning. It has been decided to hold two ballots each morning and two each afternoon until the pope is elected. Unless there is a deadlock among the Italian leaders, a decision is likely on Friday. The late Pope Plus XI. was chosen on the fourth day in 1922.

Makes Final Inspection.

Prince Chigi, marshal of the conclave, today made a final inspection of the Sistine chapel, where the voting will take place, and of the quarters of the cardinals. He pronounced everything in readiness for the historic session.

The radio station in Vatican City will make two broadcasts daily after the voting begins, informing the world of whether or not a pope has been elected. The original broadcast will be in Italian, but it will be repeated in all principal languages. Identity of the new pontiff will not be revealed, however, until the announcement is made to the throng waiting in St. Peter's square.

Dewey's Political Star Soars with Victory Over Tammany

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Following the projection of Thomas E. Dewey of New York into the spotlight by his conviction of Tammany Boss J. J. Hines, the capital bubbled with political gossip and speculation today. Outstanding developments were:

1. Republican leaders talked chiefly of Dewey and Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio for the Republican national ticket next year, many of them opining that the presidential star of Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan is waning.

2. A Democratic presidential boom of considerable proportions is taking form for Senator Scott W. Lucas of Illinois as a logical compromise between the New Deal and conservative wings of the party.

Garner Warns of Party's Peril.

The Lucas boom was born of the necessity of the two factions of the Democratic party getting together on a candidate if it is to have a Chinaman's chance of electing the next President.

At present these factions are facing each other across a yawning gulf. Vice President John N. Garner has remarked frequently of late—and at least once in a cabinet meeting—that unless the two factions speedily bury their differences and unite on a program that will bring recovery, the Democratic nomination will not be worth having.

The conservative Democrats would rather have Mr. Garner nominated than any one else. They concede that his 70 years are a handicap, though they stress his physical and mental vigor and point out that for months he has held first place in nation-wide polls on presidential preferences.

Clark in Second Place.

Second place in the affections of the conservative Democrats is held by Senator Bennett Champ Clark of Missouri. Mr. Clark stands high in the esteem of the Vice President and the common understanding among politicians is that if Mr. Garner is unable to command the nomination he will endeavor to put Clark across.

First choice of the simon pure New Dealers is Mr. Roosevelt for a third term. They will fight to give him the regular nomination if he will take it, and they will not hesitate to follow him into a third party if matters should come to that pass.

On a second choice the New Dealers are split several ways, some favoring Secretary of Commerce Harry Hopkins, some Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace, and some Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes.

Hopkins Boomed by White House.

Presumably Mr. Hopkins is Mr. Roosevelt's choice and was made secretary of commerce for a buildup for the nomination.

Mr. Hopkins, however, is anathema to the conservatives. As a result, both factions are discussing compromise candidates, notably Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Jesse Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation; Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, and more recently Senator Lucas.

In current speculation Senator Lucas is figuring more prominently than any of the others suggested as a compromise.

Senator Lucas is a middle of the roader. In the main, while in the house, he voted for New Deal measures, but he went off the reservation on the court packing and reorganization bills.

Since coming to the senate he voted with the conservatives for the cut in relief appropriations and with the New Dealers for additional dams for TVA. He has voted to confirm all nominations except Judge Roberts of Virginia, whom he voted to reject.

REPORT BROTHEL KEEPER INDICTED IN BOY SLAYING

Urbana, Ill., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—The Champaign county grand jury was reported tonight to have voted a true bill against Mrs. Margaret Strothers, colored keeper of a vice resort, for the killing of William Spurrier of Toledo, O., a University of Illinois sophomore, ten days ago. Spurrier was shot after he and five other students were denied admittance to the resort and one of them threw a bottle through a window.

The five students who accompanied Spurrier and half a dozen other persons told their stories to the grand jury today under guidance of Assistant State's Attorney C. H. Swick. State's Attorney Fred Hamill is under suspension as a result of the killing and disclosures that brothels and gambling joints were tolerated near the school campus by public officials.

Walker Butler and Harry Pate, assistant attorneys general, have been assigned by Attorney General John E. Cassidy to make a general investigation of vice and gambling in Champaign county. T. P. Sullivan, chief of the state bureau of criminal investigation, will hold Butler and Pate with their investigation and presentation of evidence to the grand jury.

U. S. Judge Approves Plan to Sell West Side Hospital

Federal Judge William H. Holly gave approval yesterday for a public sale March 13 of the West Side hospital, 1850 Harrison street. The sale was asked by Fred E. Hummel, trustee in bankruptcy, who said no feasible plan of reorganization could be formed and that the hospital is operating at a loss of $2,000 a month. The hospital was closed for a month last summer by the board of health on charges that it was insanitary.

Michigan Senate Praises Dewey for Court Victory

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 27.—(AP)—District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey of New York, formerly of Owosso, Mich., received congratulations tonight from the Michigan senate for the conviction of James J. Hines of selling political protection to a numbers racket. It adopted a resolution to that effect.

TEMPLE TO ACHIEVEMENT (2)

By CALEB

OVER the years, the function of education has undergone a sensational transformation. Today, student-minded adults and growing schoolboys have facilities for learning at their disposal that their forefathers never dreamed of.

Instead, for example, of merely reading about the dreams and experiments of celebrated pioneers in agriculture, mechanical power, construction, forestry, mining, physics, chemistry, astronomy, geology, transportation, printing, and the graphic arts—or relying on word-and-illustration memory for knowledge of the race's advancement . . . one may pass through the wide-open doors of an institution like the Museum of Science and Industry, in Jackson Park, and actually see the replicas of tools with which these early benefactors worked—the devices which they created.

By this newer visual and exhibitive technique, mystery disappears from mechanism; processes become comprehensible; the values and meanings of centuries of obscure research and invention are at last appreciatively understood. In the section on transportation, one may thoughtfully study Stephenson's original "Rocket" locomotive of 1829, the historic wood-burning "Mississippi" of 1836, a model of Robert Fulton's "Claremont"—or scrutinize an old horse-car, a cable car, or the first electric car to run in Chicago.

In another section, devoted to means of communication, he sees how messages were first physically carried from place to place—learns how signals with fire, smoke, sound and semaphore developed—traces the successive comings of telephone, telegraph, radio and television.

Models of the earliest ships, bridges, lights, engines, roadways, buildings, farm implements, presses and vehicles, condense into minutes the laborious classroom information of years. And from such various halls as those of agriculture, timekeeping, paper-making, navigation, printing, mining, optics, or metallurgy, one emerges with enlightenment of lifetime significance . . .

Both in its extent and its content, the educational influence exerted by such grand-scale presentations of human progress is incalculable. From it the modern student of his predecessors' handiwork derives endless inspiration as well as knowledge. In these halls, as never before, youth is stimulated to a realization of its heritage; modern manhood learns rightly to esteem the manhood of yesterday; and men and women are reminded that life can never be lived dully or vainly, in a world so filled with examples of indefatigable effort and ennobling accomplishment.

FRANCO PLEDGES HE 'WON'T FORGET' FRIENDS IN WAR

Thanks Countries Which Aided His Victory.

BURGOS, Spain, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco of Nationalist Spain told a wildly cheering throng today that he would not "forget those countries who came to our aid in time of need."

Although Gen. Franco spoke in response to a demonstration in connection with recognition of his régime today by Great Britain and France, his remarks were interpreted as referring to Italy, Germany, and Portugal.

Franco said Spain has "fought a winning battle against communism and the forces seeking to destroy her."

"First to Extend Friendship."

He thanked Germany, Italy, and Portugal "and other countries who were among the first to extend us friendship."

It was Franco's first public appearance in Burgos, the Nationalist capital, since the Nationalist offensive in Catalonia began last December.

All Burgos wildly celebrated the news of French and British recognition. The red and gold banners of Nationalist Spain and flags of Germany, Italy, Japan, and Portugal were carried on the streets, with the bearers fighting their way through crowds.

Count Francisco Gomez Jordana, Nationalist foreign minister, announced that the accord reached with France provided for the return to the Nationalist government of large stocks of gold, estimated at 100,000,000 gold pesetas [about $19,000,000], art treasures, interned ships, war materials taken to France by the Catalonian army, and "all goods and materials pertaining to the Spanish nation."

German Press Rejoices.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 27.—The recognition of Gen. Francisco Franco's government by England and France was hailed with satisfaction today in the German press.

The official Voelkischer Beobachter said that "for the first time in decades or perhaps in centuries the courageous Spanish nation can expect to overcome the long period of weakness in its history and reoccupy that place among Europe's nations which it deserves."

"Thanks to the German and Italian friendship, Franco always will be able to carry through what he deems necessary. In the future Paris and London will be compelled to adjust their interests to the interest of a strong Spain," the paper added.

The Lokalanzeiger said: "Franco was able to obtain his ends in the face of strong opposition abroad. The two powers—America and soviet Russia—who still stand aloof are of no decisive importance."

U. S. in No Hurry to Recognize Gen. Franco, Washington Says

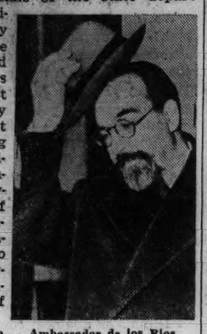
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Officials of the state department indicated today that the United States would not be in any hurry about recognizing the victorious Nationalist government of Generalissimo Francisco Franco as the sovereign authority of Spain.



Ambassador de los Rios.

While Great Britain, France, and other major powers have recognized the Franco government in a concerted movement to bring an end to the Spanish civil war, the United States still recognizes the remnant of Premier Negrin's loyalist government in Madrid.

Ambassador Holds Ground.

Fernando de los Rios, the Spanish ambassador, told newspaper men that the government of Premier Negrin was still functioning and that he himself was still ambassador.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull had talked with De los Rios, but at his press conference refused to answer directly all questions relating to the recognition of the Franco government. Privately, officials of the state department said the question of recognition was not before this government and would not come before it so long as Premier Negrin's government continued to function in Madrid. Even if Negrin should follow President Azana into exile, the United States would not necessarily recognize the Franco government immediately, state department officials said.

Issue Might Be Forced.

The question of recognition might arise, officials explained, through a request for such action, which Gen. Franco might transmit through a third government. Recognition also may be deferred until some diplomatic action, otherwise unimportant, requires it, state department officials said.

The American embassy, which once was located in Madrid, is at St. Jean de Luz, France, just across the border from Spain. Ambassador Claude G. Bowers fled from the scene of hostilities and took refuge in the French town early in the civil war. Walter C. Thurston, counsellor of the embassy, has joined Ambassador Bowers at St. Jean de Luz. As chargé d'affaires, he had followed the loyalist government from Madrid to Valencia to Barcelona to Perpignan, France.

BREAK FOR DRUNKEN DRIVERS—CARS MUST SERVE THE JAIL TIME

Atlantic City, N. J., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Automobiles would be sent to jail for being driven by intoxicated people under a bill which State Senator Thomas D. Taggart proposes to introduce in the legislature at Trenton tonight. Under the bill magistrates would be compelled, after convicting drunken drivers, to order their cars padlocked in a public garage for ninety days. During that period the magistrate would take personal custody of the offending automobiles' license tags.

SUPREME COURT REJECTS INDIANS' CATTLE CLAIMS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 27.—(AP)—The Supreme court refused today to review a decision that 26,000 Sioux Indians of four western states were not entitled to receive "one good American cow and one good well-broken pair of American oxen" each from the federal government.

The Indians on reservations in North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, and Montana appealed from the United States Court of Claims which interpreted a treaty of 1868 as meaning that the Indian families were required to begin farming by 1880 in order to get the cattle. The 1868 treaty brought to a close a long war between the United States and the Sioux under Chief Red Cloud.

Counsel for the tribes contended the treaty obligated the government to provide the cattle to every family which moved to the reservation.

ATTY. GENERAL OF MONTANA IS FACING REMOVAL

Helena, Mont., Feb. 27.—(AP)—The impeachment and removal of Attorney General Harrison J. Freebourn was recommended tonight by a special investigating committee of the house. Freebourn, through Assistant Attorney General Mark Derr, asserted the charges were "an absolute frame-up" and "there is no evidence to support them."

The committee report said William McCrone introduced a novelty company representative to Freebourn and that testimony showed an agreement was reached to permit operation of slot machines. The report stated that the company representative gave McCrone "protection money," and that witnesses testified McCrone gave the money to the attorney general.

Derr said the company representative and McCrone "talked to Mr. Freebourn about slot machines," but the attorney general "sent him away" and the firm "never did any business in this state."

ANTI-NAZI RIOTS FLARE ANEW IN 2 POLISH CITIES

WARSAW, Poland, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Polish students rioted anew against Germany in Cracow and Poznan, and clashed with Nazis in Danzig today.

In Poznan the students smashed windows of a German restaurant. Several Germans were injured. In Cracow, several hundred students made a determined effort to storm the German consulate, but police finally drove them back. In both instances police used clubs and fire hoses freely.

The clash in the Nazified Free City of Danzig put a further strain on relations between that city and Poland. A second protest by the Danzig senate against agitation for incorporation of Danzig into Poland caused the clashes in Danzig, in which six Polish students were injured and four arrested. The Polish students had engaged in a pitched battle with non-Polish students.

The disorders came almost simultaneously with German acceptance of a Polish apology for an attack made Saturday on the German embassy in Warsaw.

REMARKS ABOUT LABOR HEARING COST NLRB JOB

Washington, D. C., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Dr. Towne Nylander, regional director of the National Labor Relations board in Los Angeles, was suspended from his position today. The board is investigating reports that in an address in Inglewood, Cal., he said: "When we go into a hearing the employer hasn't got a chance."

The board said the quoted words expressed views which are not the views of the board, and damaging to its work.

Aaron W. Warner, regional director at Denver, will be acting director at Los Angeles and Charles Graham, attorney for the regional board at Denver, will fill Warner's place temporarily.

WARNS BRITAIN U. S. OPPOSES ITS HOLY LAND PLAN

Kennedy Sees Halifax as Jews Reject Proposal.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 27.—Americans oppose a new British plan for restricting Jewish immigration into Palestine and for ending the British mandate over that country, Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy of the United States today told Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax of Great Britain.

This was a new development in the deadlock which has been reached in the British-Jewish-Arab conference called in London to seek a solution of the vexing Palestine problem. The British proposal, outlined over the week-end, continued the deadlock because Jewish leaders refused even to continue discussions with this plan as the basis.

It was understood the plan provides for setting up an independent Arab state eventually, with Britain's league of nations mandate dissolved and Jewish immigration and land ownership restricted. This would mean that the Jews, now numbering an estimated 386,000 in Palestine, compared with about 876,000 Arabs, would constitute a permanent minority.

Urges Plan Be Changed.

Ambassador Kennedy's complete statement to Foreign Secretary Halifax was not made public. It was understood, however, that he told Halifax the British plan, which has met with a cordial Arab reception, would bring a "disastrous effect on public opinion in the United States."

The American envoy, it was said, recalled an agreement signed on Dec. 3, 1924 by the United States and Britain, in which the British agreed not to alter their league of nations mandate over Palestine unless the changes "shall have been assented to by the United States."

One report was that Ambassador Kennedy urged that the British plan be changed. The present text of the proposal, it was said, was shown to Kennedy who transmitted its contents to Washington, D. C.

A spokesman said that Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the Jewish agency for Palestine and of the World Zionist organization, listed these reasons for refusal to consider the plan:

"FIRST—It ignores Jewish rights to a national home in Palestine.

"SECOND—It gives Jews no safeguards concerning Jewish immigration to Palestine.

"THIRD—It places Jews under permanent domination of Palestinian Arabs."

Thirty-two Slain in Palestine.

JERUSALEM, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Armored cars equipped with machine guns patroled turbulent centers of the Holy Land tonight following a week-end renewal of Arab-Jewish strife in which thirty-two persons were killed and fifty-four wounded. Military police enforced curfew regulations at Haifa, where bombs planted in vegetable baskets in the Arab market killed twenty-four Arabs and wounded thirty-nine.

In Jerusalem's market place three Arabs were killed and six were wounded by exploding bombs and one Arab was shot to death. Three land mine explosions outside Jaffa killed one Arab and wounded four others, and in Jaffa proper two Jews were reported to have slain an Arab youth. Two Arabs were found shot to death near the Jewish community of Tel Aviv.

THIRD WOMAN SEIZED AS 'EXECUTIONER' IN BARCELONA CLEANUP

BARCELONA, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Nationalist [Franco] agents today arrested a woman known as "La Miliciana," and charged her with the execution of several Nationalist sympathizers during Spanish government control of the city.

The Nationalist said the woman, whose name was given as Matilde Estubano Larrea, wore a blue uniform, carried a pistol, and was often called upon by government authorities to shoot prisoners.

Another woman, Ines Montaban, who was accused of receiving a bounty for "denouncing innocent persons" who later were executed, was in custody. A third, Rosita Soler Rivas, 15 years old, was awaiting trial on charges of a machine gun execution of thirty-five Nationalist sympathizers.

98 on 5 Sealing Vessels Feared Lost in Arctic Gale

OSLO, Norway, Feb. 27.—(AP)—The crews of five Norwegian sealing vessels totaling 98 men were feared to have lost their lives today in an arctic gale. The missing ships are the Nyken, Isfjell, Arctos, Quest, and Sellis. Each has a crew of 20 men except the Nyken which has 18.

GERMANS SPEED PASSPORTS FOR DEPARTING JEWS

BERLIN, Feb. 27. — (AP) — Germany began handing out "J" passports to Berlin Jews today as rapidly as formalities could be completed. This reversed a previous policy which required that passports be granted only to those likely to receive permission to enter foreign countries.

The reason for the change apparently was to provide Jews with passports as swiftly as possible, and tell them to leave Germany soon under an order effective today that requires the emigration of 100 Berlin Jews daily.

Police previously had demanded proof that a visa for a foreign country was in prospect before a passport—marked with a large "J" for Jew—was granted. Now, however, no questions are asked about visas or how a passport recipient intends to leave.

The emigration order, which became effective today, requires leaders of Berlin's 160,000 Jews to furnish daily the names of 100 persons who are to leave within two weeks.

In the last ten years Mrs. Rose Penwitt, 31 years old, 7205 Stewart avenue, has had 150 black eyes, Judge Rudolph Desort was told yesterday. All of them were inflicted by her husband, Clarence, a factory manager, according to Attorney Victor Frolich.

"He blacked her eyes alternately," said Frolich. "If the right one was still bruised, he would hit her in the left one."

Judge Desort granted Mrs. Penwitt custody of her three children, a divorce, and ordered Penwitt's arrest for being $286 in arrears in temporary alimony payments.

SUPREME COURT HOLDS SITDOWN STRIKE ILLEGAL

Discharge of Fansteel Group Upheld.

It upheld that part of the board's order requiring the company to withdraw recognition from the Rare Metal Workers of America, local No. 1, which was formed after the C. I. O. sitdown strike. The opinion held that there was evidence to support the board's contention that the company promoted the formation of this union, in violation of the Wagner act.

Bargaining Order Reverses.

The court, however, did not uphold the board's order in so far as it required the company to bargain collectively with lodge 66 of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, the C. I. O. union.

"In view of the change in the situation by reason of the valid discharges of the sitdown strikers and the filling of positions with new men, we see no basis for a conclusion that after the resumption of work lodge 66 was the choice of a majority of respondent's employés for the purpose of collective bargaining," said the opinion of Chief Justice Hughes.

Whether the Rare Metal Workers of America, local No. 1, or the C. I. O. union represents a majority of the employés is a question which the board must determine by means of an election, the court held.

Appeal Decree Modified.

The decree of the 7th Circuit Court of Appeals at Chicago, which set aside the board's order in its entirety, was modified by the Supreme court's decision.

The Supreme court found that the company violated the Wagner act by refusing to bargain collectively with the C. I. O. union prior to the sitdown strike, which began on Feb. 17, 1937. The opinion stated that the union committee, on that date, decided upon a sitdown strike by taking over and holding two of the company's key buildings. It continued:

"At about six o'clock in the evening the superintendent, accompanied by police officials and respondent's counsel, went to each of the buildings and demanded that the men leave. They refused and respondent's counsel thereupon announced in loud tones that all the men in the plant were discharged for the seizure and retention of the buildings. The men continued to occupy the buildings until Feb. 26, 1937. Their fellow members brought them food, blankets, stoves, cigarets, and other supplies.

Strikers Defy State Court.

"On Feb. 18 respondent obtained from the state court an injunction order requiring the men to surrender the premises. The men refused to obey the order and a writ of attachment for contempt was served on Feb. 19. Upon the men's refusal to submit a pitched battle ensued and the men successfully resisted the attempt by the sherif to evict and arrest them. Efforts at mediation on the part of the United States department of labor and the governor of Illinois proved unavailing.

"On Feb. 26 the sherif with an increased force of deputies made a further attempt and this time, after another battle, the men were ousted and placed under arrest. Most of them were eventually fined and given jail sentences for violating the injunction.

"Respondent on regaining possession undertook to resume operations and production gradually began. By March 12 the restaffing was approximately complete. A large number of the strikers, including many who had participated in the occupation of the buildings, were individually solicited to return to work with back pay, but without recognition of the union.

"Some accepted the offer and were reinstated; others refused to return unless there were union recognition and mass reinstatement and were still out at the time of the hearing before the board. New men were hired to fill the positions of those remaining on strike."

Discusses Board's Order.

Discussing that part of the board's order requiring the company to reinstate the sitdown strikers with back pay, dismissing if necessary all persons hired after the strike, the opinion declared:

"The board does not now contend that there was not a real discharge on Feb. 17 when the men refused to surrender possession. The discharge was clearly proved.

"Nor is there any basis for dispute as to the cause of the discharge. Representatives of respondent demanded that the men leave and on their refusal announced that they were discharged 'for the seizure and retention of the buildings.' The fact that it was a general announcement applicable to all the men in the plant who thus refused to leave does not detract from the effect of the discharge either in fact or in law.

"Nor is it questioned that the seizure and retention of respondent's property were unlawful. It was a high-handed proceeding without shadow of legal right. It became the subject of denunciation by the state court under the state law, resulting in fines and jail sentences for defiance of the court's order to vacate and in a final decree for respondent as the complainant in the injunction suit.

Denies Board's Reasoning.

"This conduct on the part of the employés manifestly gave good cause for their discharge unless the national labor relations act abrogates the right of the employer to refuse to retain in his employ those who illegally take and hold possession of his property.

"The contentions of the board in substance are these: [1] That the unfair labor practices of respondent led to the strike and thus furnished ground for requiring the reinstatement of the strikers; [2] that under the terms of the act employés who go on strike because of an unfair labor practice retain their status as employés and are to be considered as such despite discharge for illegal conduct; [3] that the board was entitled to order reinstatement or reemployment in order to 'effectuate the policies' of the act.

"For the unfair labor practices of respondent the act provided a remedy. Interference in the summer and fall of 1936 with the right of self-organization could at once have been the subject of complaint to the board. The same remedy was available to the employés when collective bargaining was refused on Feb. 17, 1937.

Not Deprived of Rights.

"But reprehensible as was that conduct of the respondent, there is no ground for saying that it made respondent an outlaw or deprived it of its legal rights to the possession and protection of its property.

"The employés had the right to strike, but they had no license to commit acts of violence or to seize their employer's plant.

"To justify such conduct because of the existence of a labor dispute or of an unfair labor practice, would be to put a premium on resort to force instead of legal remedies, and to subvert the principles of law and order which lie at the foundations of society.

"As respondent's [Fansteel] unfair labor practices afforded no excuse for the seizure and holding of its buildings, respondent had its normal rights of redress.

"We may put on one side the contested questions as to the circumstances and extent of injury to the plant and its contents in the efforts of the men to resist eviction.

Called Acts of Sabotage.

"The seizure and holding of the buildings was itself a wrong apart from any acts of sabotage.

"But in its legal aspect the ousting of the owner from lawful possession is not essentially different from an assault upon the officers of an employing company, or the seizure and conversion of its goods, or the despoiling of its property or other unlawful acts in order to force compliance with demands.

"We are unable to conclude that congress intended to compel employers to retain persons in their employ regardless of their unlawful conduct—to invest those who go on strike with an immunity from discharge for acts of trespass or violence against the employer's property, which they would not have enjoyed had they remained at work.

"Apart from the question of the constitutional validity of an enactment of that sort, it is enough to say that such a legislative intention should be found in some definite and unmistakable expression. We find no such expression in the cited provision."

Reed Dissenting Opinion.

Justice Reed, in the dissenting opinion in which Justice Black concurred, held that "as now construed by the court the employer may discharge any striker, with or without cause, so long as the discharge is not used to interfere with self-organizaiton or collective bargaining.

"Friction easily engendered by labor strife, may readily give rise to conduct, from nose thumbing to sabotage, which will give fair occasion for discharge on grounds other than those prohibited by the labor act.

"The point is made that an employer should not be compelled to reemploy an employé guilty, perhaps of sabotage. This depends upon circumstances.

"It is the function of the [labor] board to weigh the charges and countercharges and determine the adjustment most conducive to industrial peace. Courts certainly should not interfere with the normal action of administrative bodies in such circumstances.

"Here both labor and management had erred grievously in their respective conduct. It can not be said to be unreasonable to restore both to their former status. Such restoration would apply to the sitdown strikers and those striking employés who aided and abetted them."

Union Violates Contract.

The Supreme court upheld a decree of the 7th Circuit Court of Appeals, setting aside the board's order, in the Columbian Enameling and Stamping company case. In this case, members of the union went on strike in violation of a contract providing that "there shall be no stoppage of work by either party to this contract pending decision by the committee on arbitration."

The labor board held that the company itself refused to abide by the arbitration contract. It ordered the company to discharge employés who were not employed by it on July 22, 1935; to reinstate to the vacancies so created those who were employed on that date, and to desist from refusing to bargain collectively with Enameling and Stamping mill employés union, an A. F. of L. local.

Decision by Justice Stone.

The Supreme court's decision, announced by Justice Harlan F. Stone, was not based on the question of striking in violation of the arbitration agreement, but on a finding that there had been no refusal to bargain collectively. The strike was in progress on July 5, 1935, when the Wagner act was approved, and continued until July 23, when the company resumed operations.

The court held that no official or authorized representative of the union requested the company to bargain collectively when the plant was reopened on July 23.

"To put the employer in default here the employés must at least have signified to the respondent their desire to negotiate," said Justice Stone's opinion. "Measured by this test, the board's conclusion that respondent refused to bargain with the union is without support, for the reason that there is no evidence that the union gave to the employer . . . any indication of its willingness to bargain. The employer cannot, under the statute, be charged with refusal of that which is not proffered."

Finds Labor Board Wrong.

In a case against the Sands Manufacturing company of Cleveland, O., the court set aside a board order requiring reinstatement with back pay of former employés, members of the Mechanics' Educational Society of America. The board charged that the company discriminated against members of the union and refused to bargain collectively. The Supreme court said the board's order was "contrary to the entire and uncontradicted evidence of record."

The court held the evidence showed that the company repeatedly bargained collectively with the union, entered into a contract with it, and replaced some of its members by hiring other workers only after the union members had refused to work in accordance with their contract.

Spurs Wagner Act Changes.

With the Supreme court thus upholding the contention of Republicans, conservative Democrats and the A. F. of L. that the labor board has acted arbitrarily and unlawfully, with a bias not only against employers but against a particular labor organization, the movement in congress to modify the Wagner act and curtail the board's powers is expected to gain momentum.

Bills are pending in each house to establish some degree of mutuality between employers and employés as to rights, privileges, and responsibilities, and to limit the board's authority to that of investigator and prosecutor before courts of law.

Appeal for Peace.

President Roosevelt's appeal for peace negotiations between the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O. has been attributed in part to a desire on the administration's part to forestall congressional attacks on the Wagner act. Supporting this view was an announcement today by Senator Elbert D. Thomas [D., Utah], chairman of the education and labor committee, indefinitly postponing hearings on all Wagner act amendements pending the A. F. of L.-C. I. O. negotiations requested by the President.

"The negotiations would undoubtedly be carried on at the same time as our hearings," said Thomas, an ardent New Dealer. "This I am sure will be deemed unfortunate by all."

William Green, president of the A. F. of L., immediately called Senator Thomas to protest, serving notice that the federation would not tolerate the sidetracking of its Wagner act amendments under any pretext.

NEW EVANSVILLE WPA DIRECTOR IS REMOVED AFTER 10 DAYS ON JOB

Evansville, Ind., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—The district director of the WPA was changed here today for the second time in ten days. Robert Bowser, who had been head of the Evansville district only since Feb. 17, was replaced by Don W. Hufferd of Indianapolis.

John K. Jennings, Indiana WPA director, would give no direct reason for Bowser's dismissal, but indicated he had been ineffectual in handling WPA labor trouble. City and county WPA officials said Bowser's ouster followed a celebration in Vincennes in which he and another WPA official were said to have participated.

Bowser had been called in ten days ago to replace Ralph Osborn who, Jennings said, was unable to cope with disturbances caused by the Workers' alliance, a communist affiliate. Violence attributed to alliance members, including assaults on WPA officials, has occurred intermittently since October.

The officer said Connally then shot himself.

FANSTEEL PLANT HELD 10 DAYS BY 100 SIT STRIKERS

Court Defied; C. I. O. Driven Out After Siege.

Two years ago yesterday the main buildings of the Fansteel Metallurgical corporation in North Chicago looked as though they had just gone through a war. They had—a civil war in which sitdown strikers held the buildings for ten days in defiance of the law.

The company announced the discharge of employés who had engaged in this war. The National Labor Relations board ruled that the company could not fire them. The United States Supreme court decision yesterday upheld the company.

On the afternoon of Feb. 17, 1937, nearly 100 of the Fansteel employés seized the two key buildings of the plant, which sprawls along the North Shore interurban tracks. The next day the Circuit court of Lake county, in which the plant is located, ordered the strikers to vacate the buildings.

Strikers Defy Court.

The men refused. Soon after midnight Sherif Lawrence Doolittle and a force of deputies gathered from the surrounding countryside attacked the buildings with tear and nauseating gases. The strikers used home made acid bombs and parts of machinery as ammunition to repel the attack.

For a week thereafter the strikers remained in the plant, defying the court order. Sherif Doolittle swore in a second force of deputies and prepared to try again to enforce the court's order.

Meyer Adelman, an organizer for the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel, and Tin Workers, a C. I. O. union to which the sitdowners belonged, who was on the scene during the first siege, was not present when the second attack on the strikers began. The second siege lasted several hours in the predawn cold of Feb. 26. The strikers finally fled through a hole in a high wire fence that surrounds the plant.

Damage Put at $100,000.

Officials of the company said that $100,000 damage had been done to the plant and to the rare metals in process of production in the buildings. The company manufactures contact points and other delicate parts used in automobile and airplane motors.

The sitdown strikers were arrested and placed on trial on charges of contempt of court growing out of their refusal to leave the plant. Thirty-seven were convicted and sentenced to jail terms of ten to 180 days and were fined from $100 to $300.

The twenty-four men who received ten day jail sentences served their time. The thirteen others who were convicted, including Adelman, appealed their sentences and fines. The Lake county court was upheld by the Illinois Appellate and Supreme courts.

While Judge Theodore Forby of Zion was hearing the contempt trial the National Labor Relations board examiners began hearing the C. I. O. union charges that the company had been unfair to the union. Judge Forby immediately ordered that the NLRB hearing, which was going on in Waukegan, be stopped until the contempt hearing was concluded.

Examiners Decide to Obey.

NLRB examiners conferred with Washington officials over this move and then announced that they would obey Judge Forby.

"Things have come to a pretty pass when the laws and courts of this state can be butted into by a peripatetic board which slips itself into Waukegan," said the judge.

After extended hearings and the taking of volumes of testimony, Tilford E. Dudley, Chicago lawyer who was the NLRB examiner, announced in September, 1937, that the Fansteel company must rehire the sitdowners. Dudley ordered the company to rehire eighty-three dismissed employés, fifty-nine of whom took part in the strike, and to pay $70,000 in back wages to sixty-seven of the workers.

Dudley blamed the company for the sitdown strike on the ground that it had refused to negotiate with the C. I. O. union. Attorney for the company announced that an immediate appeal would be taken to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. Dudley's finding was denounced by Judge Forby.

The labor board upheld Dudley last March 14, and the case moved into the Circuit Court of Appeals.

Company Wins in Appeal.

Last July this court held that the NLRB finding was in error and that the company should not be forced to rehire the strikers who had violated the law. The court, in a two to one decision, said:

"Here we have an admitted illegal seizure and retention of property, intentionally perpetrated, and intentional destruction of property, with respect to the plant and portions of its equipment, supported by undisputed evidence.

"It is urged by the board that the commission of a crime by strikers does not preclude their right to bargain with petitioner [the Fansteel company]. This we admit, provided they still are employes and represent a majority of all.

"What we hold is that there was just cause for discharge. It was exercised and those who have not been reemployed are not employes and were not at the time of the finding of the board."

One Judge Dissents.

The majority opinion of the court was concurred in by Justices Will M. Sparks and Walter C. Lindley. A dissenting opinion, which held that the NLRB was justified in its finding despite the illegal acts of the strikers, was written by Judge Walter Emanuel Treanor. He had been appointed to the court a short while before by President Roosevelt.

Yesterday's United States Supreme court decision was hailed as a force for law and order by Benjamin V. Becker, chief of the law firm which represented the Fansteel company.

"The present congress," he said, "can render no greater service to industry and labor than by establishing an impartial tribune available to employer and employe alike where disputes can be heard promptly and determined in accordance with the principles of fair play and justice."

Van A. Bittner, local C. I. O. chief, could not be reached for a statement on the decision.

SITDOWN STRIKE IN BENDIX SOUTH BEND PLANT ENDS

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Four hundred members of the United Automobile Workers of America engaged in a brief sitdown strike today at the aircraft division of the Bendix Products corporation.

The men sat down this morning shortly after they came to work in protest, it was said, over the failure of repeated attempts to obtain an adjustment of wages and hours. They left the plant at 1:30 p. m. when informed about the Supreme court opinion holding sitdown strikes illegal, which had been given during the morning.

Representatives of the management and the U. A. W. A. local subsequently went into conference, but found no common ground. Two night shifts also refused to work. The U. A. W. has no contract and did not picket the plant.

When you ask Philadelphians which one newspaper they naturally turn to for advertising of things they want to buy,—

MORE of them name The Evening Bulletin than any other newspaper.

Not merely because The Bulletin has led all Philadelphia newspapers in daily circulation for thirty-four years. But because interest and confidence in news and editorial contents tend to add interest and confidence in the advertising in a newspaper's pages.

When a check is made of newspaper reader attention, reader interest, response (such as advertisers are interested in)—

MORE results are produced by The Bulletin per copy of the newspaper.

Naturally,—because reader interest in advertising in The Bulletin is greater even than its lead in daily circulation indicates.

Philadelphia housewives, shopping in some forty grocery stores and food markets in different parts of the city, were asked, "In which one newspaper are you most likely to look for food advertisements?" Their answers show interest in advertising appearing in The Bulletin many times greater than is accounted for simply by The Bulletin's larger circulation among Philadelphia daily newspapers:

5,406 housewives named The Bulletin
1,195 housewives named newspaper No. 2
980 housewives named newspaper No. 3
633 housewives named newspaper No. 4

6,791 customers named The Bulletin
2,291 customers named newspaper No. 2
1,921 customers named newspaper No. 3
1,218 customers named newspaper No. 4

In ten moving-picture houses in various locations in Philadelphia, people were asked, "In which one newspaper are you most likely to see an advertisement of this theatre?" Again results emphasize The Bulletin's readership:

1,372 theatregoers named The Bulletin
402 theatregoers named newspaper No. 2
353 theatregoers named newspaper No. 3
335 theatregoers named newspaper No. 4

The figures are from disinterested research.*

The study shows how much more effective advertising can be in a newspaper with BOTH circulation leadership AND thorough reader interest and confidence . . . a newspaper so carefully read that the advertiser's message often gets attention and action considerably greater than is indicated by large circulation alone.

Widely in the nation — as in Philadelphia itself—The Evening Bulletin is known as a newspaper edited for attentive reading in the homes of the nation's greatest City of Homes.†

The people's response to advertising in The Evening Bulletin, as shown by the research figures on this page, is a definite indication of the greater value of circulation secured solely on reading interest and editorial merit.

Of the many millions of copies of The Bulletin that have gone out from the presses to this great, home-loving people not a single copy has been bought as a result of a premium, prize or subscriber contest.

The Bulletin's circulation — all net cash paid—is Philadelphia circulation: 94.6% in the retail trading area of the greatest city market for home products in America!‡

Consult your advertising agency about the advantages of circulation gained without prizes, premiums or subscriber contests. Learn how, with The Evening Bulletin alone, you can reach more homes within Philadelphia than with any other newspaper, morning or evening, daily or Sunday — and do so at one of the lowest costs per reader anywhere!

†Nine out of ten dwellings in Philadelphia are single-family homes. More than New York City and Buffalo combined; than Chicago and St. Louis together; than Detroit and Cleveland. (United States Census, 1930)

‡The practice of publishing its net paid circulation began with The Bulletin more than forty years ago. The Bulletin has always printed every day on its first page and on the editorial page, the average daily net paid sales of the preceding month.

JEWS TO SMASH DISHES IN DISPUTE ON KOSHER MEAT

Sale of Forbidden Cuts Admitted by Butcher.

More than fifty Orthodox Jewish families in the Albany Park district yesterday faced the necessity of having to destroy some of their chinaware and other plates from which they had eaten nonkosher meat in recent weeks. Many of the families also will offer atonement prayers in their congregations for violation of their dietary laws, although the violations were involuntary.

Hyman Goldberg.

This developed yesterday after a hearing before Judge Leon Edelman in Shakespeare avenue court. Hyman Goldberg, a butcher at 4746 North Kedzie avenue, admitted that he had sold some nonkosher meat, although he advertised only kosher food. Such practice is in violation of a state law passed in 1923.

First Case in Many Years.

A complaint under this statute was filed against Goldberg by the Union of Orthodox Hebrew Congregations of Chicago. Goldberg will be arraigned on the charge tomorrow. He was unable to post $500 bond yesterday and was locked up.

"This is the first case of its kind in many years," said Rabbi Menahem B. Sacks, executive director of the congregation union. "It will be up to the individual housewife in the families affected to determine what plates shall be destroyed or kept out of future use after she has conferred with her rabbi.

"The regulations as to what plates should be destroyed or kept out of use are complicated. It will depend on whether the food was served hot or cold, how much the plates were used for nonkosher meat, and many other factors.

"Spoons, knives, forks, and other metal utensils used in eating and cooking the meat obtained from Goldberg may be used again if they have been thoroughly cleaned according to the regulations."

Follows Disturbance in Shop.

The court hearing yesterday was an aftermath of a disturbance in Goldberg's butcher shop Saturday night, when two dozen elderly men and women protested that he was not selling kosher meat. Jay Glod, 65 years old, 5017 North Sawyer avenue, one of the group, was charged with disorderly conduct. Goldberg brought a similar charge against Ben Fagel, 2631 Division street, a wholesale kosher meat salesman. He said Fagel refused to sell him meat until he paid his bill, thus forcing him to deal in nonkosher meat.

"Fagel was the reason I had to take in trafe [nonkosher] meat to support my wife and two children," Goldberg shouted. "The rabbis are getting like Hitlers and Mussolinis."

Ceremonial Cleanliness.

Kosher is a Hebrew word meaning fit, or clean. It refers especially to "ceremonial cleanliness" both of utensils used in slaughter of animals or fowls for human use and of the authorized person officiating at such slaughter.

The distinction between kosher and nonkosher meat is that the former is prepared by a special slaughterer under the supervision of a rabbi, while the latter is not. Kosher meat costs on an average of 20 to 30 per cent more than similar cuts of nonkosher meat.

Asks Divorce

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Judge Philip J. Finnegan yesterday ordered a hearing for March 18 on the divorce suit of Mrs. Mildred Jayne, 35 years old, of 1110 West Garfield boulevard. Last week she restrained her husband, Frank, 36 years old, from disposing of his interest in a riding academy at 5663 Elston avenue. The divorce suit was filed yesterday, but its dismissal was asked on the grounds that Mrs. Jayne already had obtained a separate maintenance decree in McHenry county. Judge Finnegan overruled this argument. Jayne is a brother of DeForest Jayne, who killed himself last Oct. 20 on the grave in Calvary cemetery of Miss Jane Sweeney, his sweetheart.

NEVADA JUDGE IS HANGED IN HEALTH DEVICE

Carson City, Nev., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—A homemade muscle-stretching apparatus was blamed tonight for the apparently accidental death of Judge Benjamin W. Coleman of the Nevada Supreme court.

Benjamin W. Coleman.

The judge, 69 years old, was found today hanging from the apparatus in the woodshed of his home. Sheriff W. H. Austin said he evidently had been dead since Saturday.

Authorities first believed the justice had meant to take his life but evidence at a coroner's inquest caused the return of a finding of accidental death.

It was disclosed that Judge Coleman had been injured several weeks ago in an automobile accident which left an impairment of his neck and back. In an attempt to relieve the condition he had constructed the device in the woodshed to stretch his vertebrae and back muscles.

Investigators believed the justice fainted or otherwise lost control of the apparatus when giving himself a stretching treatment with his head in the strap noose he had devised.

He was alone at the time, with no one to come to his aid had he been able to call for help. His widow and members of his family were away from Carson City. Mrs. Coleman, the former Martha L. Attleton of Boston, has been passing the winter in Boulder City, Nev.

Judge Coleman was a prominent member of the bar for many years. He had been a Supreme court justice since 1915 and had served four terms of two years each as chief justice of that body, the last term being that of 1937-'38.

WARNS FEDERAL SUBSIDIES PERIL FREE EDUCATION

Teachers Told Help Must Be Devoid of Control.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Federal subsidies will imperil free education if the subsidies are made dependent on standards promulgated by the government. This warning was sounded today by Howard A. Dawson, director of rural service of the National Education association.

Dr. Dawson presented his views in an address before the American Education Association research committee, meeting here in conjunction with the sixty-ninth annual convention of the American Association of School Administrators, a department of the American Education association.

Dawson, in upholding the endorsement by the education association of the Harrison-Thomas-Larabee bill for federal support of schools, pointed out that in doing so the association favored subsidies without controls.

Education a State Function.

"The control of public education," he said, "is a state and not a federal function. The degree, therefore, to which the federal government goes in setting up requirements to be met by the states, in order to receive federal grants, should be narrow.

"What is needed is equalization of educational opportunities through federal grants, and not paternalistic domination from a supposedly superior federal intelligentsia."

Opposing Dawson's views, Ward G. Reeder, professor of school administration of Ohio State university, pointed out that dangers lurking in federal aid can be guarded against only through regulations.

Ickes Urges U. S. Reorganization.

Harold Ickes, secretary of the interior, addressing the night session of the educators' convention, stressed the "vital need" for governmental reorganization. He said the way congress meets the issue this year "will indicate how our government is going to meet the critical problems of the next few years."

Recalling congress' refusal last year to grant the President's request for authority to reshape executive departments, Ickes declared "the crisis which impends in our social and economic order" rises above party or party faction.

Mary B. McAndrew, superintendent of schools in Carbondale, Pa., told the administrators that birth control is "rapidly breeding the brains out of the American people" and that when nearly a million Californians vote for $30 every Thursday there is a "need to reëxamine the public school program of Iowa."

MYSTERY VEILS PAST OF SLAIN BLONDE DANCER

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—The life of Anya Sosoyeva, blonde Russian dancer, like her death, was surrounded by mystery. This was revealed today by her brother, Fred J. Susoff, who said his sister's real name was Nina Susoff.

Kermit Anderson, friend of slain dancer.

Susoff said the former Ziegfeld and Goldwyn Follies dancer kept the details of her life hidden from her family. He said he had only seen his sister three times in the last two years, the last time more than a year ago. She was beaten to death last Saturday night on the campus of Los Angeles City college, where she was studying dramatics.

Meanwhile police continued their search for a former suitor, identified in a letter only as Red. Kermit Anderson, an accountant, admitted keeping company with Miss Sosoyeva, but convinced police he was playing poker at the time she was slain. Police also are investigating a campus cult to which she is alleged to have belonged. The secret order, known as the Purple Cult, was said to have held strange rites at the home of a professor.

Nicknames OF FAMOUS AMERICANS in Crossword Puzzles!

ANOTHER $5,000 IN CASH PRIZES!

IF you can solve a crossword puzzle, here's an opportunity to win as much as $1,000 in cash.

You are invited to solve this new series appearing each day in the Daily Tribune. The name and nickname of a famous American appear in each puzzle. They emerge automatically as you solve the puzzle. . . . And there's an interesting clue beneath each puzzle that tells you why the person was so nicknamed. You'll find out why certain persons were called "Poor Richard," "Cactus Jack," etc.

The Chicago Tribune will pay 430 prizes totaling $5,000 to the persons who send in the best solutions. Start with the first two puzzles printed here. Get Puzzle No. 3 in tomorrow's Daily Tribune. There's nothing to buy or sell, no subscriptions to solicit, nothing to do but amuse yourself and prove your skill.

★ THE RULES ★

1. This offer is open FREE to everyone everywhere, excepting employes of the Chicago Tribune and their families.

2. A new crossword puzzle containing the name and nickname of a famous American will be printed in the Chicago Daily Tribune each week day until 42 have appeared. You are invited to solve these puzzles and find the names and nicknames.

3. Puzzles are to be submitted only in complete sets. DO NOT send in each puzzle separately. Hold until you have the entire set of 42. Then send to: "Nicknames," Chicago Tribune, Postoffice Box 1539, Chicago, Illinois. Entries must be in by midnight one week after Puzzle No. 42 has been printed. Send by First Class Mail, postage prepaid.

4. The Chicago Tribune will pay 430 cash prizes, totaling $5,000.00, for the most nearly correctly solved complete sets of puzzles submitted in accordance with these rules. (See Prize List.) You do not have to solve ALL puzzles correctly to win. Prizes will be paid to those whose entries rank highest. No person may submit more than one entry and no one shall be entitled to more than one prize.

5. Each entry will be checked for accuracy and rated accordingly. Your entry must be accompanied by a letter giving your name and address and completing, in 25 words or less, a statement telling which Nickname you like best and why. Such statements will be considered only if two or more persons submit equally correct solutions to the puzzles, in which event, further judgment will be based on the originality and sincerity of the thought expressed. Answers must be the original thought of the contestant. The judges shall have the right to disqualify any entry which, in their sole judgment, appears to be the thought of another person.

6. You need not buy the Chicago Tribune. You may copy or trace the puzzles. The Tribune may be examined free at its offices or public libraries. The judges will be appointed by the Chicago Tribune and their decisions will be final and binding. In case of ties, duplicate awards will be paid to tying contestants.

FIND 1,801 MILES OF DEADLY ROADS WITHIN ILLINOIS

Crash Survey Shows Need of Elevated Highways.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Illinois, outside of three Chicago metropolitan counties, has 1,801 miles of deadly highways. They comprise only 3.13 per cent of the rural surfaced mileage, but account for 30.3 per cent of the deaths and personal injuries in rural automobile accidents outside the metropolitan area.

This concentration of the Illinois trafic accident problem was disclosed in an analysis of the state highway department's reports on the 2,175 deaths and 44,667 personal injuries during 1938. It was considered significant as a guide for preventive efforts such as the construction of deathproof highways as advocated in the No. 2 plank of THE TRIBUNE'S platform for Illinois and Chicago.

The greatest concentration of accidents, of course, was in Chicago, which had a toll of 692 dead and 20,636 injured, 98 per cent of them in types of mishaps physically impossible on elevated highways. The counties of Cook, Lake, and Du Page, outside of Chicago, contributed 273 fatalities and 5,575 injuries to the state's toll.

Show Hazard of Arterials.

These three counties, including the metropolis, accounted for 57.9 per cent of the 1938 trafic toll in Illinois. The records of accident locations were striking evidence of the high hazard of broad surface streets for urban arterials and of forty foot slabs without a center division for rural arterials.

"For the metropolitan area," said George Barton, engineer for the Chicago Motor club, "the corrective measures are obvious—elevated highways, superhighways, and better policing. Not so obvious before this accident analysis was the effectiveness that might be expected from these same measures applied throughout the state.

"There are 9,350 miles of rural primary highways and 48,395 miles of rural secondary roads outside of the three metropolitan counties. It is obvious that available funds are inadequate to remove physical hazards from 57,745 miles and that no state police force could patrol such an extended mileage.

Says Problem Is Limited.

"With 30.3 per cent of the downstate rural accidents occurring on 3.13 per cent of the mileage, however, almost a third of the problem is limited geographically within our capacities for corrective treatment.

"How much can be done to cut the accidents on those bloody 1,801 miles is speculative. A perfect job of reconstruction and of policing would eliminate probably 90 per cent of the mishaps. This is a better job than can be done with available funds. However, it is not unreasonable to reckon that the casualties could be cut 50 per cent, and this would mean a saving of 2,280 deaths and injuries annually."

Deadly Highways Listed.

The deadly highways outside the metropolitan area, as picked from the state's accident map, are listed as follows with their 1938 tallies of deaths or personal injuries per mile of pavement:

U. S. 40, from East St. Louis to the Indiana line near Terre Haute, 3.51 casualties per mile.

U. S. 66, from Joliet to East St. Louis, 3.09 casualties per mile.

U. S. 6 and Ill. 29, from Joliet to Peoria and on south to Banner on U. S. 24, 2.79 casualties per mile.

U. S. 50, from East St. Louis to Vincennes, 2.75 casualties per mile.

Ill. 49, from west of Chicago Heights to Kankakee, and U. S. 45, from Kankakee to below Effingham, and Ill. 37, from below Effingham to Cairo, 2.49 casualties per mile.

U. S. 20, from Elgin to East Dubuque, 2.39 casualties per mile.

U. S. 30, from Indiana line to Aurora, and Ill. 31, from Aurora to Geneva, and U. S. 330, from Geneva to Dixon, and Ill. 2, from Dixon to East Moline, 1.93 casualties per mile.

Carry Heavy Trafic.

The average for the state's primary and secondary rural surfaced roads downstate is .26 per cent of a casualty per mile. The average for all rural downstate primary roads is 1.22 casualties per mile. This does not mean that the risk is twice as great on the 1,801 miles designated as deadly. These roads, having twice as many accidents as the average for the primary system and 9.7 times as many accidents as the average for all of these surfaced roads, are heavy trafic carriers.

It was pointed out, however, that the need for more safeguards on these high accident roads is not discounted by the fact that the risks are shared by many. To the contrary, the fact that they carry a heavy volume of trafic, paying 3 cents a gallon fuel tax, has been cited as economic justification for their improvement. The economics has been a subject of another study to be published in a future article.

CHICAGO FIGHTS SALE OF MILK IN PAPER BOTTLES

Court Suit Reply Charges They Are Insanitary.

The board of health charged yesterday that the new paper containers for milk are insanitary and do not measure up to the standards set by Chicago's milk ordinance. The statement was made in an answer filed by the city in federal court to a suit brought by the Fieldcrest Dairies, Inc., a subsidiary of the Dean Milk company.

In its suit the dairy company, which is distributing milk in paper containers through stores in forty-six suburbs, seeks to restrain the city and the board of health from interfering with the sale of such "packaged" milk in Chicago. The company declares that paper containers are as sanitary as bottles, and charges that the ordinance barring such containers is discriminatory and thus unconstitutional.

Answer Cites Ordinance.

The city's answer was filed by Walter V. Schaefer and Charles P. Horan, assistant corporation counsels. In it the board of health alleged that the containers used by Fieldcrest Dairies are not nonabsorbent, sterile, or sanitary. The board denied that its refusal to issue a permit allowing paper containers to be used in the city was "arbitrary, unlawful, and discriminatory," as charged. An existing ordinance requiring standard glass bottles was cited.

The suit has been assigned to Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward. No date has been set for the first hearing.

Proof that residents of fifty Chicago suburbs prefer the new paper containers was seen yesterday in the sales records of three milk companies which, since last November, have been selling "packaged" milk through suburban stores.

Report Paper Bottle Gains.

The Fieldcrest Dairies have had a sales increase of 40 per cent since the first of the year. Sam E. Dean Jr., president of Fieldcrest, said tests made at the University of Illinois and Northwestern university have shown paper containers to be better than glass bottles from the standpoint of protection from bacterial contamination.

C. L. Dressel, president of the Borden-Wieland division of the Borden company, said his company has also experienced an upturn in paper container milk sales. Dr. D. B. Peck, president of the Bowman Dairy company, said his company is prepared to meet the demand for milk in paper containers as it develops.

LENIN'S WIDOW DIES AS SOVIET HAILS BIRTHDAY

Nation Dons Mourning for Aged Educator.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Feb. 27.—Nation-wide mourning for Nadejda Konstantinova Krupskaya, widow of Nikolai Lenin, was ordered throughout Russia tonight to replace national observance of her 70th birthday. She died today after a prolonged illness from Bright's disease and a weak heart.

Mme. Krupskaya.

Messages of congratulations on her anniversary, which was yesterday, still were pouring in. She was known throughout the country as Krupskaya, her maiden name, and as the "grandmother of soviet Russia." A state funeral was planned.

Mme. Krupskaya, who became the wealthiest woman in Russia through royalties on books and high salaries from state institutions, married Lenin in 1898, shared his prerevolutionary exiles, and became his partner in building the soviet union. The government's campaign against illiteracy largely was due to her energy while she occupied the post of commissariat of education. She fought long for political, economic, social, and professional equality of women.

She had no children and lived in an apartment inside the Kremlin.

SEEK RECOVERY OF $22,000 FOR CITY OF KOKOMO

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—The state board of accounts today revealed it will seek to recover more than $22,000 which it alleges was taken from the treasury of the city of Kokomo between Jan. 1, 1936, and Dec. 31, 1937.

The federal grand jury next Monday will begin consideration of alleged wholesale misappropriation of WPA materials and labor at Kokomo. The board of accounts' action followed an examination of books of William H. Good, Kokomo city clerk. The alleged sequestering of city funds and also the WPA scandal occurred under the Democratic administration of Mayor Olin Holt.

The board of accounts alleges $14,586.20 is due the city treasury from George Mix, assistant city engineer; $2,198.64 from L. F. Record, former WPA superintendent; $2,057.03 from Holt, $1,255.60 from Good, $1,298.65 from the Kokomo Construction company which is a partnership between Ben Havens and George S. Morrow, city engineer, and $750 from Larry Ryan, former city treasurer.

EXPECT TO INDICT WOOD TODAY FOR SLAYING FRIEND

Morris, Ill., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—State's Attorney S. J. Holderman made final preparations tonight for his appearance before a special grand jury tomorrow to seek the indictment of his lifelong friend, Elvin Wood, who is charged with the murder of Abner Nelson, wealthy bachelor farmer and lifelong friend of them both.

The prosecutor said he expects to present to the jury the confession Wood made Friday night. Wood said he was heavily in debt and had hoped to kill Nelson, dispose of his body in the Illinois river, and then collect ransom.

Others in addition to Holderman who will appear before the jury will be officers who heard the confession and who found blood stains at Wood's home, in his car, and at the bridge where he tossed Nelson's body into the water. The state's attorney said he expects an indictment to be returned late tomorrow afternoon.

STREET CAR KILLS BOY, AGED 6, AS SISTER LOOKS ON

Ronald Anderson, 6 years old, and his sister, 8, of 4718 Monroe street, stood at Madison street and Cicero avenue yesterday waiting for trafic to pass. Suddenly he broke from his sister's hand and darted toward the other side of the street—just as a street car approached. There was a futile screeching of brakes as Albert Stokowski, motorman, 5437 South Hermitage avenue, brought the street car to a stop. Firemen and a wrecking crew was summoned. They jacked up the car, and freed Ronald from beneath the front trucks. Police took the boy to the Garfield Park hospital. He died there of his injuries last night.

BELGIAN CABINET QUITS; SECOND TIME IN A WEEK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Feb. 27.—Belgium's second cabinet in a week resigned today. Premier Hubert Pierlot, who formed the coalition body last Tuesday, let the cabinet fall rather than risk a vote of confidence after Socialist members declined to collaborate.

A quarrel over the cabinet's financial policy precipitated the action. The premier had attempted to balance the budget by cutting salaries and pensions. The flight of capital from Belgium, which was reported to have reached $34,000,000 in the last four days, also was blamed on the uncertain political situation.

The Pierlot cabinet had been composed of Catholics, Socialists and men outside of parliament. It was chosen after Premier Paul Henri Spaak resigned as a result of a conflict over his appointment of Dr. Adrian Martens, a pro-German during the war, to the Flemish academy.

MRS. KATE BECKER WILLS 4 CHILDREN $208,826 APIECE

Bequests of $208,826 each will go to the four children of Mrs. Kate F. Becker, widow of A. G. Becker, Chicago investment banker, it was learned yesterday in the County court at Waukegan. The estate, estimated at about $200,000 when Mrs. Becker died Feb. 8, 1938, was found to have a gross value of $1,082,790.

Those sharing the bulk of the estate are a son, James H. Becker of Highland Park, and three daughters, Mrs. Margaret Friedlich, Mrs. Louise B. Shire, both of Highland Park, and Mrs. Helen B. Sulzberger, 1015 Hyde Park boulevard. Each received a gift of $20,000 from Mrs. Becker in 1936, the court was informed.

Debts and expenses of administration totaled $232,485. This included a federal tax of $186,385 but not a state inheritance tax of $30,158, according to a report approved by Judge Perry L. Persons.

GIANT CLIPPER LEAVES MIDWAY ON TEST FLIGHT

MIDWAY ISLAND [Via Pan-American Airways Radio.], Feb. 27.—(AP)—The Pan-American Airways Clipper eighteen, a giant plane with accommodations for seventy-four passengers, took off from Midway lagoon today on the third stage of its 9,000 mile shakedown flight from San Francisco, Cal., to Hongkong. Fair weather was reported along the 1,252 miles separating Midway and Wake Island, the next stop.

ORDER FIRE RUINS CLEARED FOR NEW $200,000 SCHOOL

Workmen today will start clearing away the wreckage of the Brownell Elementary school, 6509 Perry avenue, which was destroyed by fire early Saturday, James B. McCahey, president of the board of education, announced yesterday. He said construction of a new $200,000 school building of 12 rooms and a gymnasium will start as soon as the site is cleared. It will be ready for occupancy in the fall. Children from the Brownell school are being housed in four nearby public schools. Superintendent of Schools William H. Johnson said a nearby building may be rented to provide additional space.

Police Search for Woman Accused in Check Frauds

Police last night were seeking a woman, about 30 years old, who has defrauded several south side merchants with worthless checks in the last few weeks. Her latest victim was Emil Wolff, proprietor of a currency exchange at 7902 Stony Island avenue. He learned yesterday that a $42 check given to him by the woman is worthless.

FOUNDER OF POLISH WOMEN'S ALLIANCE TO BE BURIED TODAY

Thousands of men and women passed before the body of Mrs. Stephanie Chmielinska, founder of the Polish Women's alliance, yesterday and last night in the alliance headquarters at 1309 North Ashland avenue. Funeral services will be at 9 a. m. today in St. Adalbert church, 1650 West 17th street.

Mrs. Chmielinska died last Friday at the age of 73 in her home at 8836 Commercial avenue, where she lived with her daughter, Mrs. Lucy Kurzawski.

Born in Warsaw, she came to Chicago in 1891 with her parents, Anna and Karl Schneider, to join her husband, Josef, who had preceded her to the new country. He was a florist here until his death. In the neighborhood of 18th street and Ashland avenue, where they lived, Mrs. Chmielinska recognized the need for organizing Polish women, and did so. The alliance is a fraternal organization with social, educational, civic, and welfare aims. It now has 60,000 members in fourteen states.

FREIGHTER SINKS 18 HOURS AFTER SEA COLLISION

New York, Feb. 27.—[Special.]—The Bull Line freighter Lillian sank off the New Jersey coast today, eighteen hours after a collision with the German freighter Wiegand in a dense fog last night. The Lillian foundered about twelve miles off Barnegat Lightship, N. J., and fifty-five miles south of New York.

Seventeen members of the crew of thirty-one men were taken off the stricken ship by the Wiegand soon after the accident. The remaining fourteen sailors and the captain, F. G. Boyer of Baltimore, stayed aboard to try to save the freighter and her cargo.

They were taken off several hours later when the vessel began to settle and it was evident she would sink. Another Bull Line freighter and the coast guard cutter Campbell stood by during the attempt to save the Lillian.

TEACHER LOST IN MOUNTAINS BELIEVED DEAD

Pennington Gap, Va., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Hope of finding Eliza Darnell, 25 years old, school teacher who disappeared a week ago from her father's home in Keokee, Va., was abandoned today. No trace of her was found by 250 men who searched the mountainland near her home.

Sherif R. F. Giles of Lee county said he believed the teacher had been slain and her body hidden, but he was not overlooking the possibility she was kidnaped. Her father, R. H. Darnell, a merchant and landowner, has not received any ransom notes.

Federal agents said they had not entered the case because there was no evidence of a federal law violation.

ARMY MEDICAL RESERVE BEGINS TRAINING PERIOD

Two hundred doctors and dentists who are medical reserve officers in the 6th army corps area gathered in Chicago yesterday to begin two weeks of training. All of them are paying their own expenses.

The reserve officers will spend their mornings with leading professional men, studying advanced phases of medicine and dentistry. Their afternoons are to be devoted to military tactics and the duties of a doctor in wartime.

Classes are being held in medical schools, the 132d Infantry armory, and the new postoffice building.

Retain MAYOR KELLY!

MAYOR EDWARD J. KELLY

Read these statements of representative Chicagoans. They say what all Chicago knows!

"Mayor Kelly has given us a remarkable administration, notable for many definite and progressive steps, and I have not the least doubt that the citizenry will recognize this by re-electing him."

RT. REV. GEORGE CRAIG STEWART
Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Chicago

★

"As a life-long advocate of the cause of labor, and as a citizen and voter vitally interested in the welfare of Chicago, it is my earnest hope that Edward J. Kelly will be re-elected as mayor so that he may continue to serve for the betterment of our people, our enterprises and our community life."

VICTOR OLANDER
Secretary-Treasurer of the Illinois State Federation of Labor

"Mayor Kelly has made an outstanding mayor. He has pulled Chicago out of the red and has made it a city of which we can be proud. There is no doubt in my mind that Mayor Kelly is the best fitted of the candidates, the logical one to direct Chicago's affairs in the important years ahead."

MRS. HARRY MYERSON
Past President of the National Council of Jewish Women

★

"I believe that Chicago's future progress will be best served by the re-election of Mayor Kelly. He has shown unusual capacity for assuring harmony among all groups."

PROFESSOR JEROME G. KERWIN
Political Scientist of the University of Chicago

A Mayor with a Heart···Who Is Constructive and Able··· That's MAYOR KELLY!

Think of Chicago's progress first when you vote today . . . think of Chicago's human needs—its business needs—its civic needs . . . retain Edward J. Kelly, the warm-hearted Mayor whose entire career shows that he understands people as well as government.

REPUBLICANS IN TODAY'S PRIMARIES.

One of the important things for Republicans to remember this morning is that if they take a Democratic primary ballot they disfranchise themselves so far as the Republican party organization and decisions are concerned for 23 months. That period will cover the nomination for state and county offices, the selection of national convention delegates, and the expression of choice for President as well as the filling of managerial positions in the party.

In 1940 a Republican who had disposed of his right to take any part in the decisions of his party might regret greatly that he was unable to ask for a Republican primary ticket.

The election officials have played some discreditable tricks with the voters of late. They stretched the law to let Republicans into the Democratic primaries last year. An act of the legislature released the voters from the consequences of that and made it possible for them to declare their party affiliations afresh this year. Now that they may return to their party if they care to, the election officials in broadcasts of instructions have purposely ignored the explanation that a declaration today will be binding for nearly two years.

Party affiliation is recognized as a necessary qualification for voting in a party primary. Parties are regulated by law for purposes of nomination. Party members have legal status and although they are not prevented from making occasional shifts from one party to another, they may not do that every time a primary election is held. They are reasonably required, having made a choice, to abide by it for a period now defined as 23 months.

Republicans who think that their interest today lies in the Democratic primaries may be overlooking the interest they will have next year. Their freedom to vote in an election in which the nominees of a primary appear later is and always has been unimpaired, but when the Republican party is making its organization, nominating its candidates, and selecting the man it will put at the head of the national ticket, Republicans who vote today in the Democratic primaries will be Democrats. They may be sorry that they allowed themselves to be misguided this year.

MR. MORGENTHAU'S PLEDGE.

There are to be no new taxes this year, the President said the other day, and now Mr. Morgenthau as secretary of the treasury has repeated the pledge. Mr. Morgenthau's statement, he explained, was intended to create confidence among business men.

"The business men I see have a 'what's-the-use' attitude," Mr. Morgenthau said. He thinks that the double barreled promise to leave taxes where they are should remove all hesitation from men's minds and encourage them to expand their plants and take ordinary business risks.

Mr. Morgenthau hopes for a revival of investment and offers a continuance of present tax levels as the inducement. He overlooks the fact that present tax levels have played a most important part in bringing about the stagnation of which he complains. Under present arrangements the cards are stacked against any one who is considering a business investment. If the venture is successful the government grabs its huge share of the profits; if the venture fails the business man carries the loss alone. The repudiation by Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Morgenthau of Mr. Roosevelt's demand, made only last month, for nearly half a billion dollars of additional revenue may remove a new discouragement but does nothing to give the genuine encouragement which would follow tax reductions.

Money borrowed for business expansion now must be paid back, with interest, over the years. The ability to repay will be determined to no small degree by the profits which will remain after the government has taken its prior share. Looking ahead, the business men and the investor can have little doubt that the government's share will grow rather than decline. Thus far in this fiscal year the deficit has climbed more than 2 billion dollars, and that is only the beginning of the story. The administration was enraged at the decision of congress to whittle the WPA appropriation, has asked to have the 150 million dollar cut restored, and is moving heaven and earth to persuade the house of representatives to restore, also, the appropriations for new TVA dams. There may be no increase in taxes in 1939, but the spending policies of the administration are making future increases almost inevitable.

The administration's promises regarding taxes and balanced budgets in the last six years have not been kept. The pledge of economy in the 1932 campaign was broken. The promises of gradually lessened appropriations and a balanced budget within a few years have been made in every Roosevelt budget message and none of these pledges has been kept. A few years ago the administration encouraged its spokesmen in the senate to give their solemn word that no new taxes were contemplated, only to repudiate the declarations a few years later. Recently the President told the Washington correspondents that for a year and a half the utilities have known they would not have any additional competition to fear; and now the administration is seeking more money for TVA power dams strategically located to distribute power beyond the area of the Tennessee valley.

Even if the promise of no new taxes should be taken at face value and even if there were no prospect of higher taxes, much more would be required to reëstablish confidence in the future of business. Business has been terrorized. Burocrats armed with power to destroy enterprises and hamper their operations have been turned loose as if to discourage any one from making an effort to get ahead. The successful man and the successful business have been selected as favorite targets for attack. Until the army of wreckers has been demobilized there can be little likelihood of a real renaissance of business initiative in this country.

HINES THE NEW DEALER.

Of itself, the conviction of James J. Hines, the Tammany boss, would not have merited all the attention it has received throughout the country.

Everybody old enough to know anything expects Tammany politicians to be crooked. Accordingly, the news that a Tammany man has been found guilty of corruption cannot excite much astonishment. It tells nothing about Tammany which is not already fully understood.

The Hines trial attracted wide attention to some extent because Mr. Dewey conducted it, but more especially because of Boss Hines' long and intimate association with Mr. Roosevelt and the New Deal.

The delegation from New York at the Chicago convention of 1932 was opposed to Mr. Roosevelt. Hines was for him. Mr. Roosevelt found it easy to work with Hines. Hines and Mr. Roosevelt's law partner, Basil O'Connor, played golf together while the New York delegates were vainly trying to prevent Mr. Roosevelt's nomination. Hines and Jim Farley were also congenial. They understood each other perfectly and Mr. Roosevelt understood both of them perfectly.

By 1934 Hines had become the representative of the New Deal in New York politics. The patronage was his to dispense. He was a crook at the time; everybody knew it, and nobody knew it better than did Mr. Roosevelt, but the alliance was made and it has never been broken.

Hines was indicted and came to trial for the first time before Judge Ferdinand Pecora, another of Mr. Roosevelt's favorites. If there ever had been any doubt about the kind of man Hines was, the evidence produced at that trial was more than sufficient to resolve it. Hines was proved to have been the ally of racketeers and criminals who took his fat share of the profits in exchange for his services in keeping the police and the courts from doing their sworn duty.

The case against Hines was being built up in a fashion to leave no loophole. At this juncture Hines was suddenly rescued from the conviction which plainly awaited him. Judge Pecora declared a mistrial. A question asked by Mr. Dewey on cross-examination, so the judge ruled, had hopelessly prejudiced the case. Numerous students of law have since commented upon the judge's ruling. Many insist that the question was a proper one in view of the direct examination of the witness. Many others have said that if the question was an improper one it was quite unnecessary to declare a mistrial on that account; the judge might have instructed the jury to disregard the question and have proceeded with the testimony.

Judge Pecora, Mr. Roosevelt's friend, forced the prosecution to start all over again before another tribunal, but retained jurisdiction over two of the state's principal witnesses who had pleaded guilty. They were told they would be sentenced by Judge Pecora after the Hines case was retried. The effect of that pronouncement upon their attitude can readily be imagined. In short, the circumstances surrounding the first trial were so suspicious as to be damning.

In view of all these relationships the interest shown by the whole country in the Hines trial was a natural one. The nation now realizes what kind of men have been governing it of recent years. The holier-than-thou attitude of the New Dealers has been disclosed in unmistakable fashion. There can no longer be any question about it: the New Deal is in open partnership with vice and crime. The New Deal not only countenances bribery and corruption; it indorses these practices and admits the practitioners to its inner counsels.

THE SUPREME COURT JOB.

[Sioux City Journal.]

Rumors are thick concerning possible nominations by the President for the vacancy on the United States Supreme court created by the retirement of Associate Justice Brandeis. Names of several men have been mentioned and, while some one in the list may be offered for the vacancy, there is nothing tangible now on which to base a definite prediction. Mr. Roosevelt still is keeping his own counsel as to the man he has in mind, if indeed he has made a selection or thought much about it up to this time.

There can be little doubt as to the type of man Mr. Roosevelt will nominate for the court. He will be a liberal, no doubt a New Dealer, one on whom Mr. Roosevelt can depend to join the other liberals he has put on the bench. But there are liberals and liberals. There are many degrees of liberalism. For example, Justice Reed is not so liberal, so extreme, as either Justice Black or Justice Frankfurter. Nor was Justice Brandeis.

It may be said that a President never makes an appointment that is more important than that of a justice of the United States Supreme court. It is a thing that never ought to be hurried; that never ought to have one single bit of politics in it. And the best place to find good material for this job is in the courts throughout the country. No man ought to be placed on the Supreme court who has not had experience as a jurist.

FROM WITHIN.

[Danville (Ill.) Commercial-News.]

There's a light within us all. As long as we live it burns, brightly or feebly.

And we cannot conceal the light. The day laborer doing his manual tasks may wear patched and ragged clothing, be dirty of hands and face, ungrammatical in speech, yet in those windows of the soul, his eyes, you will read whether he is kind, considerate, gentle, or brutal, uncouth, or slimy.

The rich man may deck his frame in the finest of raiment, but through his eyes and face will shine the light that tells you if he is seeking to aid other men or only grasping selfishly for what he can get for himself.

The light comes from the way the fire is nourished and encouraged. The man who dwells on evil things cannot keep those malefactions from coloring the fire of his life. The one whose acts of goodness predominate will reveal an inner flame which neither rags nor riches can alter one bit.

Those who know you intimately will know you as you are. To attempt to fool all the people all the time is only to fool yourself.

A PEDESTRIAN SQUAWKS.

We almost became an item in the statistics of the motor massacre last week-end because a corner newsstand had expanded itself during the winter into a frontier cabin and a dashing sharp-turner zipped around at undiminished speed. Juggernaut failed to see us, and we him, because of that ramshackle igloo, and there was a margin of one-fifth of a second between this paragraph and one in the obituary column. . . . Drivers who make such turns are always with us, of course, and nothing can be done about them except to foretell their horrible finish. Such obstructions to vision, however, can easily be moved a few feet.

This sore-headed world is in a frenzied state of mind over its political "ideologies," but at the moment we are venting our own venom at the abysmal idiots who break bottles and scatter jagged glass all over town. Passing over the danger to human flesh in these razor-edged fragments, we will remark that our dog cuts her paws on them, and that's enough to make any one turn reformer.

Good-by, February, and good riddance! You are invariably the meanest month in the year and therefore were properly made the shortest. Your name, coming from an ancient Roman festival of expiation and purification, has also been appropriately used to mean a whip.

TO THE MARCH WIND.

Come, noisy Trumpeter of Spring, and blow
Your gusty calls—these winter-weary hills
Have waited long. They beg no piping low
But such a lusty fulsome sound as fills
The valleys where the late unwanted snow
Melts down the southern slopes in crowding rills.
So blow on, Trumpeter, with mighty shout,
His welcome long outworn, blow Winter out!

Martha Fay Shuman.

Send This to "Information, Please."

A question to bowl over the New York smarties on the "Information, Please" radio program—and a fair one:

What is the oldest city in the world now inhabited?

Answer: Damascus may claim this honor and receive strong archæological support.

Where was it first mentioned in ancient literature?

In the Book of Genesis, 14, 25: "And he [Abram] divided himself against them, he and his servants, by night, and smote them, and pursued them unto Hobah, which is on the left hand of Damascus."

You Can't Write with Scissors.

Contributor "Brownie," who made the Line in the B. L. T. and R. H. L. periods, cites "Georga da Wash," from the Line Book of 1925, as the best Washington's birthday poem she ever read, and wants to know why it was not reprinted last Wednesday. Well, "Brownie," and all others who ask for republication of favorite verses, we will explain by announcing that we never reprint, except in the Line Books.

This is supposed to be a column of original matter. Today's poets are as good as those of yesteryear, and in some cases, we believe, better. Reprinting is a confession of editorial weakness. When you catch us at it you will know that we are getting tired.

STRANGE PROMISE.

Two buckthorns stand on guard beside my door,
Thick-hung with berries black against the snow
Of winter days; yet buckthorns make me more
Assured of spring than any sign I know.
I see them as they were that first March day
When waxwings brought the thrill of birds in flight;
That mystery renewed of who can say
What plan, that causes them each year to light
And feed upon the berries waiting long
For some sure destiny like this to come
From out the sky, unheralded by song;
And buckthorns, berry hung, to me give some Strange promise of the coming of the spring,
Denied though it may be by every other thing.

Loveliest Village of the Plain.

Contributor Jeepsie's story about Creston, Ind., as a ghost town [2-15-'39] has aroused its citizens. Paul A. Bennett, mayor; Otto Lloyd, police chief; F. T. Winnedae, fire chief; and Dr. Morris Gilbert, Ben Lynch, and Harold Brownell, town board, have issued a document of good natured protest, thus:

"We are not a ghost town. We have a mayor, town board, town marshal, fire chief, a chain grocery store, two taverns, a general store, gas pump, church, cemetery, and thirty-five [not fifteen] houses. Come to Creston and see the most flourishing ghost town of the middle west."

How Line Contribs Are Born.

I'm afraid there's something insidious about seeing one's name in print. The first glow of pleasure is like the peeping of the first shy violets from beneath brown leaves. Then smug complacency rears itself, looking down on the rest of the world as the stately rosebush lifts its proud head above the garden. And then the fever takes hold, creeping through the veins like wild morning-glory vines, choking out all else but this desire to try again!

Winter Sunshine.

There is nothing that can compare with a sunny day in winter. Today was such, with a crisp blue sky stretched tautly from horizon to horizon. Against this bright backdrop the snow became more dazzingly white, and shimmered like a many-faceted jewel. The soot-black filigree of trees added a sharp contrast to the blue-and-white symphony. Every detail of sun and shadow stood out clearly in a pattern of beauty, and the very air vibrated with zest for living.

REARING HAPPY CHILDREN.

ABOVE all, mothers want their sons and daughters to develop into stalwart men and attractive women. "A prideful attitude," you say. Yes, perhaps—but it implies that the goal which parents seek for their offspring is not only success but happiness—which rarely can be achieved without health.

Our agriculturists have long since learned that the careful selection of seed corn is the best guarantee of a bountiful crop. If lads and lassies could choose their forbears wisely, they would acquire an ideal start. But unfortunately they have no choice in the matter and fickle Cupid sometimes plays curious tricks.

Let us assume that a child is born and that he is well launched upon the adventure which we call life. What may be done to insure a strong, disease resisting physique? There are two prime requisites: Food and rest. Sleep is not only a rebuilder—a recharger of exhausted cells—but it is probably our most significant single growth factor, and babies demand a generous allowance. Careful studies have indicated that up to 1 year the infant requires approximately fifteen hours. This gradually drops in amount until by the seventh year, the total need not exceed eleven hours. These figures include naps.

Much damage is done to the program of relaxation by keeping the tot awake too late in the evening. These little persons respond to stimulation quickly. Certainly by 7 p. m. those under 3 should be tucked away—snugly enfolded in the arms of Morpheus. By the seventh or eighth year the time may be extended to 8 p. m. Why is this important? Because later hours mean that the youngster is going on his nerve—living on excitement—rather than yielding to a natural sense of fatigue.

Whenever this rule is set at defiance we may anticipate not only loss of appetite and weight, but a marked increase in irritability. Within fifteen to twenty minutes after retiring, the eyes should close in slumber. A quiet period before bedtime should be the custom with those who are nervous and jittery; and the avoidance of a blaring radio, loud conversation, and shrill laughter should be practiced faithfully. If the child is left alone, be sure that fear has been banished completely.

Now the boy or girl who does not eat may become the subject of much concern. Some solid food—such as strained vegetables, yolk of egg, and cooked fruits—is added to the diet between the third and the fifth month. These materials are usually appetite builders. Should the desire for edibles appear to weaken, there are several measures which must not be forgotten. First of all is regularity. All meals should be on time. Then the lad should be permitted to feed himself as much as he can or will. A small helping served on his own special plate is wiser than a huge portion—far more than he can consume.

Contentment and comfort are the final and essential elements which must be present at every feeding. The occasion should be made as joyous as possible. Water drinking may be encouraged always, as we have long since outgrown the thought that a glass of Adam's ale before or during a meal is bad hygiene.

In planning better and more sensible rearing of our progeny we must not forget clothing and, in many instances, heavy underwear proves bothersome. If the room is cool in the morning, an extra jacket or sweater may be worn about the house for a time, but garments that tend to stimulate perspiration are anything but comfortable. Cotton next to the skin is better than wool for most children. The principal objective is not to overclothe the child, as more layers than are necessary add to fatigue.

No. Unless the mother has the disease the child will be free from it at birth.

From Across the Sea

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON.—Germany does an about-face in her policy of pooh-poohing everything Russian in an article written for the semi-official Voelkischer Beobachter by Capt. von Zeska of the German general staf. The article appraises the armed might of Russia, France, and England.

Capt. von Zeska puts the Russian air strength at 9,000 planes. Although he says nothing about the number of planes in the German air force, a recent American estimate put it at 10,000—just 1,000 more than Capt. von Zeska was willing to concede Russia.

In estimating the size of the Russian army at 11 million men, the officer warns against deprecating its ability as a fighting unit.

"It would be a mistake to underestimate the rebuilding of the soviet army," he writes. "The soviet soldier is brave, enduring, and tough, and, under good leadership, knows how to fight splendidly."

Saying that the British, French, and soviet armies all have been strengthened since the Munich agreement, he estimates Great Britain's war force at "about 2 million troops and 6,000 planes."

France, he says, "now has a war strength of 4,600,000 and at least 1,500,000 colored troops and 5,000 planes, including reserves."

Referring to rearmament by the democracies since Munich, he notes that "the Rome-Berlin axis proved itself militarily stronger than the Anglo-French entente at the time of the crisis."

He blames the current world arms race on "the madness of the Versailles 'peace makers.'" "Europe arms," he declares, "because it desires to perpetuate the principle of Versailles, which partitioned Europe into 'have' and 'have not' countries.

BIOGRAPHICAL INFORMATION.

Chicago, Feb. 24.—It might be interesting to look at the war records of the three in Washington who are doing their best to get us into another war. What did they do when the country was in need of soldiers? Here are the records:

William C. Bullitt: 26 years of age, single, rich, no dependents in 1917. He found a job in the state department and did not enlist.

Harold Ickes: 24 years of age, single, no dependents, in 1898, when Illinois was frantically calling for volunteers for the war with Spain. He did not enlist.

Franklin D. Roosevelt: In his seventeenth year, rich, husky in 1898, when New York also was calling for volunteers for the war with Spain. More than 20,000 boys of 16 and 17 lied like soldiers and gentlemen in order to volunteer, but F. D. R. stayed at home. He was 35 in 1917, healthy, husky, rich, but again he did not enlist. He stuck to his $10,000 a year civilian job in the navy department, his naval experience having been gained through sailing a catboat on the Hudson river. Theodore Roosevelt, at 42, and occupying the same job, resigned in 1898 and took active service in fever-ridden Cuba.

These three are the sword rattlers of today, yelling their heads off over patriotism, America First, we can whip the world, down with dictators—and I wonder where Jimmy, Elliott, John, and Franklin Jr. will be if war comes again.

THE CASE FOR THE PAUPER STATES.

Chicago, Feb. 23.—As a southerner I am prompted to reply to some of the statements of Dwight H. Green which appeared in THE TRIBUNE Feb. 21.

Although much of the money paid by Illinois in federal taxes is spent by the federal government in states which directly contribute comparatively small amounts in federal taxes, it is utterly foolish to condemn such a distribution of federal funds without reflecting on the manner in which much of the taxable wealth of Illinois is derived.

The statement that "Alabama paid about ten million and got back 61 million" is indeed illuminating, but taken alone might easily constitute a half-truth. In all fairness this statement should have been superseded with figures on the amount of purchases made by the "beggar states" from the economically potent states. The balance of payments certainly favors the latter states. Reference could have been made to the great concerns incorporated in the state of Illinois, such as the Pullman company, farm implement concerns, the mail order houses, etc., which derive much of their revenue from the southern states. Such concerns as these and their employés contribute much in federal taxes.

In citing the amount of taxes paid by Illinois Mr. Green failed to mention the fact that a goodly portion of such taxes are paid on wealth and incomes which have not been derived from economic activity confined solely to the state of Illinois. It would be a little too much to expect of Mr. Green, I suppose, to recognize the moral obligation of wealthier states to assist their poorer neighbors. E. BLAND FAIRCLOTH.

Test Your Facts

Below each of the following questions are listed three answers. Make your choice, turn to page 26 in the Want Ad section for the correct answers, and mark your score:

1. How much is a ship ton?

2. Complete the following "I could not love thee, dear, so much ——."
[a] "Loved I not honor more"; [b] "Had I not suffered more"; [c] "Loved I not country more."

3. With what baseball team did Mordecai [Three-Fingered] Brown play during most of his major league career?

4. What is a scherzo?

WHOSE MONEY, MR. WALLACE?

Chicago, Feb. 24.—Would any one in the United States personally, from his own money, pay the subsidy on cotton which Mr. Wallace proposes? Well, whose money does Mr. Wallace propose to use, and is it to be used by the desire of its owners? Would those owners consider the proposition a good business one? The only proper sale that ever can be made is at the price the goods will sell for. There is such a thing as overproduction which all business has to reckon with. There are certain features governing all business transactions which neither Mr. Wallace nor any one else can improve by fiat without going broke, and this country is fast going broke because of such unethical methods. Perhaps that is what is being planned.

BUSINESS MAN.

TOO MANY RATS.

Chicago, Feb. 23.—I would like to know why the WPA workers are not put to a useful job, such as trying to exterminate the dangerous and vicious rats that roam our alleys? I believe that several years ago WPA workers took care of this matter very successfully. M. K.

A MAN OF PROWESS.

Chicago, Feb. 21.—Please inform me just how Smilin' Jack, alias Paul Bunyan, cuts that bamboo. Are those scissors that sharp? Wish I were such a super he-man as he. Tell him to give his key to the monkey to give to Fat Stuff and then the two of them can finish that glider sooner. CHOLLY.

AMERICANS FIRST.

Chicago, Feb. 23.—We of German origin over here are not responsible for and seldom in sympathy with what is said or done over there.

NOISE.

Chicago, Feb. 21.—So "Just a Voter" wants Law Enforcer Kelly to stop Law Enforcer Courtney from "breaking the law and disturbing the peace with blared and bellowed advertisments of political meetings." Good! And while at it will Law Enforcer Kelly please stop Law Enforcer Kelly from doing the same thing? Yesterday his blaring sound truck kept the nerves of everybody on the near north side on edge. JOHN FRANKLIN.

AN EVENING RUINED.

Chicago, Feb. 21.—My evening at the show was completely ruined by some ignorant jackass sitting in back of me who kept spraying the back of my neck every time he coughed. It seems to me that especially during this flu epidemic people should cover their mouths with their hands or handkerchiefs when they cough, especially in a congested theater.

D. E. CARROLL.

AMENDING A SIGN.

Chicago, Feb. 24.—Now that another election day draws near, I am reminded of a certain "slogan" that was put on signs and billboards all over the city last fall. It read: For Humanity in Government—Vote Democratic. That should really be changed to: For Graft in Government—Vote Democratic.

DAVID H. SWANSON.

A PUN FOR THE DAY.

Chicago, Feb. 24.—"Since the war debts of foreign nations to the United States were contracted," says an editorial, "a lot of water has gone over the dam."

And before the American people get through footing the bill a lot of damns will go over the water.

PROPERTY PURCHASE.

Chicago, Feb. 25.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. I have a real estate sale contract with a broker for a specified parcel of property. If he is unable to deliver this property to me, [2] do I have to give him a written notice to obtain the return of earnest money?

3. How much time do I have to give the broker to fulfill his part of the contract before demanding return of earnest money? If a parcel of property has been submitted to me by a broker, [4] can I deal directly with the property owner and disregard the broker, or [5] can the broker claim a commission on the selling price because the property was submitted by him? S. C.

1. We assume from later portions of your letter that you mean that you are the prospective buyer.

2. Not necessarily. It seems probable that the contract contains express wording on the point, and, if so, such wording would control.

3. Depends on the wording of the contract.

4. Yes; but if the seller has employed the broker, then presumably the broker would be entitled to his commission.

5. Depends on all the facts as to his employment. It seems probable that he would be entitled to the commission.

INSURANCE.

Naperville, Ill., Feb. 22.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Will the following wording put in an insurance policy protect the policy holder? Which one is correct? Neither this policy nor any sum payable to this policy holder, or to his estate, or to any beneficiary under this policy, nor proceeds of any loan or payments made on this policy shall be subject to attachment, levy, or seizure under any legal or equitable process. It is agreed that a payee may not assign, transfer, or encumber this annuity contract or any payment hereunder, and to the extent permitted by law, the amount retained by the company and the payments under this annuity contract shall not be subject to claims of any creditor of any payee, nor to execution or other legal process on behalf of any creditor of any payee. H. S.

We would not consider either wording completely satisfactory for what is called "a spendthrift trust." The ordinary precedents would direct the insurance company to pay the money only into the hands of the beneficiary. It seems probable if you take the matter up with the home office of the company they will have forms ready for your use.

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

The Observation Post.

BY CAROLE LOMBARD.

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 27.—If I were boss of Hollywood, Ed, there is one thing I would recommend for all young actors. I would tell them to get prints of Jimmy Stewart's motion pictures and take them home. I would advise them to run them off again and again, and to study them in the most minute detail. For perfection in timing, there isn't an actor in all Hollywood who tops Stewart. It is natural with him. He's the same way in real life. Some actors carry their make-believe from the sets into real life, and keep it up so long that nobody, including themselves, can tell where one phase of their existence begins and the other leaves off. Jimmy is the exception.

Now I know what Gene Fowler meant when he said, "There is a mocking ferocity in a blank sheet of paper." This one is practically sticking its tongue out at me. It reminds me of the next half of Fowler's line, to wit: "A sharklike invitation for the author to jump off his raft and be devoured in deep waters."

Here I go off the raft!

Here's something I just heard the other night. It's about the best actor yarn of the year. This particular actor visited a courtroom with a reporter friend on the final day of a big murder trial. It was his first experience of this kind. He was fairly popeyed with excitement as the jury retired to consider its verdict. Caught by the sheer power of the situation, the actor turned excitedly to his reporter friend and said: "This is the real thing. This is stark, naked, heart-throbbing drama. It is gripping, exciting, blood-tingling. I can hardly speak. The words get caught in my throat."

The reporter stifled a yawn and replied, "Yeah, but I wish they'd hurry it up. I want to get the story written and go home." Hours passed. Again the actor squirmed in his chair and bit his fingernails. No longer able to stand it, he turned once more to his reporter friend and clutched him tightly by the arm. "Man," he said, "do you realize that inside the jury room a human life is in the balance. Twelve human beings may speak the word that will send a man out into the world again, to breathe the air a free man, to bask in heaven's sunshine, to work and play and be happy."

Then the actor's face became a mask of doom. "Or again," he said tragically, "they may place him behind the bars for life, a doomed and caged criminal. They may speak the word that will burn out his life in the shattering blast of the electric chair. What a mighty scene is being played here today!"

The actor lapsed into silence, then he brightened. "Yes," he said to the reporter, "I know of only one thrill that can surpass this; one moment that is supreme in all the mighty forces of throbbing drama." "Yeah," replied the reporter. "What?" "It is the moment," said the actor, "before the curtain goes up on the first night of my play!"

You've heard of motion picture studios building sets, Ed, but I'll bet you've never heard of a set that built a studio. I am assured, however, that the latter is the truth in the case of what is now Selznick International Studio in Culver City, Cal. The story was given to me by one of the old-timers around the lot, and accounts for the studio's southern architecture. Back in the old Ince days, the old-timer said, Ince [Thomas H.] acquired the land for a studio. Before building anything he went to work on a picture called "Barbara Frietchie." For this he erected the front of a southern mansion. "Barbara" climbed a ladder behind the set for one of the scenes, and through a second floor door waved the flag in Stonewall Jackson's face.

If you'll look at the front of the main Selznick building today you will see proof of the old-timer's story. There is another door just above the main entrance. Don't try to walk through it. There isn't any floor under it! You see, after the picture was completed, carpenters took the set and added to it, forming the permanent building, which is one of the most beautiful of all studios.

Helen Walker Hansen Holds Show in N. Y.

BY JUDITH CASS.

So many of the items in this column deal with art and artists that a casual reader might think it an art instead of a social column. From New York comes news of an exhibition of paintings, water colors, and drawings at the Marie Sterner galleries that is certain to interest many here, for the artist is a former Chicagoan and a member of a well known family. She is Helen Walker Szukalska Hansen.

Mrs. Hansen and her husband, George Hansen, moved about a year ago from Palm Beach to New York, where they have an attractive studio apartment in Washington square. In the show are two portraits of the artist's daughter, Kalinka Szukalska, and also scenes made in Poland, France, New York, Vermont, and Desbarats in Ontario, Canada, where Mrs. Hansen and her brother, Samuel J. Walker of Lake Forest, have a summer home.

Malvina Hoffman Will Lecture Today.

The Woman's Athletic club is expecting one of its largest lecture audiences this morning to hear Malvina Hoffman, the famous sculptor who did the bronzes in the Hall of Man at the Field museum. She will speak on "Behind the Scenes in Art." Miss Hoffman, who is visiting Mrs. Charles Garfield King, and Miss Anne Morgan of New York are on their way to California.

Among those who have made reservations for luncheon following the lecture are Mrs. George Cragg, Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, Mrs. Charles S. Reed, Mrs. Charles W. Seabury, Mrs. George Mason, Mrs. Frank Dunn, and Mrs. Arthur G. Leonard. Mrs. Bruce MacLeish will preside at the board table.

Evanston League Will Open Show Tomorrow.

The last art lecture in a series sponsored by the Evanston Junior league will be held tomorrow afternoon at the Orrington hotel in Evanston. The league's annual exhibit of fine arts and crafts will be opened at the same time.

Miss Katherine Kuh will speak on "Surrealism and Constructivism" at 2:30 o'clock, and at 3:30 o'clock she will comment informally on the paintings in the exhibition. Whether the Evanston leaguers have gone "surrealist" this year is known so far only to Mrs. Robert Elliott and Miss Betty Hall, who are in charge of hanging the water colors and oils.

Mrs. Alfred Taylor and Mrs. John Turner are co-chairmen of the exhibit and tea. Mrs. Chester Goltra is in charge of the handcraft entries; Mrs. Webb Stevens is looking after the photographic exhibits, and Mrs. Anthony Michel is arranging a children's exhibit. The children's exhibit is being revived this year. Formerly it was a part of every show.

The judges are to be Miss Kuh and Carl Scheffler. The prize works in the various classes will be sent to Milwaukee for the regional art show March 27 to April 2. The Evanston Junior League Garden club is setting a number of tables that will be on view in the ballroom tomorrow afternoon. Mrs Noble MacFarlane and Mrs. Graham Penfield are chairmen of the Garden club exhibit. Tea will be served at 4 o'clock.

Arts Club Opens Triple Exhibition Next Friday.

The Arts club has cards out to open an exhibit of paintings by Maurice Grosser and John Kane and drawings by Herman Webster from 4 until 6 o'clock on Friday. Mr. Webster is the brother of Mrs. Joseph E. Otis and of Mrs. Harold Eldridge, who have been asked to pour tea at the opening. Mr. Webster is in New York. He will not come west for the opening.

The Cordon has cards out to an exhibition on Friday of pastel sketches by Clara Cahill Park and sculpture by Florence Gray. Mrs. Park, Miss Gray, and Mrs. Frank G. Logan will be the especial guests at a tea from 4 until 5:30 o'clock.

The Lakeside Press has cards out to a reception for the American

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

[TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

Face powder is the one item of makeup women are least fussy about, which is not as it should be. The shade and texture of your powder can give the whole makeup a false note that makes it garish instead of natural and flattering. Match your skin tone carefully, use a blend that's smooth and above all don't dust too much on your nose!

What do men think about makeup?

We questioned more than a dozen recently—men who're observant, articulate, and just about average in their awareness of what's fashionable and what's not.

To a man they like to see a woman with her face made up. BUT it should be made up in such a fashion that the onlookers aren't shocked by the knowledge that it IS made up. The good makeup, according to the men, is the one that doesn't obviously look like one. It brings us right back to the old cry for the natural effect.

Too much cheek rouge is their pet peeve. They hate globs of rouge; they'd much rather see women pale than have them go in for this extreme. But, better yet, they like just the faint touch of color that expert, moderate rouge application gives.

They hate eye makeup—when they're conscious of it. But here again they're completely fooled by the clever, deft use of mascara and shadow and they like the effect when they're not aware of the mechanics of it. They seem to prefer a faint lavender shadow above the eyes to any other. Green seemed to scare them.

They like lipstick, but only one man liked the purplish reds. Their vote went for blood reds, the most natural shades. They hate lipstick that's fuzzy at the edges, and all said they disliked to see a smudge of lipstick on white teeth.

You'd be surprised at how much they notice powder—if the woman is so inexpert as to use too light a shade or too much! When it's right, and doesn't hit them in the eye, they like the velvety, well groomed effect of a well powdered skin.

To a man they all voted against brows plucked to a thin line. Nine of them said they hated to see women apply lipstick in public. They're all so used to nose powdering none of them minded that.

Friends Honor Mrs. Bowen for 80 Busy Years

BY BETTY BROWNING.

A plea to keep this country a democracy, to respect the traditions of the past, but with open minds, ready for new ideas and new methods, was given by Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen to her fellow Chicagoans yesterday on her eightieth birthday. Eight hundred friends—priests and business men and educators, smartly dressed dowagers and their daughters, a Negro clubwoman, foreign born men and women from the west side, civil leaders—gathered at a luncheon for her at the Palmer House, just across the street from where she was born.

For all its serious moments it was a jolly party. Robert M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, who was toastmaster, set the tempo by warning against too sentimental speeches about one whose "humorous gaze punctures the brightest oratorical balloons."

Mrs. Bowen, a small, erect figure with bright touches of coxcomb on her black hat and suit, described in her vigorous voice the growth of the Chicago "I have always loved in spite of its faults."

From the days of cattle rushing down Wabash avenue and cows grazing on Congress street she took her listeners to a future Chicago, where, she said, "I would like to see every old building erected after the fire razed to the ground and in their place fine tenements and small homes with gardens."

"In the old days, when one of us was aroused to the existence of a wrong, we took down our bonnets, tied the strings under our chins, harnessed the horse and buggy, and drove to the place where we were to do battle," Mrs. Bowen recalled.

"Our manner of getting what we wanted in those days was much more spectacular and speedier than at present. I remember once when poor coal was furnished the poor. It came in big pieces of slate which were too big for the stove and wouldn't burn, anyway.

"We went in a crowd to the mayor's office. I was the spokesman. At the crucial time one of the probation officers threw upon the floor a large piece of slate. It just missed the mayor's toes and made a tremendous noise. Every one came running in. The mayor was so mad—and that's the only word for it—he seized the telephone, blew up the coal companies, and ordered other coal."

The richest reward for years of struggle, Mrs. Bowen said, are the increasing hundreds of Chicagoans who are working for the common good.

Mrs. William McCormick Blair, Mrs. Bowen's daughter, spoke for Mrs. Bowen's four children, eleven grandchildren, and four great-grandchildren. Joel D. Hunter of the United Charities, Miss Jessie Binford of the Juvenile Protective association, Mrs. Benjamin F. Langworthy of the Woman's City club, and Miss Charlotte Carr of Hull house also spoke. These four organizations, in all of which Mrs. Bowen has been a leader, sponsored the luncheon.

City Incident.

Last Thursday an important blueprint blew out of the window of an office on the twentieth floor of the Builder's building. A draftsman hurried downstairs hoping to find it, and, failing to see it, consulted the trafic officer. Yes, he had seen it, and had noticed where it landed. The blueprint was found wedged between the bridge and masonry wall of the pit, just beyond reach. If impatient motorists wondered why the bridge was raised when there was no river trafic, it was to permit the blueprint to fall to the pit. It was retrieved.

Nature Note.

Yesterday morning some thirty ducks and sea gulls were swimming about in a little pond of water, surrounded by ice, just off shore on Lake Michigan near Oak street beach. They were plainly visible from the apartment window. When an automobile backfired the birds that were frightened rose from the water and flew away were not, as you might suspect, the wild ducks, visitors to the vicinity, but the sea gulls, which ought to be used to city sounds.

* * *

The head of the household is given to keeping his field glasses beside him on the breakfast table and peering through them at intervals at the partly frozen stretches of the lake. Sometimes of late the open patches of water have been black with ducks, and he has risen from breakfast inquiring for a bird book. A telephone call to Rudyerd Boulton, curator of birds at the Field museum, established the fact that the ducks undoubtedly are Golden-eyes or red breasted Mergansers. Ducks are now starting to migrate north, he said, and they dally wherever they find open water on the way.

Legal Verbiage.

Law students, taking a law examination, were asked to put into legal formula the sentence I give you this orange according to the Bombay Law Journal.

The answer was:

I give you all and singular, my estate and interest, right, title, claim, and advantage in this orange, with all its rind, juice, pulp, and pits, anything hereinbefore or hereafter or in any other deed or deeds, instrument or instrument of what kind or nature soever to the contrary in any wise notwithstanding.

French Movie Has Surprises and Fine Acting

"THEY WERE FIVE."

Good Morning!

Another first run output from the French studios occupies the Cinema's screen this week.

The piece spins a different and interesting story about five down and out pals who are winners on a lottery ticket. . . . During their dark days they have stuck together. Now, with money in the jeans, they vow never to part.

So they buy a ramshackle house on the banks of a river and turn it into a roadhouse. Assisting them enthusiastically is the fiancée of the chap who's wanted by the police.

Almost every day the unexpected happens. . . . On that planned for the inn's grand opening—there are no longer five.

The picture is effectively acted and staged. Some of the scenery is beautiful and there are times when you'd swear you could smell the trees and flowers.

Dialog is in French. English titles explain the action—titles that almost turn the production into a comedy so determined and strained is their use of American slang and "pig" Latin. Apparently the producers of "They Were Five" labor under the delusion that such constitutes the English language, or, at least, is the patois which American movie goers comprehend most readily.

See you tomorrow.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Dr. Hachiro Yuasa, president of Doshisha university, Japan, yesterday pleaded before Chicago Protestant leaders for a new kind of missionary from America, a missionary who would play the rôle of informal statesman and builder of international good will. He was a member of the Madras, India, missions conference team here yesterday and today at the Chicago temple, 77 West Washington street.

"We do not want missionary politicians," the Japanese Christian educator pointed out, "but we want individuals who can point the way of Christian international statesmanship."

The Rev. Dr. Oliver J. Hart, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, Washington, D. C., known as "the church of the Presidents," also emphasized the missions theme before his Harris theater congregation at noon. He based his theme on the Lord's prayer which begins by the recognition of God as "Our Father"—the Father of all peoples.

"Frequently," said Dr. Hart, "church people say they do not believe in missions. This may be a healthy sign. It may mean that they are not enthusiastic over present mission methods. But sometimes this objection is pagan in character. It rests on the assumption that our class or our nation or race is more valuable in the sight of God than others. This must not be the attitude of the true Christian."

Combines of 3 Colors Glorify Career Girls

BY RHEA SEEGER.

New prize winning finds for the career girls. Three colored combines to cheer up drooping spirits. And the price around $10 for the trio. First the circular cut flared short skirt—it's a smoothie—fits around the hipline and flares smartly around the lower hemline, boasts concealed zipper at the back, swanky as anything you can find for twice the sum.

The top is one of those casually fashioned but tellingly detailed tuck-in blouses with short sleeves. The neckline is tricky, cut by a wizard gifted with definite ideas of what's different without being too involved or fancy. The third item a nice wide soft suede belt to accent a neat narrow waistline. The colors are well nigh unbelievable, and the available mix-ups are something to make the mixers rush to town immediately.

Beat these if you can. A rust colored skirt worn with a yellow tuck-in blouse and a chartreuse green belt. Or the luscious cyclamen red skirt combined with a powder blue top and a snappy royal blue belt. Still another trio features a violet skirt, that lovely faded English violet tone with a soft pink blouse and a stunning deep purple belt. And if none of these click, try the deep purple skirt, the chartreuse blouse, and the red belt.

Skirt and blouse are both of soft cozy rabbit's ear woolen material as nice as your pet soft sweaters and just as easy to wear. Deftly seamed and detailed without anything extra in the way of trimming, these outfits are going out as fast as they can be boxed and delivered. They're grand buys for the tweed topcoat in dark colors, for the extra outfit to contrast a fur coat or a fur trimmed coat. You get lots of color snap and something new for a very small amount of money.

The Blind Side

By Patricia Wentworth

[Copyright: 1939: By Patricia Wentworth Turnbull.]

SYNOPSIS

Ross Craddock's father, now dead, turned Craddock house into flats, and had installed his old maid cousins, Mary and Lucy Craddock, in a flat apiece on either side of the one occupied by Ross. After Mary's death Lucy prepares to leave for a change of scene. Their cousin, Peter Renshaw, is staying in Mary's flat while he settles her estate. A cruel note from Ross orders Lucy to vacate her flat. Confronting Ross, she learns it is because she objects to his attentions to her foolish young cousin, Mavis Grey.

INSTALMENT II.

A DEATH WISHED FOR.

Miss Craddock was still there on the landing when Peter Renshaw came running up the stairs about five minutes later. He was a tall young man all the Craddock men ran to height—but he had none of his cousin's claim to good looks. Rather jutting brows, rather prominent cheek bones, rather wide set eyes, a skin tanned by the Indian sun, a small nondescript mustache, hair that had once been fair and had never quite made up its mind to go brown—that was Peter Renshaw. He was 30 years of age, held his majesty's commission in the Westshire regiment, and was at present on leave from India.

He stopped on the top step and contemplated his Cousin Lucy with some astonishment. She had her back to him and her face to Ross Craddock's front door, and she was shaking her fist at it, absolutely and literally shaking her fist. Peter couldn't recall having ever seen any one actually shake a fist before. A slight whistle escaped him. Lucy Craddock turned round and showed him a strangely unfamiliar face, tear stained, heavily flushed, and quite distorted by anger.

"Hullo, Lucinda—what's up?"

At the sound of his voice she burst out crying. She clung to his arm.

"He's wicked!" she said, and choked and sobbed it out again.

Peter unlocked the door of No. 9 and got her inside. If Lucy must have hysterics let her have them in decent privacy. He put her on the couch which had been her sister's, pulled up a chair, and said briskly:

"What's Ross been doing now?"

She was in such a state of agitation that it took some time to arrive at the facts. He had to disentangle the Mavis motif from the eviction motif, and in the end he wasn't quite sure which was upsetting poor Lucinda most. Mavis was none of his business, and he certainly wasn't going to have a row with Ross about her, but the eviction was a different matter. He patted Lucy's heaving shoulder and said:

"All right. Now take a breather. You've cried enough. Here's my handkerchief."

Miss Lucy sniffed against the cold clean linen, dabbed her eyes with a shaking hand, and gazed at him with touching confidence.

"Now," said Peter, "what I want to know is just this. When Uncle John brought you and Mary here, did you have a lease or anything like that?"

"It's such a long time ago—I'm sure I never thought——"

"Think now," he said. "Think as hard as you can. Are you sure there wasn't a lease?"

"O, I dont know—O, I'm sure there wasn't—but if there had been—Mary would have known—and she didn't always tell me things——"

Peter patted her again.

"Don't bother. If Mary had anything I'll find it—it'll be somewhere in the welter. But think. Did Uncle John ever write to you about your coming here?"

"O, no—he was so kind—he came to see us. We were in very poor lodgings, you know—up in Birmingham—after papa's death. He failed, you know—and then he died—and dear John came and fetched us away and gave us these flats——"

"He gave you the flats? What did he say?"

"O, I don't remember," said Lucy Craddock, and burst into a fresh flood of tears.

She really knew nothing. It took Peter another quarter of an hour to make quite sure of this. If there was any evidence as to John David's intention with regard to the flats, it would be somewhere in the muddle of papers Mary Craddock had left for him to sort. He very much feared that there wasn't going to be any evidence.

"And I don't know what to do," said Lucy sobbing—"because I've got my tickets—and I'm all packed up—and the train goes at half past seven—but I can't go away now—can I?"

"Of course you can! Now look here, Lucinda, you've got to pull yourself together and carry on. You promised Mary you'd go away for a change, and you've got to keep your promise. Don't you see it's the very best thing you can do? If you go away you tie Ross' hands. He can't very well put your furniture out in the street, and anyhow I'll be here to see he doesn't. And you'll be giving me time to go through the rest of the papers. There may be something that'll give you a case. So, you see, you couldn't do anything better than be out of the way for a bit."

Lucy Craddock stopped crying. She had the relieved, exhausted feeling that comes after prolonged weeping. She wanted to go away and forget all about Ross Craddock. She said:

"O, do you think I could? But there's Mavis, too. He's got a dreadful picture of her in there. She oughtn't to have let him have it. She ought not to go about with him. He's a very wicked man. I don't think I ought to go away and leave her."

"She is with her father's people, isn't she?"

"Yes—the Ernest Greys. She's very strict, but she hasn't any influence over Mavis. Besides, she doesn't know——" She broke off rather short and looked frightened.

"What doesn't she know?"

"He can't marry her—he doesn't want to marry her—and he ought to leave her alone. She's my niece and his own cousin, and it's not right! And Mrs. Grey has no influence—Mavis doesn't listen to her.

"Does she listen to you, Lucinda?" said Peter.

"O, no, she doesn't. She doesn't listen to any one."

"Then what's the use of your staying?"

Lucy Craddock jumped up.

"O!" she said, "I wish Ross was dead!" She ran out of the room and out of the flat, as if the sound of her own words frightened her.

. . . . . .

"O, dear!" said Lucy Craddock.

She was all ready to start, her umbrella on her left wrist and the handle of her bag slipped over the umbrella handle. In her left hand she had the taxi fare all ready, and in her right she carried the little suitcase which contained everything she would need until she reached Marseilles.

And now there was the telephone bell ringing, and she would have to put everything down and keep the taxi waiting and—— Her pale eyes looked distressfully out of her round pale face.

"Is that you, Cousin Lucy?"

But it couldn't be Lee, because Lee must be on her way to South America by now. Quite against every one's advice.

She said in a small, distracted voice, "O, dear—who are you? I can't stay—I'm just starting."

Lee Fenton, in the station call-box, giggled and frowned. No need to ask if it was Cousin Lucy at the other end of the line. And what a fuss she was in. Anyhow, thank goodness, she hadn't started. She said firmly:

"Cousin Lucy, it's Lee. Please don't start till I've told you what I want."

Miss Lucy Craddock looked anxiously over her shoulder. The telephone was in the hall of the flat, a wall fixture, and if the kitchen door was open behind her she ought to be able to see the kitchen clock, and then she would know how much time she had to spare. But, of course, it wasn't open. She had shut all the doors herself, the kitchen door and the bathroom door behind her, and the bedroom door and the sitting room door on her left. Only the front door stood open, just as Rush had left it when he carried down her trunk, and her hat box, and the big suitcase.

She said in an agitated voice, "But, my dear—where are you? Why haven't you sailed? I thought you were at sea——"

"Well, thank goodness, I'm not. And I shall put it across Madeleine Deshenka next time I see her, because from the way she talked you'd have thought she knew these Merville people in their cradles, and I only found out by accident two days before we were due to start that she'd picked them up in the Casino at Monte Carlo a couple of months ago, and all she really knew about them was that they'd made a packet."

Well Groomed Women Are Clean "from the Skin Out"

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

The confidences of a saleswoman may disclose some fairly shocking facts at times. Speaking of a patron of a certain expensive dress house, the saleswoman, whose lot it was to wait upon the customer, confided that never had she seen or ever hoped to see anything so shockingly dirty as said patron's undergarments, the foundation garment leading in shame.

We will talk about the subject here because of the sound beauty psychology involved. A woman never is at her best unless she is at her best from the skin out. A good foundation garment or girdle provides support to more than the figure, support to poise and sureness being not the least of the benefits accruing.

With these garments being worn next to the skin nowadays, they are in direct contact with sweat and oil glands.

Frequent washing should be the rule for economy's sake as well as that of niceness. Once a week foundations should be freshened. A very tepid, sudsy bath with careful rinsing in lukewarm water is all that's needed. No twisting or rough handling. Hang up with clothespins pinned to the garter reinforcements, and dry away from direct heat.

The Housewife

Something new and different is the table accessories of a rich, gold-toned metal with a dull finish. It may be likened to a certain type of high-grade, handmade aluminum-silver articles with which many of us are familiar. But these are done in a metal that has the appearance of gold.

Among these imported items are handsome little ash trays, relish dishes, ice pails, and large decorative fruit trays. This metal is noncorrosive and will not tarnish. It's made by a secret process and is not high priced.

Nancy Brown Picks April Wedding Day

The date for the marriage of Miss Nancy Brown, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Edward V. L. Brown of Winnetka, to Clarence Boyd Jones of Evanston has been set for April 22. The ceremony will take place in the afternoon at the Winnetka Congregational church, and a small reception will follow at the Brown home.

In the absence of Samuel Rinaker, president of the Chicago branch of the English Speaking union, James F. Oates, vice president, will preside at a luncheon meeting today. Sir Walter Layton of London will speak. The meeting will be held at 12:30 o'clock at the Palmer House.

At the speaker's table with Sir Walter and Lady Layton will be their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Michael John Layton, who are living in Chicago, and whose baby Sir Walter and Lady Layton have come to Chicago to see. Sir Walter is a London publisher. His subject will be "Is War Inevitable?"

Spring brides will be especially interested in the annual fashion show of the Hinsdale Junior Infant Welfare auxiliary on March 8 because one of the features will be a presentation of wedding gowns of the past and present. The show will be given at 2:30 o'clock at the Katherine Legge memorial in Hinsdale.

Adolescent Is Best Handled by 'Hands Off'

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

You wish, if you're a wise mother or father, to have your 'teen age boy and girl become able to take care of themselves, to stand on their own feet, don't you? They want it and you must want it for them. Yet a lot of the friction with our sons and daughters arises over the fact that we hamper them in this very direction.

The mistakes I mean consist of too many directions, too much advice about unimportant things, too tight a rein, not allowing enough freedom for the exercise of judgment on the part of the child. And last, but not least, too free criticism of him when he does things according to his lights, or when he has, perhaps, just acted as a perfectly normal, somewhat heedless youngster would act.

These are the mistakes we're talking about today and they do this to our boys or girls: They tend to make them distrust themselves and their own judgment; make them think in terms of what some one else would do or would like, which is confusing; and rob them of self-reliance and sometimes initiative.

And I think these effects are stronger if a child loves and respects the grown person whose mistaken management he is under, because then he really wants to please or to yield, and this robs him of a certain kind of wholesome rebellion or independence of action, which would set him free even if it made him seem disobedient or indifferent.

All of the fish dishes served during the season of Lent will not be hot ones, of course. Many times it is more convenient and suitable for the fish to take the form of a salad. Fish salads, particularly the mousses and jellied salads, are attractive for buffet service when garnished with a bit of greenery and accompanied by a good dressing.

All four of these fish salads are made on a gelatin base. All four of the recipes call for sharp seasonings to bring out all the goodness of the fish flavor. All four of them are worth a trial.

Tuna-Celery Loaf.
[Serves Six]

1 package aspic gelatin
2 cups hot water
1½ cups flaked tuna fish
1 cup celery, chopped fine
2 sweet pickles, chopped fine
1 hard cooked egg, sliced

Dissolve gelatin in hot water and chill until slightly thickened. Fold in other ingredients, turn into a loaf pan, and chill until firm. Unmold, garnish with watercress, and serve with a bowl of mayonnaise.

Piquant Salmon Mold.
[Serves Five]

1 tablespoon plain, unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1½ teaspoons salt
1½ teaspoons dry mustard
Few grains cayenne pepper
2 egg yolks
¾ cup milk
1½ tablespoons butter
¼ cup lemon juice
1 cup flaked salmon

Soak gelatin for 5 minutes in cold water. Combine seasonings, beaten egg yolks, and milk in the top of a double boiler. Cook, stirring constantly, for 6 or 8 minutes, until thickened. Add butter, lemon juice, and soaked gelatin. Stir until gelatin is dissolved. Remove from heat and fold in salmon. Turn into a fish mold or ring mold and chill until firm. Unmold on lettuce and serve with mayonnaise into which sour cream has been folded. Garnish with parsley.

Shrimp in Tomato Aspic.
[Serves Six]

1½ tablespoons plain, unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1½ cups hot tomato juice
3 tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
Few grains white pepper
1 tablespoon minced onion
3 drops tabasco sauce
1 cup flaked shrimp
3 tablespoons chopped sweet pickle
1 cup finely chopped celery

Soak gelatin for 5 minutes in cold water and dissolve in hot tomato juice. Add seasonings, chill until slightly thickened, and fold in shrimp, pickle, and celery. Chill until firm. Serve on lettuce or watercress, with mayonnaise.

Fish Mousse.
[Serves Eight]

2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon dry mustard
½ cup mild vinegar
2 egg yolks, beaten
1 tablespoon plain gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1 tablespoon horseradish
2 cups flaked salmon or other cooked or canned fish
1 cup chopped celery
1 cup whipping cream, whipped

Combine sugar, salt, mustard, and vinegar with egg yolks in the top of a double boiler. Stir and cook until thickened. Add gelatin which has been softened in cold water. Add horseradish. Cool until slightly thick and fold in salmon, celery, and whipped cream. Oil a fish mold and arrange sliced stuffed olive and pimiento strips in the bottom, which will form decoration when the mold is turned out. Pour in mixture and chill until firm. Dip into hot water quickly and turn out on a platter.

Simple Dress with Bolero

FROCK IN JUNIOR SIZES.

If you're planning a jacket costume for spring, give the bolero situation serious consideration. Those brief toppers are displaying rare charms this spring, and the magic they lend to otherwise simple outfits is well known. This bolero is collarless, with sleeves the same style as those in the frock. We made the jacket with sleeves so that you may wear it with other frocks in your wardrobe, too, some of which may be sleeveless. The brief bolero may have a straight edge or be scalloped all the way around.

The dress beneath the jacket is utterly simple, with a smooth bodice, plain high neckline, and a flared skirt. Around the waist is a softly draped, rather wide sash, which may match the bolero if you choose.

Embroidery still is tops in fashion. You might accent the waistline of this frock with a rather large flower and leaves. The pattern is No. E-11176, and is available for 10 cents extra.

Silks and cottons both are excellent choices for this costume, depending upon whether you want to wear it now, pack it in southbound luggage, or save it until summer. Combine two plain colors, or three, or unite a print with a plain shade. If you're conservative, use one material and color throughout.

Style No. 2522 is designed for sizes 11, 13, 15, 17, and 19. Size 15 requires 2⅞ yards of 39 inch material and 1⅛ yards of 39 inch fabric for bolero and sash.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Station, NEW YORK CITY, inclosing 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Lange Chamber Concert Offers Two Premieres

BY CECIL SMITH.

Chicago talent found representation on yesterday afternoon's program by the Hans Lange Chamber orchestra in the Crystal ballroom of the Blackstone hotel. A new "Small Symphony in E," by Florian Mueller, first oboe of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, dedicated to Mr. Lange and his fourteen instrumentalists, received its world première.

For the best passages in his score Mr. Mueller has drawn upon a vivacious, highly rhythmic style suggested by American barn dance music. The whole work is competently and richly written for the medium of the small orchestra. Yet its faults rather overweigh its merits, for the work is too long, and too reminiscent of a whole hamper full of excellent standard scores, from Rachmaninoff to Stravinsky.

Three members of the Philharmonic String quartet—John Weicher, Robert Quick, and Walter Hancock—offered the first Chicago performance of a Serenade, for two violins and viola, opus 12, by Zoltan Kodaly of Hungary. Though highly individual in flavor, the work does not contain the best thematic material of which the composer is capable. The Mueller and Kodaly works were neatly and appropriately played.

Mr. Lange opened his program with an especially beautiful Haydn symphony in F minor, "La Passione," apparently associated with the seriousness of the Lenten season. A surprisingly introspective slow movement stands at the beginning in place of the traditional sprightly allegro.

In this exquisite work I found the orchestra none too well prepared and Mr. Lange in none too clairvoyant a mood. The conductor's treatment of the two allegro movements, in particular, was disagreeably rigid—perhaps in the hope of avoiding undue sentimentality.

In these two movements particularly, and pretty much in the whole symphony, he communicated little if any sense of musical growth. The logical relation of one idea or section to another was not satisfyingly revealed, and the symphony provided little sense of emotional fulfilment.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1939: By Ely Culbertson.]

Too many players make a habit of splitting a bridge game into distinct parts—the bidding and the play. During the auction it is only logical to concentrate on correct bidding. But the trouble is that after the first card is led these "splitters" forget all the bids except the final contract, and thereby miss what is, perhaps, the outstanding guide in the play. Witness:

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 club | 1 diam'd | Pass | Pass |
| Double | Pass | 1 spade | Pass |
| 2 no trump | Pass | 3 no trump | Pass |
| Pass | Pass | | |

The bidding may seem a bit peculiar, but it was all very regular. South, although holding five honor tricks, could not open with a two bid because he had too many losers. West's overcall was a bit shaded, but not to be condemned too severely. Over South's double, North bid his spade suit, and then, over South's urging bid of two no trump, was justified in raising to game merely on the strength of his spade honors and heart jack.

West opened the diamond queen and declarer allowed it to hold. The diamond jack was captured by declarer's ace and the spade queen was led. West, returning declarer's courtesy, properly allowed this to hold. The second spade lead was captured by the ace and a diamond return cleared the suit for West. Declarer, with no entry to dummy, played the club ace, followed by the queen, which East won. A heart return sang the swan song for declarer. He took eight tricks in all, four clubs, two diamonds, a heart, and a spade, and was forced to concede the last three tricks to West's heart king and two long diamonds.

Declarer was close to the right line of play, but he should have remembered West's one diamond bid. For this vulnerable overcall he [West] must have had a five card suit [headed by the queen-jack, as proved by the opening lead]; surely the spade ace, and one or possibly both of the outstanding kings. If he held all of these cards there was no chance to make the contract. If he held the club king, the chances were nil. Declarer's only hope was that that vital king was in East's hand. If this were so, then the following line of play could not be defeated:

On winning the second diamond, the spade queen is the right play, but after West's refusal to win, the queen should be overtaken with the king in dummy and the club nine led. East then can be finessed for the king and, with a bit of luck in the club distribution, declarer can bring home five club tricks, two diamonds, a spade, and a heart. West is powerless to kill this line of play, for if he wins the first spade trick, declarer will bring home five-odd by virtue of the spade suit splitting three-three.

The failure of declarer to make his contract was just another example of not utilizing every bit of information possible, plus the "placing" of certain cards in favorable positions.

Young Pianist Reveals Talent of Real Merit

Dillworth Simmons, young Utah pianist, got better and better last night as his Kimball hall recital progressed. In the four Saint-Saëns etudes which made up the final group he played with a liquid simplicity and a beauty of detail that many pianists of twice his age might envy. Mr. Simmons has a remarkably pliant technique and the brains to know what to do with it.

Earlier in the evening his extreme tenseness concealed the magnitude of his gifts. Here, obviously, was a virtuoso flair, but the fury of his playing aroused the suspicion [baseless, as it turned out] that he had neither the proper care for detail nor the alert ear which should censor every bar of the music. The Medtner and Rachmaninoff group was marred occasionally by too much pedal and by too headlong a manner.

However, the pianist's intensity of manner helped rather than hindered him in the Liszt Polonaise. The performance had a fine range which gave its grandiose periods genuine impressiveness.

The program consisted almost entirely of immensely difficult music. Neither the pianist nor his listeners had the proper periods of relaxation which a differently planned program might have provided. Yours for an Andante Semplice here and there.

ACT TO RID DIXON HOSPITAL OF ITS MAD CRIMINALS

Want Dangerous Maniacs Put Behind Walls.

A. L. Bowen, state welfare director, said last night that legislative action will be sought to prevent the imprisonment of dangerous mental delinquents at the Dixon state hospital.

He made his announcement after conferring at the hospital with Senator George C. Dixon and other legislators of that district. The group met to consider protests that it is easy for patients to escape from the hospital and menace nearby communities.

An Unwalled Institution.

The Dixon hospital, located about 104 miles from Chicago, is unwalled. It is operated for feeble minded and epileptic patients. The inmates live in cottages. Dr. Warren G. Murray, director, said the institution is not equipped to care for dangerous patients.

Bowen said the legislators plan to draft bills authorizing the courts to send deranged delinquents directly to such institutions as the closely guarded Illinois Security hospital at Chester instead of the Dixon institution. Plans are under way to expand the Chester hospital to care for the increase of inmates, he said.

The need for such action was again brought to the attention of authorities with the appearance in a Chicago court yesterday of a sexual delinquent who walked away from the Dixon hospital three times. He is Edward Bresten, 23 years old.

There Eight Days; Strolls Off.

Bresten was first sent to Dixon on Jan. 30, 1935. Eight days later he escaped and was at large until March 9, 1935, when he was apprehended and sent back. Again on Sept. 29, 1936, he walked away, but was returned Dec. 23 of the same year. On May 18, 1937, Bresten made his third escape from the hospital.

Bresten remained free until last Thursday when he was arrested for annoying a small girl in a west side movie theater. Yesterday he was brought before Judge Joseph Graber, who ordered him turned over to parole officers.

Judge Graber ordered Bresten turned over to Parole Officer Walter E. Woertz, who said he would recommend that the fugitive be confined in the security hospital at Chester.

Job Racketeer Is Sentenced to One Year in Bridewell

CRIMINAL COURT.

Ernest A. Cotter, indecent liberties, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge William J. Lindsay.

Judge Matthew D. Hartigan of the Felony court yesterday sentenced Archie Nolan, 29 years old, 1418 Madison street, to a year in the Bridewell for obtaining money under false pretenses. Nolan took money from unemployed men on promises of finding jobs for them. He was arrested last week when Policemen Harold Seymour and Thomas Nebergall recognized him by his red hair.

Willis Crabb to Serve His Sentence in Leavenworth

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 27.—(AP)—Willis W. Crabb, former Delavan, Ill., bank president, will be taken to Leavenworth prison Wednesday to begin serving his four year sentence for misapplying national bank funds, and making false entries. Originally Crabb was slated to go to the federal prison at Lewisburg, Pa., but United States Marshal Paul Ruppel said that institution is overcrowded.

WESTWARD JAP DRIVE NEARS NEW YANGTZE GOALS

20 Hour Battle Fought in Central China.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 28 [Tuesday].—(AP)—The Japanese army's revived westward drive was reported today to have advanced almost to the Han river, which cuts north and south through populous Hupeh province in central China.

After a twenty hour battle the Japanese reported they occupied hill positions at Taikuanshan and launched an attack against Shayang, thirty-five miles northeast of Shasi. Thirty junks loaded with fleeing Chinese were reported sunk on the Han.

The new advance marked the westernmost penetration of the Japanese armies in the central China campaign. The Japanese said their troops were in position to threaten Shasi, an important port on the Yangtze river.

Could Advance on Ichang.

Once in possession of Shayang, furthermore, they would be in position to advance against Ichang, another Yangtze port above Shasi. To reach Ichang the invaders must traverse an area which produces most of China's tung oil, used in American paints and varnishes.

Also in the Yangtze valley, 135 miles downriver from Hankow, the Japanese were continuing a long deferred offensive to drive Chinese from Lushan, a mountain on which fifty-five foreigners, including twelve Americans, remained at the resort town of Kuling. Forty-eight other foreigners were removed last week. Thirty-nine of the latter group arrived at Shanghai today after a 450 mile journey down the Yangtze.

Planes Bomb Coast Towns.

On the south and southeastern Chinese coast, a Japanese naval spokesman said, planes reconnoitered and bombed Chinese junks, making attacks on Swabue, which is east of Hongkong, and on military warehouses at Luichow, Kwangtung province. Luichow is across Hainan strait from Hainan Island, recently occupied by the Japanese.

URGE AUTOMATIC SIGNAL CONTROLS TO MAKE 'L' SAFE

An Illinois commerce commission engineer testified yesterday that accidents on the elevated railway could be greatly reduced if the system were equipped with automatic block signals and trip brake controls. The trip controls automatically stop a train if it goes through a red light.

The testimony was given as the commission began hearings on its citation of the elevated railway to show cause why the company should not be ordered to abandon its wooden cars and improve safety equipment. The commission cited the company following three crashes during the 14.9 inch snowstorm a month ago.

H. E. Bartlett, special consulting engineer for the commission, said two of the three wrecks on Jan. 30, as well as the disastrous crash of November, 1936, could have been averted with such equipment. The latter occurred at the Granville station on the north side. Twelve persons were killed and fifty-eight hurt.

Chief Examiner Robert H. Farrell continued the hearing to March 4, at which time Herbert M. Johnson, attorney for the company, will introduce witnesses and cross-examine commission witnesses.

[ One Among Hundreds of Thousands of Letters

(It came in with scores of others in spontaneous appreciation of a recent announcement of why the Journal does not accept certain types of advertising)

"...Your Advertising Helped Me..."

Wrote
Mrs. Everett B. Webb
of Pittsford, New York

"I like the Ladies' Home Journal. Aside from the stories and articles, I enjoy the attractive and instructive advertising. As a beginning homemaker, your advertising helped me select some of the furnishings for our home and the aids needed in housekeeping. I had confidence in the products because I had confidence in the Journal that advertised them.

"I like advertising; I believe in it; it is a way of educating people to what is new and progressive. Without advertising, I know your readers could not have so fine a Journal at so moderate a price. But I am glad you are selective, for it means the Ladies' Home Journal is published for its readers. It isn't the fact that this product isn't to be advertised in your magazine that matters so much—but I feel that because you are selective concerning the one product, you are selective in regard to all advertising, consequently the advertisements within your Journal have your stamp of approval."

A SINGLE LETTER (even such a letter as this)—to a magazine with 3,071,000 circulation—can scarcely be called conclusive evidence. Not many of the hundreds of thousands of letters of request, praise, protest, sheer friendliness which the Journal receives in a year contain so direct and clear a statement as this one from the wife of a high-school principal in New York State.

But through many of them there runs a similar undertone. That is why the Journal has asked Mrs. Webb's permission to show you her letter. Not primarily as one of the finest unsolicited testimonials ever received, we believe, by a modern magazine. But for its message to advertisers and business men of the way hundreds of thousands of intelligent women are thinking—about magazines—and about advertising.

In the eyes of such women, editorship and advertising share a mutual responsibility—are judged by a single standard—become indivisible. In the Journal, editorial integrity and vital new Journalism are attracting the greatest audience in its history. They are essentially companions to effective advertising in the Journal too!

Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Indiana surrendered its undisputed lead in the western conference basketball race tonight when an inspired Purdue quintet upheld tradition by refusing to allow the Hoosiers to sweep their season's series.

The Boilermakers triumphed decisively, 45 to 34, dropping Indiana into a tie for first place with Ohio State. Each has nine victories and two defeats. With the exception of a few moments early in the second half, when Indiana came from behind to tie the score at 21 to 21, Purdue held the upper hand throughout. It was Purdue's sixth triumph in ten conference starts.

A capacity crowd of 9,000 saw Indiana score first, but Harry Zink and Bob Igney connected to give Purdue a 10 to 4 lead with eight minutes gone. Capt. Gene Anderson and Dan Fisher were rushed into the game at this point and the Boilermakers managed to control the ball well enough to earn a 21 to 17 advantage at half.

Indiana made its last bid as the second half opened, baskets by Johnson and Dro tying the count at 21-21, but Purdue's speed again began to carry forwards by the Indiana defense for setup shots, and the Boilermakers forged ahead to victory.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Ohio State's basketball team defeated Michigan, 42 to 28, tonight for its ninth victory in eleven Western conference games and went into a tie with Indiana for the lead. Michigan, plagued by inconsistent marksmanship, could not stop Capt. Jimmy Hull and Bob Lynch of Ohio State.

Hull's shooting in the first period put Ohio ahead, 18 to 12 and Lynch, with five field goals in the second half, four of them on long sets shots, increased the margin. Lynch led scorers with six field goals.

The defeat was Michigan's fifth straight in the Big Ten and its second of the season at the hands of Ohio State.

Champaign, Ill., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Illinois closed its basketball season with a 49 to 26 victory over Chicago tonight as Pick Dehner, Illini center, scored nineteen points. Dehner finished the season with 151 points.

Every Illini, with the exception of several last minute substitutes, scored. Hapac, junior forward, made eight points, Drisch six, Sachs five, Wardley seven, and Shapiro four. Illinois led at the half, 23 to 11.

Coaches Like Golden Gloves Battles, Too

The Chicago Stadium took on the appearance of a football clinic as coach after coach filed into the big west side arena to see the start of the Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions last night. George Halas of the Bears and Charley Bidwill, Cardinals' owner, were early arrivals. Bidwill was accompanied by Ernie Nevers, new Cardinal coach. Bob Zuppke of Illinois and Clark Shaughnessy of Chicago had seats in the first row on the north side. Close by sat Mal Elward, Purdue; Bo McMillin, Indiana; Harry Stuhldreher, Wisconsin; Lynn Waldorf, Kenneth L. [Tug] Wilson, and Burt Ingwersen, all of Northwestern.

One of the happiest men in the building was moonfaced Bud Taylor, former bantamweight champion, when his bantamweight protégé from Terre Haute, Johnny Wigfall, got the decision over Bill Heath of Des Moines.

Don Gonzales, who defeated Davey Day while en route to the 1931 Chicago Golden Gloves featherweight title, made the trip from Cleveland to attend the bouts.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The Tournament of Champions, amateur boxing's biggest show, opened last night in the Stadium before 12,000 fans, who had come to see 408 fighters from twenty-six states struggle to survive in the battle for Golden Gloves titles.

The tournament is aptly named, for every one of these boys is a champion in his own district. They gathered from forty-seven out of town centers, where newspapers cooperated with Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., in the sponsorship of eliminations. The best boxers from every section of Chicago were there, too. Whether they came from farms or factories, ranches or offices, all lived up to their names—fighting like champions.

It's a Long Show.

From 6 o'clock until nearly midnight the battles went on simultaneously in three rings, and when the last bell clanged, boys in the four lighter weight classes had fought their way through the tournament's first two rounds.

The four heavier divisions will make their appearance tonight and all classes will fight tomorrow. That will reduce the field of 408 to thirty-two—four boys in each weight division. These thirty-two will return to the Stadium March 10 for the semi-finals and championship bouts.

Against the terrific competition from all parts of the vast Golden Gloves territory, Chicago boxers showed the strength expected of them. Thirteen of the eighteen survived last night's struggle, some of them winning twice, others once after getting first round byes.

Pleasant Beats Toy.

Willie Moon, Philip Carey, Al Noto, Roy Brown, and Freddy Pope kept Chicago's front intact in the 112 pound division. Frank Bausone and Thomas Mair are still standing among the bantamweights. Homer Williams, Joe Dupont, and Eddie O'Connell advanced in the 126 pound class. The lightweight survivors are John Pleasant, Joe Manjarrez, and Harry Sparrow.

Pleasant's victory was scored at the expense of George Toy, Cleveland's Chinese boxer, who came to the tournament with the reputation of packing a tremendous right which falls without warning. That terrific right lived up to advance notices in Toy's first appearance. Midway in the second round of his bout with Ben Ankney of Dayton he let it go. Ankney dropped for nine. Three seconds later Toy's right flashed again and Ankney went down for the full count.

BARBARA, ARON WIND UP HEAVY DRILLS TODAY

Meet Thursday on Card at Coliseum.

Johnny Barbara, 1936 Chicago Golden Gloves welterweight finalist, and Milt Aron, 1932 and 1933 Dubuque, Ia., sectional Golden Gloves flyweight and featherweight winner, resumed training in Trafton's gymnasium yesterday for their ten round bout in the Coliseum Thursday. The contest, one of three at ten rounds featuring Promoter Irving Schoenwald's show, is for the Illinois 147 pound title.

Barbara sparred three rounds with Star Harvey, 1938 Kansas City Golden Gloves sectional finalist in the lightweight class, and Aron confined himself to nine rounds of shadow boxing, rope skipping, bag punching, and calisthenics.

The boys will end vigorous training today, as will Henry Wacker and Tony Musto, and Billy Marquart and Pete Lello, contestants in the two other ten round matches.

Eddie Dempsey, 1938 Chicago Golden Gloves featherweight champ, is in town for his eight round match with Gene Spencer in White City Friday. . . . . Wladek Zbyszko, brother of Stanislaus, the old heavyweight wrestling champion, will meet Hans Baur in Cicero stadium March 8, Promoter Billy Cepak said yesterday. . . . Amateur boxers from Batavia and Chicago box in a series of intercity contests tonight in Savoy arena, 47th street and South Park way. . . . Bob Tinsley, west side junior welterweight, was unable to fulfill his contract against Earl Gibbs in Marigold Gardens last night because of an attack of influenza. . . . A six round bout between Tinsley and Pat Kissinger in Omaha Friday may be canceled.

PHOTOGRAPHERS BREAK UP SOX FIRST PRACTICE

Appling Balks at Pay Cut; Doctor Okays Hayes.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pasadena, Cal., Feb. 27.—Prof. James Dykes and his White Sox early birds today got around to the business of formally inaugurating the 1939 training period. But the ceremony was disrupted by photographers.

Dykes had arranged a nice, quiet three hour program calculated to help his boys and yet not bring on the usual first day muscular complaints, but he surrendered passively when he beheld the park crowded with picture takers.

They'll Take Exercises.

Dykes intended to start off the year's activities with twenty minutes of calesthenics under the direction of Trainer Adolph Schacht, an old setter-upper with Turnverein experience. The muscle stretcher was all dressed up in fresh duck pants and sweat shirt vainly awaiting the call. However, he'll dress up again tomorrow and he will not be disappointed. What is more, the setting up routine will be a daily feature as long as the team is in camp.

Only one fellow among the dozen pitchers on hand actually went to the mound today. That was Clint Brown and his desire to feel the rubber slab under his cleats can be excused. He hadn't been in pitching position since last May when his arm fell apart, a mishap which later forced him to submit to an operation for removal of two bone chips from the elbow. Of course, he didn't do anything more than toss the ball gently up to the plate, but he said that was enough to make him certain the arm is going to respond, thus permitting him to resume his rôle of expert rescuer.

Appling Balks at $12,500.

Vice President Harry Grabiner showed up for practice and announced he had talked long distance this morning with Owner J. Louis Comiskey about the Luke Appling situation. Luke is the lone holdout, having rejected a pay reduction to $12,500. Comiskey hasn't made an attempt to communicate with the shortstop, but he will issue a statement in a couple of days if Luke still is on the outside of the fence. If Luke hears about Eric McNair moving into the shortstop position today as if he owned it he may hop the first westbound train.

Dykes received word this afternoon from Chicago that Jack Hayes, second baseman, who was another of the numerous Sox cripples last year, had been passed as physically perfect by Dr. Phillip Kreuscher, who performed an operation on Hayes' knee last fall.

Two Score 97 to Win Casting Meet Honors

George Cik of the Lincoln Park Casting club and Eddie Davis of the Jackson Park Casting club both made scores of 97 last night to win the first two events of THE TRIBUNE casting tournament on Navy pier in conjunction with the National Boat and Sports show. Cik won his second TRIBUNE trophy of the year by defeating fellow members of the Lincoln Park club. He also won his club event in the outdoor show last January in the International amphitheater.

Joe Nystrom Jr. was second to Cik last night with 96. Walter Brewer was third with 95. The fight for second place in the Jackson Park club event was a father and son affair, with 71 year old Herbert Garnsey tying his son, Earl, 27, in the first series of casts, both scoring 95. The son defeated the father in the castoff, 97 to 93.

Tonight's casting competition will start at 7:30 o'clock with the Chicago Fly Casting club competing. The Illinois Casting club will cast as soon as the first competition is completed.

Three Michigan queens will reign at the boat and sports show today in honor of Michigan day. Jeanne Michelson, Escanaba, queen of the Escanaba Smelt festival, will aid in distributing more than 300 cases of smelt.

DEAN THINKS HE'S READY; HARTNETT HOPES HE'S RIGHT

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Avalon, Cal., Feb. 27.—Dizzy Dean is undergoing a terrific metamorphosis out here on this island in the Pacific. None of the Boswells who used to write those gems of illiteracy for and about him is present. Dizzy's Jeeter reputation, so carefully built up through the years by his former employers, fast is becoming a hollow shell.

Not that Diz is becoming less colorful. Each day he has worked a little bit harder than on the previous day, each day he has been as active as any of his fellows, except for pitching from the mound in control practice.

He Tosses a Few.

One of Manager Gabby Hartnett's greatest responsibilities is to see that Diz doesn't aggravate his mending arm. Dean tries to be calmly obedient, but with sixteen pitchers all over the place, one of the greatest pitchers of all time finds it difficult to refrain from pitching just as much as anybody.

Today Diz threw a few from his regular pitching stance. The distance was only 40 feet but it was the first time since the world series that he really had wound up to cast a baseball and therefore he attracted much attention.

"I really cut loose a few while Gabby wasn't looking," said Dean. "My arm felt fine, with not the slightest soreness after I did my stuff. I wish Gabby would hurry up and let me pitch the full distance from that regular mound."

It's Just an Act.

When asked why he had altered his plan to permit Dean to pitch, Gabby said he hadn't altered it. Said Gabby: "When he wound up today Diz looked stylish but, as a matter of fact, he didn't put any more on the ball than he has in the pepper sessions the last two or three days. If it pleases him to imagine he's pitching before a world series crowd by using a graceful windup to pitch forty feet, I'm willing he should have the happiness."

While Gabby is guarding Diz's arm he is not so gentle about the great man's legs. Though Dean had done a great deal of running previously, Hartnett ordered him to take a final turn around the training premises in company with Bill Lee, Clay Bryant, Larry French, and Jack Russell.

Dr. Andy Lotshaw, Cub trainer, said today that most of the players had worked out muscle soreness and predicted that the hardening process would be rapid from now on. Perfect weather every day, with much more promised, is giving the island bound athletes the best setting they have had in three or four years.

N. U. SWIMMERS DEFEATED BY MICHIGAN, 51-31

The University of Michigan's swimming squad, 1938 national intercollegiate champions, defeated Northwestern in Evanston last night, 51 to 31, winning first in all but two events. Jim Welsh won the 220 and 440 yard free style events for individual honors. Northwestern firsts were scored by Powell in the diving and Sutker in the 200 yard breast stroke.

Calling the Tough Ones

All's Well That Ends Well, Including Sangor's Knockout of Taylor

[This is the ninth of a series of articles by officials in various sports on the difficult decisions they have had to make during their careers.]

BY PHIL COLLINS.
[As Told to Charles Bartlett.]

[Phil Collins is one of the outstanding boxing referees in the country. Born in New York, he was brought to Chicago at an early age and raised on the west side. He boxed as a lightweight until an injury to his left arm during a bout at Aurora forced him to retire. He has been a referee for twenty-seven years, is a member of the boxing board of the Amateur Athletic union, and is a regular official in Golden Gloves and C. Y. O. tournaments. He refereed the first championship bout under the new Illinois boxing law, between Sammy Mandell and Rocky Kansas in Comiskey park on July 3, 1926.]

PHIL COLLINS.

The toughest decision I ever had to make in a boxing bout popped up on the night of Feb. 9, 1928, when Joey Sangor of Milwaukee and Bud Taylor of Terre Haute met in the Coliseum. Despite its unfortunate ending, the fight was ranked by sports writers, including the late Walter Eckersall of THE TRIBUNE, as one of the greatest battles held in Chicago or elsewhere.

The stage for a real fight was set before the two ever entered the ring. They had met three times before, each winning once, while the third was a no decision contest. A crowd of 10,000, which had paid $40,000 to see the argument, were in the building.

Taylor Goes Down, Then All Is Confusion.

For six rounds Joey and Bud stood toe to toe throwing punches so steadily that they had the fans on their feet almost constantly. Sangor had an advantage on points through the first six rounds and was holding it through the seventh.

After about fifty seconds of fighting in that seventh round Sangor hit Taylor with a straight right to the body which seemed to paralyze Bud. As he went down I saw one of his seconds, the late Barney Furey, signal him to stay down, at the same time claiming a foul. The rule at that time stated that if a man claimed foul he was to be examined immediately by the physician on duty.

I saw no foul, but when it was claimed the physician of the night, Dr. Joseph Russell, jumped into the ring and, after an examination, said he saw no sign of a low blow, although adding that Taylor was injured. In the meantime I marked my card a knockout for Sangor.

Board of Experts Decide It Was Legal Blow.

During the excitement Taylor had turned to Paul Prehn, chairman of the boxing commission, and said that he would continue if he were given a rest. Prehn granted him a five minute recess, but even after that Bud was unable to go on, and the fight was awarded to Sangor officially on a technical knockout in the seventh round.

The next day Taylor, the officials, and a number of newspaper men were called into the commission offices. Another examination of Taylor, this time by three doctors, failed to reveal any traces of a foul blow. Apparently Sangor's punch had simply caused a temporary paralysis. Taylor was one of the gamest fighters who ever stepped into a ring. He did not quit, but was badly hurt, the blow being so close to the line that he honestly thought it was low.

Yankees Open Camp; Dickey Signs Contract

St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 27.—(AP)—The New York Yankees made their official start in quest of a fourth straight world championship today when they opened their 1939 spring training season with a brisk two-hour drill on Miller Huggins field.

The world champions' holdout list also was reduced to four when Bill Dickey, regular catcher, signed his contract. Dickey is believed to have settled for $19,500, a raise of $1,500 from last year. He is due to leave his Little Rock, Ark., home tomorrow.

For the first time as Yankee manager, Joe McCarthy missed the opening drill. Delayed by the illness of his wife, he is expected in camp tomorrow night.

The drill, conducted by Coach Art Fletcher, consisted principally of hitting practice and bunting games. All the pitchers but Charley Ruffing and the injured Spud Chandler worked out with Lefty Gomez, Wes Ferrell, Steve Sundra, and Oral Hildebrand pitching to the batters. Besides the batterymen, Lou Gehrig, George Selkirk, Jake Powell, Charley Keller, and Joe Gallagher took part in the drill.

PIRATES LEAVE TODAY.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 27.—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates will leave for California and spring training tomorrow.

Only Pitchers Russ Bauers and Mace Brown and Catchers Ray Muller and George Susce will leave with coaches and trainers, but other pitchers and catchers will board the train en route to San Bernardino. Batteries will hold their first workout Friday.

Still unsigned are Gus Suhr, captain and first baseman; Infielder Bill Brubaker and Outfielder Paul Waner.

TIGERS OPEN DRILLS.

Lakeland, Fla., Feb. 27.—(AP)—Manager Delmar Baker called the Detroit Tigers' spring training session to order today and after a look at some of the new recruits cautiously observed that "things might be worse."

Today's workout was principally for the benefit of rookies, although a few of the veterans participated. Most of the regular pitchers are due March 2 and the remainder of the regulars March 9. Among newcomers contributing to the brighter side of Baker's outlook was Freddie Hutchinson, the expensive pitching recruit from Seattle of the Pacific Coast league.

Others in uniform were Schoolboy Rowe, up from Beaumont in an attempt to regain the form that made him one of the major leagues' best hurlers before his arm went bad; Lloyd Dietz, Bob Harris, Harry Eisenstat, James Lynn, Joe Rogalski, all pitchers; Edward [Dixie] Parsons, catching recruit from Beaumont, and George Tebbets, who shared catching duties last year with Rudy York.

DE PAUL RALLIES TO WHIP ILLINOIS WESLEYAN, 45-38

Bloomington, Ill., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Ed Sachs, reserve center, led a rally in the last four minutes of play that gave De Paul university a 45 to 38 victory over Illinois Wesleyan tonight. The score was tied, 34 to 34, when Sachs entered the game and sank a basket and three free throws in rapid succession to give De Paul a lead it kept.

The score was tied six times. De Paul was ahead, 21 to 18, at the half but Wesleyan took over the lead shortly after the final period opened. Lineups:

Northwestern tonight to escape the Western conference cellar. The score was 41 to 26. Iowa led all the way.

The second half was entirely different. Iowa became erratic on offense but its huge lead was too much for Northwestern to overcome.

Ben Stephens, Iowa captain, was high scorer with 11 points. Ad Vance, Northwestern guard, made ten points.

Games to break ties for basketball playoff positions in the Chicago public high school league will be held this week.

The league ruling advances the first and second junior and senior teams of each section into the quarter-finals. The schedule for the first of the playoff rounds matches the No. 1 west and the No. 2 north teams, the second place west and first place north quintets, No. 1 of the south and No. 2 of the central and the runner-up south and winning central fives.

Schurz, Lane Meet.

Schurz and Lane finished in a tie for second place in the north senior division, and they will meet today at 3 p. m. in Waller's gymnasium for the right to enter the quarter-finals.

The other game scheduled today is the first of a three way playoff to decide the senior south section champion and runner-up. Hyde Park and Parker open the series, with Hirsch, which drew a bye, meeting the loser. The winners of these games will toss a coin to decide first and second place. Each team won six and lost three during the regular campaign.

Roosevelt vs. Von Steuben.

The north section junior playoff for second place will be held tomorrow. It matches Roosevelt and Von Steuben on the Von Steuben floor.

The quarter-finals open Thursday with the Waller juniors, champions of the north section, meeting Wells, west runner-up. Lake View, the senior north titleholder, plays Crane, which finished second in the west race, Friday on Lane's floor.

Richard Seibold invites you to try Meister Bräu Draft Beer—Made with the same care—Ask at your favorite Bar

When 170 members of the largest fraternal bowling league in the United States, at the Lakeview Bowling Alleys, 3239 N. Clark Street, Chicago, were asked to taste Meister Bräu bottled beer and compare it with other brands, 4 out of 5 said, "I prefer Meister Bräu to any other bottled beer."

Showdown Tests by Independent Investigator Reveals Public Preference in Beer Flavor

When Chicago Newspapers asked beer retailers what brand of bottled beer leads in sales, reports ranged from 2 to 1 as high as 10 to 1. The Reuben H. Donnelley Corporation was asked to check on this amazing popularity by holding taste-and-compare tests where groups of men and women congregate. These tests bring out that Chicagoans are conscious of the care used by Richard Seibold, Meister Bräu brewmaster to assure the true old-time beer flavor, and that they appreciate his refusal to change his method of bottling with only natural draft beer carbonation.

ASSESSORS FIND TREND TO LOWER INTANGIBLES TAX

Action Also Under Way to Broaden Exemptions.

A growing trend toward exemption or reduction of taxes on intangible personal property is reported by the National Association of Assessing Officers. The association has headquarters at 1313 East 60th street.

An association report yesterday said that in at least three states—Minnesota, Ohio, and Oregon—moves are under way to reduce or give preference to intangible personalty. Intangibles include such assets as bank accounts, stocks, and bonds.

First $2,000 Exempted.

The proposal in Minnesota, according to the association, is to exempt the first $2,000 of a taxpayer's intangibles. Oregon, now levying a flat rate annual tax on income from intangibles, is considering repeal of the measure. An Ohio proposal would eliminate the tax return on intangibles when the tax bill is under $2.

The association reported that special tax study commissions in New Jersey and Michigan have recommended abandoning the property tax on intangibles. The association found that several states exempt practically all intangibles from property taxation. These include California, Washington, Arizona, Wisconsin, Mississippi, New York, and Delaware.

Illinois Imposes Tax.

Illinois is one of ten states that impose the general property tax on most types of intangibles. The others are Arkansas, Maine, Michigan, Missouri, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, Texas, and Wyoming.

"The remaining states," said the report, "reach intangibles by some means of special tax, either on capital value or income. Special taxes on income from intangibles only apply in Colorado, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Ohio, Oregon, South Carolina, Tennessee, and Vermont."

SAVED HIM $60.

Investors' Guide: I have 100 shares of the Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line company but don't know their value because the stock is unlisted. Will you please give me a market quotation for the stock and also some recent earnings data on the company?

I wrote you some time ago about the Butte & Superior Mining company stock and your answer enabled me to obtain a liquidating dividend check for $60 that I had failed to receive. This check was sent to my old address. Some one opened the envelope, forged my signature, and took the money. Until hearing from you I did not know of the dividend so you saved me $60, as we found the guilty party and he had to make good. Thank you very much.

—H. W. H.

Answer: We are glad to have saved you the $60 and hope we can be of further help in the future.

The common stock of Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line is now quoted at $5 to $6 a share in the over-the-counter market. The company's net income in the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, 1938, was $250,000 or 14 cents a share. From March, 1932, to September, 1937, the company was in receivership and no earnings statements were issued.

SELLING NEAR PAR.

Investors' Guide: I am puzzled over the present market price of Continental Baking preferred. Even though there are dividend arrears of $8.50 a share the stock is selling at $98 a share or almost par. I should think that the stock would sell lower in view of the fact that the company has not been able to pay the dividend rate. Can you explain this?—D. M.

Answer: The arrears on Continental Baking preferred have not accumulated as a result of any recent failure to earn the dividend rate. As a matter of fact, in the last three years the company has earned more than enough to cover the yearly rate of $8 a share. Net income equaled $8.74 a share in 1936, $10.35 in 1937 and $11.21 in 1938.

Because of arrears that piled up in previous years, moreover, preferred stockholders have actually received more than $8 a share in dividends in recent years. They were paid $9, $10.50, and $11 a share in 1936, 1937, and 1938, respectively.

If earnings continue to hold up the company will probably follow its present policy of gradually reducing preferred arrears. The regular rate of $8 a share, moreover, is a high rate for preferred stocks, and is attractive as long as dividends are earned and paid. These factors help to explain the market price.

ATTACK RIGHT OF ROOSEVELT TO CUT DOLLAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 27.—President Roosevelt's request for continuation of his dollar devaluation powers is headed for stiff opposition, it became apparent today.

Rep. Jesse Wolcott.

Representative Jesse P. Wolcott [R., Mich.] announced that his special seventeen member committee of house Republicans, organized recently to study emergency powers granted to the President, is now analyzing the President's monetary powers and plans to make a recommendation for house Republicans this week.

It is regarded likely that the special committee will urge the Republican minority to vote as a block in opposing extension of the devaluation power, which otherwise expires June 30.

Economists Join Move.

From outside of congress today also came a recommendation from fifty-five leading economists of the nation that the President's power over the dollar be allowed to die. Organized as the economists' national committee on monetary policy, these men said, "there are no adequate reasons for further extension of the President's power to change the gold content of the dollar."

The house committee on coinage, weights, and measures tomorrow morning will begin its consideration of the President's request for extension of the devaluation powers and the 2 billion dollar stabilization fund. Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. will appear before the committee tomorrow to support the administration's claim for renewal of these powers.

A senate banking and currency subcommittee, of which Carter Glass [D., Va.] is chairman, will convene on Wednesday to consider the same proposals.

Attitude of Glass Doubtful.

Glass never has accepted dollar devaluation, but has not expressed any definite view on the proposed extension of the power. Senator Robert A. Taft [R., O.], a member of the Glass subcommittee, said he was opposed to the continuation of the Presidential powers over the dollar and was also uncertain whether the stabilization fund should be continued. The latter is much more certain of extension than is the dollar tinkering authority.

In general, the opposition attitude is that the President's remaining power to cut the gold content of the dollar to a limit of 50 per cent of its original gold value hangs heavy over the heads of business men, who find uncertainty in the threat of another inflationary move.

The authority was first given the President in the Thomas amendment to the agricultural adjustment act of 1933 and later incorporated in the gold reserve act of 1934, along with similar powers over silver and the operation of the stabilization fund. In January, 1934, Mr. Roosevelt cut the dollar to 59.06 per cent of its former gold value, and the power to devalue farther has been continued since then.

View of Economists.

In its statement against further continuation of this power the committee of economists today said that any further alteration in the gold content of the dollar would necessarily be in a downward direction, and that this would be opposed to the best interests of the country and should not be permitted.

Secretary Morgenthau said today that he had no reply to make to the committee but that it would be made before the proper congressional committees. He released an exchange of correspondence today with Senators Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] and Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. [R., Mass.], in which he declined to discuss further operations of the stabilization fund or the 12 million dollar profit which he said had been realized from its operation.

Members of the economists' committee declaring against the dollar powers included James Washington Bell, Northwestern university; Melchior Palyi, University of Chicago; Edwin W. Kemmerer, Princeton university; Joseph A. Schumpeter, Harvard; Frederick A. Bradford and Neil Carothers, Lehigh university; Frederic E. Lee, University of Illinois, and Walter E. Spahr, New York university.

Kentucky Oil Concern Buys Illinois Company Holdings

Owensboro, Ky., Feb. 27.—(AP)—President W. H. Keffer of the Ashland Refining company, Ashland, Ky., announced here today his firm had taken over holdings in the Owensboro oil field of the Illinois Pipe Line company.

No New Money to Be Asked by U. S. in March

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 27.—The treasury will not ask for any new money in its March 15 financing operations, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau announced today. He said the financing on that date will consist only of the refunding of 1 billion 294 million dollars of 2⅛ per cent notes, series A, maturing June 15.

In its earlier quarterly financing operations for this fiscal year the treasury on each occasion asked for 700 million dollars of "new money" to help finance the administration's "spending for prosperity" program.

Morgenthau's announcement today was accepted as a token of good faith in his statement last week that business must be encouraged to go ahead. At that time he also asked congress to examine the present tax structure to determine if there are levies which could be classed as "business deterrents" and could be removed.

"Ready to Coöperate."

He reiterated that statement today by saying "we're ready to coöperate; now the next move is up to congress."

Morgenthau declined to discuss the treasury's needs any farther than April 1, saying the treasury has enough cash to take care of its needs through April 1 and that future plans depend upon revenues. The treasury's cash balance now amounts to 2 billion 741 million dollars.

Concerning taxes, Morgenthau disclosed that last week he had discussed a revenue bill for this session with Senator Pat Harrison [D., Miss.] chairman of the senate finance committee, and Representative Robert L. Doughton, chairman of the house ways and means committee. It was agreed, he indicated, that nothing would be done until after the March 15 income tax collections are reported. Upon these results will depend the tax proposals.

Favors Long Range Basis.

Morgenthau also said that he would "underwrite" the statement of Undersecretary of the Treasury John W. Hanes that tax plans should be on a long range basis, say as much as five years, to remove uncertainties for business men.

The secretary said that he and Hanes "are working in the closest of harmony and I'm sure we'll underwrite each other's statements." This was interpreted as a contrast of their relations with those between Morgenthau and Wayne C. Taylor, whose resignation becomes effective tomorrow. Taylor resigned because of differences with Morgenthau on a "treasury foreign policy," which Taylor thought should be left to the state department.

Morgenthau will discuss terms of the March 15 operations with the open market committee of the federal reserve board on Wednesday. Holders of maturing notes will be offered the right to convert into "a new issue or issues." Terms of the new offer will be announced over the next week-end.

The treasury today sold its weekly bills for 99.999, equivalent to an interest rate of about 0.004 per cent and the same price received on the issue sold last week.

PERMIT EXPIRES FOR NEBRASKA'S UTILITIES DEAL

Washington, D. C., Feb. 27.—(AP)—The federal power commission today announced expiration of a permit it issued Dec. 27 as the basis for establishment of a state-wide public power system in Nebraska. Persons close to the Nebraska situation said it would be difficult to forecast the next move until adjournment of the state legislature.

The expired permit authorized the Iowa-Nebraska Light and Power company to sell its Nebraska electrical properties for $20,000,000 to the Loup river public power district and the central Nebraska public power and irrigation district.

Inability of the districts to sell bonds to finance the purchase caused the deal to fall through.

[Developments at Omaha indicated Nebraska's public power projects may turn to temporary contracts with private utilities as a way out of the marketing problem left by collapse of the purchase deal.]

COURT ENJOINS WAGE MINIMUM ON U.S. CONTRACTS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 27.—(AP)—Justice Jennings Bailey of the Federal District court issued a temporary injunction today enjoining the secretaries of labor and navy from putting into effect the 62½ cents an hour minimum wage rate on two naval steel contracts to be awarded early in March.

The justice issued the order at the request of attorneys for seven small eastern steel companies. They asked that the secretary of labor be restrained temporarily from putting into effect on March 1 minimum wage rates she established last January for the iron and steel industry in the eastern portion of the United States.

Secretary Perkins made her determination under authority of the Walsh-Healey public contracts law. This provides that manufacturers bidding on government contracts must pay the prevailing minimum wage rate determined by the labor department.

Fluctuations in Prices of Agricultural and Other Products Since 1929

Predict Peak in Consumers' Tax Proposals

Legislation in the various states for taxes which "penalize the consumer" probably will set a new high record next month, the national consumers tax commission said yesterday. At the same time the Chicago Association of Commerce attacked the proposal of Congressman Wright Patman [D., Tex.] to tax chain stores out of existence.

The consumers tax commission's prediction is based on a survey of tax and license proposals already submitted to state legislatures.

The study, made public at the commission's Chicago office, shows that 403 new tax and license bills and 79 proposed tax increases have been presented to the forty-three legislatures in session since Jan. 2.

New Peak Is Indicated.

"March will see a great increase in this total," Mrs. Kenneth C. Frazier, president of the consumers' group, a national women's organization, said. "All indications point to a new peak this year in consumer-penalizing tax proposals."

Present proposals range from a tax of ½ cent per cigaret in the state of Washington to a levy on bachelors in Georgia, the commission reported. Other measures include taxes on municipally owned power plants, new chain store taxes, and a state levy on farm products imported from another state.

The commission also said tax discrimination between states is increasing. It pointed out that in Arkansas, for example, a 25 per cent tax is proposed on milk, butter, cheese, and apples shipped into the state from Washington, Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Iowa.

Drive on Special Groups.

"Taxing of special groups likewise is spreading," Mrs. Frazier said. "Colorado proposes to license painters, paper hangers, and decorators, Nebraska to license electricians, Connecticut to place a 2 per cent tax on the gross incomes of professional men, and Massachusetts and Texas to license real estate salesmen."

Legislation in many states includes proposals to prevent the issuance of a state motor vehicle license unless receipted property bills are shown at the time the license is applied for, according to Mrs. Frazier.

California leads all states, with forty-nine measures under consideration, the commission said. Massachusetts has thirty-five, Colorado twenty-three, West Virginia twenty-two, and New York twenty-one. Illinois ranks twenty-fifth with eight proposals.

"Taxes of all types—local, state, and national—are equal to nearly one-fourth of the national income," Mrs. Frazier said. "About two-thirds of these taxes, moreover, are hidden to those who pay them.

Warns on Patman Bill.

Declaring that the power to tax is the power to destroy, the Association of Commerce warned that Patman's bill is setting a "precedent which might just as readily be applied to any other type of business currently meeting with official displeasure."

The association said the Patman proposal, if it becomes law, may be followed by other laws which would impose the same penalties on other types of "bigness," including department stores, mail order establishments, and other large retail institutions.

Warn of Employés' Stake.

Without taking a stand in the fight between the chain stores and independent merchants, the association declared that the destruction of chain stores through taxation at this time would add to the depressed condition of business. It would affect not only 685,000 chain store employés and 152,000 owners of real estate, but thousands of large and small manufacturing enterprises and thousands of farmers who sell to the chains, the association said.

REP. DIRKSEN BRANDS SILVER BUYING POLICY MENACE; ASKS REPEAL

Washington, D. C., Feb. 27.—(AP)—Representative Dirksen [R., Ill.] told the house today the silver purchase act was a "canker sore and menace." He demanded its repeal to stimulate confidence in American currency.

Under it, he said, the government has acquired the largest holding of silver in history and buried the "useless metal" in a hole in the ground at West Point, N. Y.

The results of the silver purchasing program, begun in 1934, Dirksen said, have been to upset economic conditions in foreign silver producing nations and to give an unjustifiable subsidy to domestic silver miners.

The program has cost over a billion dollars, Dirksen said, and its only "virtue" has been to acquire a lot of useless metal that has been reflected in an increased national debt and a greater carrying charge on that debt.

SEC SEES FRAUD IN STOCK SALES OF CHICAGO FIRM

The Securities and Exchange commission filed a petition in federal court yesterday seeking to enjoin U. S. Chromium, Inc., an Oregan corporation with offices at 5 South Wabash avenue, from alleged violations of the registration and fraud provisions of the securities act of 1933 in the sale of the company's stock.

According to W. McNeil Kennedy, regional administrator of the SEC, more than $167,000 of stock of the corporation is outstanding and has been sold to about 600 residents of Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Ohio, and other states. Investigation has disclosed that books of the corporation show no accounts receivable, no sale of ore, no income and no receipts as of Dec. 31, 1938, Kennedy said.

SEC Is Winner in Resources Corp. Battle

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 27.—Resources Corporation International of Chicago today was denied the right to withdraw a registration statement filed with the Securities and Exchange commission. The Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia handed down the decision.

The court affirmed a ruling of the District court at Chicago last July 21 denying the corporation an injunction against the SEC.

The SEC has been conducting hearings to determine whether it should prevent the company from marketing its securities. The SEC accuses the company of including false and misleading information in its registration statement.

35,000 Shares Registered.

Last Feb. 28 the company filed a statement covering 35,000 shares of common stock owned by Harper S. Hoover, chairman and treasurer of the company. It was claimed that Hoover was the biggest stockholder and wished to sell part of the 252,000 shares he held. About 650,000 shares were then outstanding.

After the registration became effective the commission brought its charges of "untrue statements" and ordered hearings in Chicago. The company asked the SEC to let it withdraw the statement, but the SEC refused. The court action followed.

The corporation controls others owning, leasing, and selling timber lands in Mexico. It contended that it had a right to withdraw its registration statement. The commission held that in the public interest it was entitled to continue its hearings and deny the withdrawal petition.

First Decision of Its Kind.

The court decision today was the first holding that after a registration statement has become effective, the registrant may not, by the device of withdrawal, prevent the commission from inquiring into the truth of the information.

The SEC has been holding hearings here on matters of valuation and dividends, which the SEC contends were distributions of capital, and has completed its case.

BAJORK RESIGNS REGIONAL POST OF LABOR BOARD

Leonard C. Bajork announced yesterday his resignation as regional director of the Chicago office of the National Labor Relations board. He said he planned to enter private business as a labor relations counsellor.

Bajork has been in government service for five years. In 1935 he was transferred from the NRA to the NLRB, and on May 10, 1937, was appointed a director. Since then, he said, his office handled 1,016 cases. Of this number 6.6 per cent represented complaints against employers.

HOUDAILLE'S NET PROFITS IN 1938 DIP TO $588,230

Libbey-Owens Glass Also Earns Less.

The Houdaille-Hershey corporation, manufacturer of automotive equipment, yesterday reported a large reduction in 1938 earnings, a trend shown by most of the other companies making their figures public.

Houdaille-Hershey's 1938 net income was $588,230, equal to 20 cents a share on class B stock, compared with 1937 profit of $2,117,441, or $2.14 a share.

Net profit of the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass company for 1938 declined to $3,930,460, equal to $1.58 a share. The company in 1937 earned $10,518,918, or $4.19 a share.

The Mesta Machine company, producer rolling mill and other heavy equipment, announced 1938 net earnings were $2,909,957, equal to $2.91 a share, compared with $4,668,029 in 1937, or $4.67 a share.

Gillette Earns $2,941,889.

Gillette Safety Razor company's 1938 net profit was $2,941,889, equivalent to 72 cents on the common stock, compared with $4,500,159, or $1.50 a share in 1937.

Crosley Radio corporation announced 1938 net profit of $64,901. This was equivalent to 16 cents a share and compared with a net loss of $376,915 in 1937.

Atlantic Refining company reported a consolidated net income of $4,317,297 for 1938, equal to $1.40 a share, against $9,935,045, or $3.51 a share in 1937.

Worthington Pump and Machinery corporation had consolidated net earnings of $29,710, compared with 1937 net income of $1,621,979, or $3.79 a share on common stock.

See Challenge to Chicago as Insurance City

Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney's remarks Sunday night on the concentration of insurance company assets in seven eastern states yesterday stirred much interest among business and financial men in Chicago. Senator O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.] issued the statement in his capacity as chairman of the so-called federal monoply investigating committee. The committee has been investigating, among other things, the effect on the capital markets and on industry generally of the insurance company situation.

"The west and south, and indeed the middle west, in a constantly increasing degree, are dependent upon the east for the capital resources without which the revival of free and independent industry is impossible," Senator O'Mahoney said.

Insurance Leaders Wary.

Neither Ernest Palmer, head of the Illinois insurance department, nor insurance company executives in Chicago would comment for publication. Bankers and business men, too, were reluctant to be quoted.

Privately, however, Chicagoans expressed keen interest in the fact that the senator had hit upon a situation which has challenged the financial community here for a long time. Their comments indicated that Chicago financial men have no sympathy with any attempts that might be made to embarrass the managements of eastern companies by disclosures concerning minor practices, but that they are keenly interested in finding some way to build up Chicago as an insurance center.

Senator O'Mahoney had said that because of the concentration of the largest insurance companies in New York and New England "commerce and industry of forty-one states must look to seven states for a large proportion of all capital finance."

Rail Reorganizations Cited.

The impending financial reorganization of several Chicago railroads has emphasized this situation. Chicagoans recently have urged that in these reorganizations the new financing should be set up in such a way that Chicago financial houses get their share of the business. Chicago banks, too, want some of the trusteeships for the new bond issues.

"The control over our huge insurance assets is largely located in the east," a vice president of one large loop bank said yesterday. "It goes without saying that the eastern insurance companies will have a large voice in the affairs of companies in which they have made large investments. Their assets, however, do not represent eastern money exclusively.

"Directors of insurance companies have been closely connected with other eastern financial interests, including banks. How the eastern interests have been able to keep the control of Chicago operated railroads in the past is seen by the fact that few of these railroads hold their meetings of directors in Chicago."

Chicago Misses Opportunity.

Chicago bankers and insurance men have been particularly interested in a booklet on Chicago's insurance setup published this month by the University of Chicago. In "Life Insurance and the Financial Frontier," Dr. Melchior Palyi, research economist for the university, says that Chicago lost an opportunity to build itself as an insurance center years ago because of a peculiarity of the city's financial temperament. Chicago, he says, was a city of plungers willing to take long risks for commensurate profits—or losses.

The location of insurance headquarters is of substantial import for the comparative position of financial centers," Dr. Palyi said. "The degree of a city's financial dependence on an outside center will not depend on the relative volume of resources alone but also on the organization of the local credit market. Among the investing institutions life insurance plays an increasingly important rôle."

7 MILLION PAID ON DAWES BANK STOCK LIABILITY

Stockholders Meet Half of RFC Claim.

Stockholders of the old Central Republic Bank and Trust company have paid a total of $7,327,870 in partial satisfaction of a judgment for $14,000,000 obtained by the Reconstruction Finance corporation under a stockholders' double liability claim. Charles H. Albers reported this fact to Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday.

Charles H. Albers.

Albers is receiver for the Central Republic Trust company, which is the liquidating shell for the Central Republic Bank and Trust company. The bank ceased operations as a going concern in October, 1932. Its deposits were turned over to the new City National Bank and Trust company.

Stockholders Sued by RFC.

The stockholders' liability suits were filed by the RFC to reimburse that agency in part for the "$90,000,000 Dawes loan" made to the old Central Republic during the troublesome days that preceded the 1933 banking moratorium.

Albers' report disclosed that $1,906,074 on stockholders' liability has been paid since Nov. 30, 1937. Previously $5,367,795 had been paid, making a total of $7,327,870 which is held in escrow awaiting disposition of a court fight over the stockholders' liability.

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals last week upheld a decision of Judge Wilkerson entering a $14,000,000 judgment against the Central Republic's stockholders.

The report disclosed that $46,078,516 of principal amount of the Dawes loan has been repaid with interest of $16,451,958.

RFC Loss Variously Computed.

Harold Rosenwald, attorney for the RFC in Chicago, said that, assuming the $7,327,870 held in escrow is paid, plus more than $500,000 on bonds covering stockholders' liability, or about $8,000,000, there remains approximately $20,000,000 of the principal still due.

However, Rosenwald treats the $16,451,958 interest as a payment on the principal. The expenses of the RFC in connection with the case are not taken into account.

Jesse Jones, chairman of the RFC, last week estimated that the value of the Central Republic collateral remaining to be liquidated is about $15,000,000. On a basis of treatment of the $16,451,958 interest as a principal payment the loss to the RFC on the Dawes loan would be about $5,000,000. If the interest is treated as such and not a payment on principal, the loss would be more than $21,000,000, exclusive of expenses.

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 27.—Stock market prices closed irregularly today. Price changes were mostly fractional. Rail and utility issues were firm features. Most leading industrials lagged.

A steady undertone prevailed all through the session. The Supreme court's decision in the Fansteel case—outlawing sit-down strikes—was widely interpreted as a blow to the Wagner act, which has been considered one of the chief obstacles to business recovery.

Buying in the rail shares reflected the favorable earnings statements of many leading carriers in January and prospects of additional good showings in coming months. Union Pacific was outstanding with a gain of 1⅝ points to close at 100.

The Fransteel decision and favorable forecasts of the steel operating rate this week failed to stimulate demand for steel issues. Bethlehem was the heaviest loser in the group, dropping 1⅝ points.

New York Bonds.

New York, Feb. 27.—(AP)—With the market's strong finish at the weekend acting as a spur to buying, bonds took another step forward today under leadership of rail loans.

For a time it was preëminently a rail affair, with other corporate groups lagging. Near the close demand assumed a better balance and modest gains were numerous at the finish. The improvement in prices was taken by traders as a reflection of some rise in confidence as to establishment of a better understanding between big business and the federal government.

Chicago Stocks.

Stocks crept to fractionally higher levels on the Chicago exchange yesterday, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE average closing at 11.25, compared with 11.21 Saturday. Of the 105 issues involved in moderate trading aggregating 27,000 shares forty-four advanced, thirty-five declined, and twenty-six finished at the same levels as on the preceding trading day.

Bank Stocks.

Trading in Chicago bank stocks yesterday was quiet. Dealers reported closing bids were mostly unchanged from Saturday, although American National lost $3 and First National $1. Continental Illinois edged upward 25 cents.

HEAR CARGILL'S CHARGE AGAINST GRAIN EXCHANGE

Referee Takes Up Inquiry Into Corn 'Corner.'

Hearings on charges growing out of the celebrated "corner" in the Chicago grain market in September, 1937, got under way in Chicago yesterday before S. Abbott Maginnis, referee for Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, and other members of the Commodity Exchange commission.

Howard Ellis, attorney for the Chicago Board of Trade, enlivened the hearings with a demand that a reprimand be issued against Cargill, Inc., big Minneapolis grain firm which has been accused of obtaining the "corner" in corn futures.

Cargill has countered this accusation with a charge that the board itself has been guilty of manipulating prices through rulings favoring "shorts" who were caught in the spectacular rise in corn futures in September, 1937, from 99 cents to $1.16½ a bushel.

Charges Against Cargill Pending.

The current phase of the hearing concerns Cargill's charges. Pending are the board's counter charges against the big grain firm and somewhat similar charges against Cargill filed by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

Ellis' demand was based on a recent crop bulletin issued by Cargill in which the firm outlined previous testimony in connection with the case for the benefit of its customers. The attorney contended the summary was biased in favor of the company.

Irving B. Goldsmith, attorney for Cargill, and its president, John A. MacMillan Jr., countered with a charge that the board itself and Kenneth S. Templeton, former president, had issued many statements in which their side of the case had been stressed and the other side overlooked during pendency of the case in Washington, where previous hearings have been held.

History of Case.

Cargill was said to have acquired about 6,000,000 bushels of corn in futures trading in September, 1937, or more grain than was deliverable from all grain elevators in the country at the time. Officials of the firm refused to liquidate part of their holdings as demanded by the grain board, and were then suspended from membership.

MacMillan reiterated his charges that members of the board's business conduct committee were not qualified to consider the case against his firm because they held a position in the market at the time.

He termed their action "reprehensible." By agreement between counsel, the names of big operators, supposedly the "shorts" who were unable to get grain except at high prices, were not divulged, and were referred to in testimony merely by numbers and initials.

The hearing will continue today.

INDEPENDENTS continue to lead "Big Steel" in output

STEEL OUTPUT RISES TO BEST LEVEL OF YEAR

The steel industry this week will gain 2.1 points to 55.8 per cent of production capacity, the highest this year, the American Iron and Steel institute predicted yesterday.

The advance in the ingot rate from that of last yeek is the widest indicated this year and brings operations to the highest level since mills worked at 57.6 per cent in the second week of December.

A month ago this time the projected output was 52.8 per cent and a year ago, 29.3 per cent.

WHEAT RECEDES AS SNOW HELPS WINTER CROPS

The heaviest snowfall of the winter blanketed the wheat fields in Kansas yesterday. This factor and weakness in the Liverpool market led to increased pressure on futures prices on American grain exchanges. Closing trades on the Chicago Board of Trade were at the bottom with net losses of ⅝ to ⅞ cent a bushel.

Lack of milling demand had a depressing effect on Liverpool wheat futures, which closed ¼ to 1 cent a bushel lower. Export demand was reported to be extremely slow, both for North American and southern hemisphere grain.

There was some selling of corn futures as the result of a slow demand for the increased offerings in the sample market.

STEVENS HOTEL LOSS SMALLER; SALES DIP 4 PCT

Business of the Stevens Hotel corporation was better than the national average for hotels last year, the annual report to stockholders disclosed yesterday. Sales of the hotel, largest in the world, amounted to $3,371,864, or within 4 per cent of the 1937 volume, according to William F. Krahl, president.

There was a net loss from 1938 operations of $33,655 after all charges, including taxes and interest at 2 per cent on first mortgage bonds. The 1937 net loss was $48,748.

PRICES OF HOGS SLUMP; RECEIPTS EXPAND SHARPLY

The market for hogs yesterday incurred a severe break, the sharpest for one day since Oct. 10. Receipts increased abruptly at all leading packing centers. Prices fell unevenly 15 to 40 cents.

Refuse to Postpone Plan of Chicago Great Western

Washington, D. C., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—The interstate commerce commission today denied a petition by the protective committee for common stockholders of the Chicago Great Western railroad for a stay of the commission's approval on Aug. 4 of a reorganization plan for that railroad. The committee wanted the effective date of the plan withheld until it could be seen what railroad action congress might take at the present session and what benefits the road might get from a new basis of transcontinental freight divisions.

DEEP ROCK OIL'S REORGANIZATION PLAN HELD VOID

U. S. Supreme Court Rules for Preferred Holders.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—A plan for reorganization of the Deep Rock Oil corporation of Tulsa, Okla., including payment of a $5,000,000 claim to the Standard Gas and Electric company, was set aside today by the Supreme court. Several other decisions were announced.

In an opinion by Justice Roberts, the high court reversed a ruling by the Tenth Circuit Court of Appeals which upheld reorganization of the Deep Rock company under the federal bankruptcy act. An independent committee for the protection of preferred stockholders charged the plan alloted assets of the company to Standard Gas and Electric "at the expense of the preferred share holders." The committee said Deep Rock was a wholly controled subsidiary of Standard Gas.

Equal Voice Held Essential.

"No plan ought to be approved," Justice Roberts said, "which does not accord the preferred stock holders a right of participation in the equity in the company's assets prior to that of Standard, and at least equal voice with Standard in the management."

The court also held that a regional agricultural credit corporation, created by the Reconstruction Finance corporation, is subject to a suit for damages. This decision, delivered by Justice Frankfurter, reversed a ruling by the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals. The lower court had dismissed a suit brought by Keifer & Keifer, cattle dealers of Bostwick, Neb.

Keifer & Keifer sought $40,000 damages from the credit corporation at Sioux City, Ia., charging it had not taken proper care of cattle entrusted to its care in the winter of 1934-'35.

S. S. Kresge Loses Plea.

The Supreme court denied review of a petition of S. S. Kresge company for an injunction restraining members of a waitresses union and others from picketing its St. Louis stores. A lower court had denied an injunction.

A Florida statute requiring inspection of cement imported into the state was held invalid by the court in the first opinion delivered by Justice Frankfurter. This opinion preceded that given by the newly appointed justice in the Keifer & Keifer case.

Justice Frankfurter said the assumption of national powers by a state, as found in the Florida act in question, was contrary to the constitution.

Dutch Guilder Rallies; British Pound Declines

The Dutch guilder gained 0.09 cent in terms of the dollar yesterday, partly recouping losses it has incurred in a downward trend since January. It closed at 53.21 cents at New York. Support was largely from shorts covering commitments, traders said. The British pound sterling was down ¼ cent at $4.69 3-16. The French franc and Belgium belga were unchanged. The New York federal reserve bank reported engagement of $11,700,000 of gold in England for shipment to this country.

HELP WANTED—MEN.

Salesmen.

MEN.

If you live on the South Side or South Side suburbs let me start you in a profitable business of your own backed up by our prosperous company.

I am in control of the territory of a business unique in character, merchandising an electrical unit that has no competition, for which there is an ever-increasing demand.

If in a personal interview you can satisfy me that you are honest, reliable, and trustworthy, and really have a desire to succeed, willing to study, and are teachable, you may be the very man I am looking for.

Our business is very profitable. Many of our associates are earning as much as $50 on percentage basis in a single day. And after they become experienced handling our business, receive a sizable monthly income, not regulated by the seasons, as ours is a year around business.

Selling experience not necessary, for if you are selected you are thoroughly taught at no expense to you. Some of our most successful associates never sold anything before joining us.

We stand all expense of your business and in addition to giving you merchandise on open account, carry all of your time payment paper.

Our business is depression-proof, as it has increased every month for the last 6 years, with 1938 our busiest year. We have thousands of satisfied customers in the territory and are considered one of the country's outstanding organizations. There are no strings connected with this offer and if you can meet the above requirements you will be granted a personal, confidential interview which will quickly determine our mutual interests.

STUDEBAKER

The Old Saying:

YOU GET WHAT YOU PAY FOR—

is doubly true when buying a used car.

Now we don't say our prices are the lowest,

BUT

YOU GET THE MOST FOR YOUR MONEY AT STUDEBAKER

1. Five days' driving trial on all cars, under terms of the famous Studebaker used car pledge.
2. 25 year reputation for honesty and fair dealings.
4. More than 250 cars to choose from, practically all popular makes and models.
5. STUDEBAKER HANDLE ALL THEIR OWN TIME PAYMENT DEALS—which means lower finance rates, confidential handling, and payments within YOUR budget.

High School Athlete and Sweetheart Die in Lovers' Lane Mystery—"Killer Roads" Are State Trafic Problem

Where Most Trafic Accidents Occur in Illinois

A demonstration of the need for more safeguards on Illinois roads that have high accident rates. Concentration of accidents on "killer highways" (in red) is indicated by black dots, each representing an accident. (Story on page 9.)

Candidates for Mayor Make Last Minute Statements to Voters on Eve of Primary Balloting Today
